Spring Fest Expo biggest in county

Lakes Community High School hosts event, opens to public for 1st time

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
bbeitscher@lakelandmedia.com

Records were broken in Lake County, when the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce debuted Spring Fest Expo at Lakes Community High School.

The expo, which replaced the chamber's Fall Family Expo, pulled in an estimated 5,500 visitors, according to LLV Chamber Executive Director Connie Meadie.

"We had 4,000 registration forms printed for our Chamber Bucks giveaway," she said. "All but about 200 forms were used." Meadie estimated children would account for at least 1,500 more people.

The last Family Expo, held in October 2002, pulled in 700 attendees.

The event kicked off with an emotion-laden flag raising, accompanied by the Navy Band.

Vendors and not-for-profit organizations filled 130 booths, about 30 percent more than the next largest expo in Lake County.

Part of the draw was the change of venue. This year, the expo was held at the new high school on Grass Lake Road at Deep Lake Road.

Although Gavin Central students have been using the school as a temporary home for the past couple of weeks, the building's official opening to the public was at the expo.

Community High School District 117 Superintendent Dennis Hockney conducted hourly tours of the building, garnering an enthusiastic response from visitors.

Klocke chimes at Grayslake

Jim McKay is replacement as asst. principal in charge of curriculum

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Syd Klocke, assistant principal in charge of curriculum at Antioch Community High School, has tendered her resignation after 27 years with Community High School District 117 to take an associate principal position with Grayslake District 127.

Jim McKay, science department chair, will take over Klocke's position within District 117.

"It's tough to leave," Klocke said. "I spent half my life here."

Klocke said she came to District 117 when she finished college. She first worked as a math teacher, was promoted to department chair, then named assistant principal in charge of discipline and attendance and spent her last five years spent as assistant principal in charge of curriculum.

"My feelings about leaving are bittersweet," Klocke said. "I've made great friends here and I know we'll remain friends, but it's been wonderful to work here. I'm really going to miss working with (Principal) Jon Crawford. He's a great mentor."

Klocke said she is looking forward to her new opportunities at the new Grayslake campus on Route 83.

"This is a brand new building, and I'm excited about the opportunity to get to open a new school, culture and climate," she said. "The board of education has been very welcoming, and I feel very comfortable there."

Additionally, Klocke said she feels her post is being left in good hands.

She said, "Jim McKay is outstanding. He will be a great replacement. He has a passion for curriculum and I've worked with him for the past year and one-half."

Crawford noted that McKay's graduate studies were in curriculum and that he would continue on in a leadership capacity for the science department, as Klocke had with the mathematics department.

"He's going to bring very exciting ideas to the staff," Crawford said. "I'm confident that he's going to step in and do a great job."

Lakes Community High School Principal Boh Crist had selected McKay to be a "team leader" when the high school opens next fall.

"I've been continually amazed with his energy, intelligence and enthusiasm," Crist said. "He talked to me about this, and he really has a passion for curriculum."

Board President Phil Delany said, "He gravitates toward large projects. On task, he's pretty dynamic. He has attributes that are being polished rapidly."

Moratorium dies

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

As of April, there is no active moratorium on development within the village of Antioch. The downtown/Route 83 corridor study has been left incomplete and the development moratorium was allowed to die its own death.

Trustee Mary Turner, planning, zoning and building chair, made a motion for the moratorium to be repealed "effective immediately" at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the village of Antioch. The motion was made because the village has insufficient funds to complete the study at this time.

Turner emphasized that it may be brought back at a later date, when there is money to resume the study.

Bob Silhan, director of planning, zoning and building, said, "You could just let it run out. There was a clause to extend it."

Mayor Taso Maravelas broke a tie vote siding with trustees Scott Pierce, Bob Caulfield and Larry Hanson that it would be better just to let the moratorium expire at the end of March.

Turner said, "Pending funding, it may be reconsidered with the beginning of the fiscal year starting May 2004."

AN AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Gavin School vote fails

Voters in Gavin District 37 rejected school district tax increase attempt for a new building. Gavin placed a $6.5 million new school referendum on the ballot. Voters rejected it by a 906 to 591 vote, 60.5 to 39.4 percent.

The measure would have also given Gavin Central and Gavin South funds for needed life safety work. Gavin Central is now closed due to truss problems. Gavin North was closed this summer due to construction concerns.

Gavin Superintendent Marge Fostiak has said the district would have to go before voters again if it failed.

The new school would be built at Gavin South, off Route 134.

"I am glad that the people will make the school board accountable. I think that people wish to have the Gavin North site revisited, because it says on the ballot to demolish it, but the district is also interested in selling it to Lake Villa Township," said Ron SaLee of Citizens United for a Responsible Board.

FNBEO announces promotion

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBE) announces the promotion of Amy Willemarck to installment loan officer. Her promotion to Loan Officer comes in recognition of underwriting skills and additional responsibilities taken on in the past year.

Willemarck began her career at FNBE in 1994 as a personal banker at FNBE's Antioch location. Since then, she has served as loan support staff and most recently as an Installment Lender for the Bank.

Willemarck is from Trevor, Wisconsin where she resides with her husband and two children.

For more information on FNBE or its products and services, please call (847) 838-BANK (2265) or access FNBE's Web Site at www.fnbeo.com.

Village cell phone quality may improve

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Cell phone users within the village of Antioch may have better quality reception if the village board gives approval to US Cellular to build a tower on the north end of Main Street.

The combined planning and zoning board approved a recommendation to allow the cellular phone company to build a 190-foot tower just south of the Wisconsin border on the property of 4-M Partnership. Though there is a 45-foot height restriction on the M-1 zoned (limited manufacturing), a variance was approved to allow for the tower.

Sean Noonan, project manager for 50 US Cellular sites, said the 50x50 foot site would have a shelter for equipment in addition to the tower that would hold the company's antennae. He said there would be no lights on the tower, and only motion sensor lights at ground level for security of the building.

"The site would be service once a month to perform checks on the equipment," he said. "Otherwise, it's on an as-needed basis."

Andre Termanowski, senior radio frequency engineer with US Cellular, said the tower height was required to provide good coverage within business buildings, residences and in cars.

Board member Brad Ipsen said he felt the petitioner hadn't explained the "hardship" that would necessitate granting the height variance. He asked Termanowski if signals would be adequate if the tower were to fall within the height restriction.

"No," he answered. "We can have the antenna to the north much shorter because the distance to the Wisconsin border is less than a quarter mile (and where the company's service officially ends). This (height, 190 feet) will easily cover all of Antioch, and our need is driven by customer complaints."

Bob McCarty made the motion to send a recommendation to the village board with the stipulation that other cellular phone companies are allowed to co-locate (share the tower).

"I don't want to see towers go up like this all over town," he said.

Ipsen and board member Kyle LaReese voted against the motion.

Pageant applications available

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Applications for the annual Antioch Miss, Junior Miss and Little Miss Pageant will be available April 5 at the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department office located at 806 Holbek. Pageant deadline is Friday, May 14 at 5 p.m.

Miss Antioch is open to girls between the ages of 16-22, Junior Miss is open to girls 11-14 and Little Miss to girls 6-9 years old.

This year, the winner of the Miss Antioch title will receive a prize package from area businesses, as well as scholarship money to a college of choice. The scholarship money will be awarded at the end of the reign.

"Last year we were able to collect over $1,700 in scholarship money which will be awarded to Miss Antioch 2003, Marie Heffernan, at this year's pageant," said Laurie Stahl, director of the parks department. "We are thrilled to be able to offer this to our queen again this year, and believe that it will help some lucky young lady fulfill her dreams of college and also attract intelligent and goal oriented young women to our pageant to represent Antioch in the best way possible."

Letters have been sent to area businesses and organizations for donations. Anyone interested in making a donation toward the scholarship or the prize package should call Stahl at 847-395-2160.

The winner of the Miss Antioch Pageant will be able to compete for the title of Miss Lake County Fair Queen in July. The winner of that competition is then eligible to compete for the State Fair Queen in Springfield in January.

This year's pageant will be held at the Antioch Community High School June 19 at 6:30 p.m.

For more information about the pageant, call the parks office at 847-395-2160.

Burning down the house

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

While the sight of a house burning down tends to strike fear, one set on purpose just north of Antioch's Fire Station 2 on Deep Lake Road would burn safely and provide area firefighters with a valuable education.

Jim Cook, Antioch Fire Department captain and training officer in charge of this burn down said, "The Antioch Fire Department along with several other neighboring departments will take advantage and stage as many training exercises as possible before the building's total demise."

Some of that training takes place before the building is set on fire. "There are training exercises we do long before we burn the house," Cook said. "We work on Rapid Intervention Training, or learning how to save our own from finding and rescuing downed firefighters to practicing buddy breathing."

The firefighters who participate make up teams that included attack, rehabilitation, observation, staging, rapid intervention as well as various safety, stand-by and back-up lines.

Chief Dennis Volling said, "Training like this is valuable to any department. The majority of our membership (that is volunteer) is giving up their family time to participate in this on a Sunday."

Part of the job of the observation team was to test hand-held thermal imaging cameras that the department has bought in the past year (with another on the way due to a successful fundraiser). Lt. Chris Lienhardt, information officer for the Antioch Fire Department, said that new technology allows the incident commanders to see what the firefighters inside the building can see.

"This gives them the opportunity to see, in real time, what is happening, and adjust plans if necessary," he said. "Firefighters can 'see through the smoke' to find people, avoid hazards and minimize damage by finding hot spots and extinguishing them quickly."

According to Lienhardt, the rooms within the house are set up to simulate realistic conditions that would offer the teams search opportunities.

Everything is done with safety in mind. All federal rules governing live fire training are followed. Asbestos is removed as well as glass windows. The windows are then boarded up in such a way that the firefighters could easily remove the covering if they feel the need to "bail."

Ladders are set up on all sides of the house should the firefighters need them.

Several smaller fires are set before the building is allowed to go up in flames. The fires are started from the furthest locations from the entrances and stairs and gradually moved closer.

"I don't want firefighters to have to move over burnt area to get where they need to be to put out a fire," said Cook.

Both Lienhardt and Cook expressed gratitude to the Illinois Department of Conservation (that owns the property) for the privilege to use the building to train firefighters. "This is the best kind of training there is," said Lienhardt.

Arbor Day emphasizes youth involvement

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

For the 12th consecutive year, Antioch has been named Tree City USA by the National Arbor Day Foundation.

Foundation President John Rosenow said, "Tree City USA recognizes communities that have proven their commitment to an effective, ongoing community forestry program. Such a program is one marked by renewal and improvement."

The program is sponsored by the National Arbor Day Foundation in cooperation with the National Association of State Foresters and the USDA Forest Service.

To qualify, communities must meet the following standards: have a tree board or department, a tree care ordinance, a comprehensive community forestry program and an Arbor Day observance.

Antioch's Arbor Day celebration will be held on Saturday, April 24, from 9 a.m.-noon at the Scout House and the Parks Department building.

Laurie Stahl, co-chairman of the Arbor Day committee said, "Antioch continues to put emphasis on student involvement with Arbor Day by inviting the National Junior Honor Society members of Antioch Upper Grade School to help with the planting, mulching and general clean up of the park. This year Cub Scout Pack will make the event its community service project."

According to Stahl, village employee Tom Dvorak has planned much of the groundwork for this year's event. Village resident John Ploss of Church Landscaping drew up the planting plan.

As is tradition in Antioch on Arbor Day, 800 free Austrian Pine seedlings will be distributed to residents who have reserved them. Those interested in receiving five free 4-8 inch seedlings should mail a request to Antioch Arbor Day, Free Trees Program, 806 Holbek Drive, Antioch, IL 60002. Please include name and address.

No registration, no Eggcellent Easter Adventure

Don't forget, an "eggcellent" adventure will be awaiting children after the Antioch Easter parade as youngsters hunt for the egg with the big prize. The only catch: children must be registered for the event by April 9.

The Antioch parks and recreation department will have its 13th annual Eggcellent Easter Adventure on Saturday, April 10, at 11 a.m. at Williams Park immediately following the parade that begins at 10:30 a.m.

The event is co-sponsored with the Special Events Department. According to parks director Laurie Stahl, the Easter egg hunt will be done in four groups based on ages from one to 10 years old, and beginning with the youngest.

"This year we will be giving out three Easter baskets per age group," Stahl said. "After the kids collect their 10 eggs, they will look inside to see if there is a coupon for one of the baskets."

OUR TOWN

Stahl added that the eggs are filled with candy and other treats besides the possibility of getting one of the coupons.

This year, photos will be taken with the Easter Bunny from noon-1 p.m. at a photo booth sponsored by Friends of the Wetlands. A nominal fee will be charged for each photo with profits going to the William E. Brook Wetlands area.

The event will take place rain or shine. Pre-registration is required. Children not registered by April 9 will not be able to participate. The cost is $2 per child for residents (with 60002 zip codes) and $4 for non-residents.

For more information, call Stahl at 847-395-2160.

Also, don't forget that the Antioch Community Choir will perform Stainer's Crucifixion on Sunday, April 4, at 3 p.m. at the Sanctuary of the Benedictine Abbey, located at 12605 224th Ave., Benet Lake, Wis.

Festival Arts of Antioch sponsors the event, that is free to the public, through the generous donations from both businesses and individuals.

Deadline nears for new juried art show

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
bbeitscher@lakelandmedia.com

Each year, Lake Villa's Celebration of Summer gets bigger and more extravagant, with new features and events.

The event, which began four years ago, in celebration of Lake Villa's centennial, has grown to become an area tradition.

This year's most prominent addition is a juried art show, to be held at Lake Villa's famed train station, itself an artful recreation of the original depot built early in the 20th century.

Art will be exhibited on June 26 from noon-7 p.m., and on June 27, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

The show will offer a venue for artists in all media: paint (oil, acrylic, watercolor), sculpture, fine woodworking, jewelry, glass, printmaking, photography, fiber arts, ceramics and mixed media (drawing, pastel, collage, handmade paper).

The show is under the auspices of the newly formed Greater Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Area Fine Arts Council.

The entry deadline is April 15. Applications are available through the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce or directly from the council's chair, Karen Mezich, who also is director of Lake County Music. She can be reached at 847-265-5713, and can provide further details regarding the requirements for slides and photos to accompany each application.

Exhibit spaces cost $70 each, for a 12-foot-by-12-foot booth. Entry in the juried competition costs $10.

At least four cash awards and up to five special recognition awards will be presented.

Artists are invited to contribute a piece worth at least $100 for auction, and will receive a receipt for income tax purposes. The auction is for the benefit of the council.

The Celebration of Summer includes a "teen night" of music and fun in a safe setting, a swing band concert, a Navy band concert, a car show (vintage and "muscle" cars), a cardboard boat race, fireworks and a wide assortment of food vendors.

SCHOOL DIGEST

District 117 changes meeting date

The board of education of Community High School District 117 will not meet on April 1.

The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, April 8, at 6:30 p.m. in the library of Antioch Community High School.

For more information, call 847-395-1421.

District 34 holds 1 kindergarten registration

Antioch Community Consolidated

District 34 will hold two days kindergarten registration for the 2004-05 school year on Tuesday, April 13 and Wednesday, April 14 from 1-8 p.m. each day. Registration will take place at Hillcrest Elementary located at 433 E. Depot St. The phone number is 847-838-8001.

Students must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1 to enter kindergarten.

Required documentation includes a certified birth certificate, proof of residency (mortgage coupon or closing papers or lease agreement) and either a utility bill or a voter's registration card.

Registration payment will be accepted at this time. Physical examination forms will be distributed at this time, and must be returned prior to the first day of school.

This is the only kindergarten registration that will be held.

Yearbook staff seeks pictures

Emmons School yearbook staff welcomes submitted pictures from parents, grandparents, friends or siblings that show Emmons students and that would be appropriate for the yearbook.

The staff asks that pictures be clear and not blurry. Pictures will not be returned so do not send anything that will be missed or for which there is not a duplicate.

Pictures should be sent to the school via students' or regular mail to: Yearbook

Pictures, Emmons School, 24226 W. Beach Grove Road, Antioch, IL 60002.

Early childhood screening

Antioch Community Consolidated District 34 offers early childhood developmental screening.

Parents with concerns should consider this. Developmental screening is a brief series of activities and observations designed to identify children who may have a potential problem that requires further assessment.

Screening is available to children between the ages of 3-5 years old and who have not yet entered kindergarten within District 34. To schedule an appointment, call the special education office at 847-838-8422.

Firing range morphs into roll call room

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Unused space at the Antioch Police Department that had been penciled in to become a firing range has been finished off into the department's new roll call room.

"We had outgrown our previous roll call room with the addition of new manpower," said Chief Chuck Fagan. "The mayor and trustees allowed us to convert space that been allocated for a firing range into our new roll call room."

Fagan said it was a good use of the space that had not been used to date. He added the project was very affordable as the Public Works Department did most of the labor with Terry Banser of JBD Acoustical, Inc. donating the drop ceiling and its installation.

"There was some expense," he said. "We had to purchase the drywall, but we were able to do this for very little. About 80 percent of the whole total was donated."

To furnish the space with tables and chairs, Fagan said he and Lt. Ron Roth got a donation from Abbott Labs. He explained that Abbott had a surplus of unused office equipment, and that they donated what was needed for the room.

Fagan said, "We couldn't have gotten this done without all of this help. We really needed a larger room for our roll call room, and we were able to get this done and save the village thousands of dollars."

LAKE VILLA

Criminal trespass on railroad

James J. Esser, 45, of W. 8854 Hwy. 10, Medina, Wis., and Michael J. Tavidian, 52, of 10251 S. Nicholson Road, Oak Creek, Wis., were arrested by Lake Villa Police on March 24, at 11:09 p.m., at the Metra train station in Lake Villa. Police received information that two men were riding an incoming freight train. After arranging with track repair personnel to slow the train as it entered Lake Villa, six police officers flanked the tracks. When two men were observed riding on a lumber car, the train was stopped, and the men taken into custody. The accused offenders said they got on the train outside of Chicago, and that they knew it was illegal to ride a freight train. Each was served with a notice to appear in Grayslake Branch III court, on April 14, at 1:30 p.m. The men, who were homeless and had no money, were then taken to the Waukegan Salvation Army.

LINDENHURST

Heather Mentzer, 25, of 33791 N. Oak, Grayslake, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on March 27, at 12:29 a.m., on Grass Lake Road near Deep Lake Road. At Grass Lake Road and Savage, police observed two vehicles heading westbound. The vehicle in the rear was approaching the front vehicle, at a speed of 61 mph in a 45-mph zone. The rear vehicle, later determined to be driven by Mentzer, came within five feet of the front vehicle, and then went into oncoming traffic. Police noticed an odor of alcohol on the driver's breath. She failed five of five field sobriety tests, and a breath test yielded a result of .158 BAC. The driver told police she had two glasses of wine in two hours. She was charged with speeding, following too closely, improper lane usage, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. She was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on April 20, at 9 a.m.

SPRING EXPO

"This event was intended to be a fun thing for the community as well as a good venue for local businesses to showcase their goods and services," Meadie said.

There was something for everyone, with added attractions of entertainment, a Scholastic Book Fair, a pancake breakfast and outdoor displays of boats, cars and RVs.

It proved to be such a good venue for vendors that the chamber picked up 25 new members as a result.

Among the new members, John Kelly, of Kelly Landscaping in Wadsworth, told Meadie he got 20 active leads by the end of the first of the two days.

"At the end of the second day, we surveyed about 100 exhibitors," Meadie said.

"All of them said they wanted to do it again next year, and five have already put down deposits on booths."

Food is always a big draw, and Spring Fest was no exception.

Kris Pelas, manager of RJ's Eatery in Lindenhurst, estimated that over 1,000 people enjoyed pizza, sausages and Italian beef during the expo.

Lake Villa Township Lions Club held their spring pancake breakfast on the second morning of the show.

"We sold about 600 meal tickets," said Lions President Debbie Aerne. On Sunday afternoon, a swing band provided musical entertainment in the cafeteria.

The weekend concluded with a drawing for the 10 winners of $500 Chamber Bucks certificates. The certificates can only be spent with expo exhibitors.

Life Line tests to be offered by Lake Villa Township

On Tuesday, April 13, Lake Villa Township will be hosting a health screening at 37908 N. Fairfield Road in Lake Villa. The screening, offered to the public, will give area residents the opportunity to spend a few minutes doing something that could save their lives.

Life Line Screening will offer health screenings to assess the risk of stroke and vascular disease. These screenings include a carotid artery screening, abdominal aortic aneurysm screening and an ankle brachial index (ABI). Also offered for women will be a bone density screening to assess their risk for osteoporosis.

These fast, painless and low cost tests use ultrasound technology and are conducted by registered or registry-eligible ultrasound technologists. A board-certified physician reviews the results of each test to ensure their accuracy before they are mailed to the individual. An individual whose screening suggests further evaluation is encouraged to seek appropriate follow-up care with his or her own physician.

Those interested in registering for any of these screenings may call 800-407-4557 to schedule an appointment. Each screening requires 10 minutes or less to complete and costs $45. A package of all three vascular screenings is $99—a saving of $36.

Life Line Screening is the nation's leading provider of health screenings. By offering these non-invasive painless ultrasound screenings, Life Line Screening helps people identify their risk for stroke and the present of vascular disease or osteoporosis early enough for their physician to begin preventative procedures.

EIU students, employees and community lend helping hands

Teams of Eastern Illinois University students, faculty and staff are doing what they can to make a difference in other people's lives as they participate in this year's Alternative Spring Break.

Sponsored locally by Newman Catholic Center's Student Volunteer Center, places years in communities around the country to engage in community service and experiential learning. All trips involve hand-on service, education, reflection and cultural experiences.

Bianca Sisson of Lake Villa will be participating at the Big Oak Girls Ranch (Springville, AL) where volunteers with work girls between the ages of 6 and 18 who have been abused, neglected and/or abandoned live at the ranches year-around in homes with other girls and boys and their house parents. This site allows volunteers the opportunity for friendship and fellowship with these girls.

The House that Sears built

By Carol Schmidtkofer

This Lake Forest home owned by Charles Fitzgerald was ordered of a Sears, Roebuck and Company Catalog and built by the original owners in the 1930s.— Photo by Sandy Bressner

While Craftsman and Kenmore are well-known brand names associated with Sears, Roebuck and Company, names such as Chelsea, Argyle, Starlight and Winona would draw a blank stare from most people as to their relationship to the retailing giant.

But in the early 1900s, these names and many more were staples of the company's mail order kit home products, which along with a few other enterprising mail-order companies revolutionized the housing industry.

Long before pre-fabricated building materials were on the scene, Sears and a few other progressive-thinking companies provided home-building materials for homes that could be shipped to customers for assembly just about anywhere a rail line led.

Building a single-family home was an expense few working class Americans could afford at that time and most lived in multigenerational residences or boarding houses.

That changed with the advent of kit homes - when for the first time this segment of the population could afford to build a home of their own with the purchase of a catalog kit home.

Everything from pre-cut lumber to the nails for the walls were ordered by mail, packaged, and delivered by rail for assembly by the purchaser.

Sears, Roebuck and Company is the best-known supplier of mail order homes, selling 57,000 of them by 1931.

The company also offered attractive financing terms directed at this specific market, making their catalog homes a huge success.

Lake County alone has hundreds of these kit homes and while some have been documented, many homeowners are unaware they are living in what can be considered a valuable piece of American history.

Historical architectural researcher, Rebecca Hunter, would like to see the homes in Lake County documented and perhaps landmarked for future generations to enjoy.

Otherwise known as the "Sears Lady," Hunter travels the country searching for and documenting Sears catalog homes along with kit homes of other manufacturers.

She has been working on a preliminary survey of Lake County by driving through the county comparing homes she thinks look like catalog homes to photographs and old catalogs.

Hunter hopes that with such a high number of these homes, a village or city might be inspired to carry out a complete survey used to protect homes for future generations to enjoy.

She has helped the city of Joliet create a thematic district of Sears homes and would like to work with officials of other communities to do the same.

Sonia Schoenfield and Arlene Lane, two research librarians at Cook-Memorial Library in Libertyville, were encouraged by Hunter's efforts enough to begin documenting catalog homes within the village.

They have accumulated photographs, floor plans and local history for a book, but until then information can be obtained at the library's website at www.cooklib.org.

"The project is a lot of fun to work on," Schoenfield said. "It's interesting to see how the houses today compare to the pictures in the old catalogues."

Barrington resident Sharon Lau, has invited Hunter to document her two-story, 1929, catalog home.

"These are houses that have to be saved, they have so much charm," Lau said. "They have such amazing quality."

Lau moved into her home about four years ago, which is a Dutch colonial Van Dorn model.

Much of the home is unchanged from its original design. Lau contacted Hunter after a friend had seen a flyer about one of Hunter's seminars on kit homes.

One way to know for sure if a home is a bona-fide catalog home is to have Hunter inspect the house and look for the tell-tale signs.

The easiest proof to obtain is finding a part number, located on one the structural boards which hasn't been painted.

Hunter said that most homeowners don't know what the numbers mean when they run across them in the course of a remodeling project.

Complicating matters is that before the pre-cut lumber was provided, Sears and the other companies sold building plans without materials until 1906 when the Aladdin Company began offering pre-cut lumber. Sears didn't jump on that bandwagon until 1915.

This makes documentation a challenge, but not an impossibility.

"With any luck, somebody left the blueprints in the attic or maybe there's some correspondence lying around in a box in the top closet shelf," Hunter said.

More than likely, Hunter will need to do some serious sleuthing to determine a home's origin—a time-consuming effort.

Armed with a 1910 Sears catalog, Hunter compares hardware and fixtures in the home to catalog descriptions.

Checking with the grantor/grantee records at a county recorder of deeds office might provide the needed information, saving a lot of time, said Hunter.

The easy financing Sears and other catalog home companies offered their customers hit a snag during the Great Depression when thousands of their mortgages defaulted.

Hunter said those repossession would be recorded with Sears listed as the grantee.

When a new buyer was found, Sears was shown as the grantor.

"That's kind of a little backdoor way to get some documentation," Hunter said.

Lau became so enthused about saving the homes she now works within Barrington helping

FROM LAKELIFE 1 HOUSE

Hunter locate potential Sears houses.

Some catalog homes have been passed down from generation to generation, as in the case of Charles Fitzgerald, a Lake Forest resident.

Fitzgerald moved into the house in 1949, when he was just 19-years old and believes his family was the third owner of the tri-level Concord-style residence.

The house came with a basement, one bathroom, three bedrooms and a living room, kitchen and dining room.

Fitzgerald raised his own family there and now has a grandchild residing at the home as well. He has no plans to sell the house.

While he has made modifications over the years to accommodate a growing family, he still marvels at the quality of the house.

"It's built like a bomb shelter. Constructurally speaking, it is very, very well built," he said.

The depression was the beginning of the end for Sears' contribution to the kit home industry, which limped along uneventfully after a break until 1951. But mortgage financing wasn't offered after 1931.

The boom for Sears' kit homes was during the 1920s when its "Modern Homes" catalog expanded to 144 pages offering 90 different home designs.

Not only could a customer buy a home kit, but for a few dollars more could purchase the plumbing and electrical kits which were sold separately.

Outhouses, summer cottages, chicken coops and garages were offered as well.

Throughout the 1910's and early 1930's, home kits offered through their "Modern Homes" catalog had a price range from under $500 to over $4,000, with most costing less than $3,000.

Home sizes varied, from one-floor two-bedroom cottages to two-story nine-room mansions.

With charming names such as the Chelsea and Starlight, a Sears mail order home could include up to 30,000 pieces of building materials the purchaser would assemble using the lengthy instruction manual.

While some opted to construct the houses themselves, many hired contractors.

Hunter calculated that using a multiple of 2.2 against the cost of the home would be an accurate estimate for the true cost of the entire project.

She estimated a savings of at least 20 percent by building a catalog home as opposed to the traditional methods of using an architect to plan the house and having lumber cut at the local mill yard, and purchasing everything else separately.

Sears, realizing the new homeowner would have to furnish their home, included floor plans with the placement of Sears furnishings throughout.

"A lot of people bought everything for the house from Sears," said Hunter. "Which was exactly what they were hoping would happen."

Who bought Sears' homes? While Hunter doesn't know much about the purchasers, she does know the occupations of her first study in Elgin, where she began her research in 1986.

"Twenty-five percent of the original owners in the Elgin study were in the building trades," said Hunter. "They would have had the skills to do it themselves."

"Another 25 percent worked for the Elgin watch factory which was the biggest employer in the entire town," she added. "And the rest of them were scattered among the trades and professions."

Hunter, an Elgin resident, became interested in catalog homes when she ran across a book on mail order homes at the local library.

"At that point I hadn't really heard of pre-cut homes," she said. "I didn't know what they were so I checked it out and I became fascinated."

Hunter has documented 160 of the 200 Sears homes she located in Elgin, which seems to be the largest number of their kit homes found in any one location in the country.

Hunter compiled her findings in her book, Elgin Sears House Research Project, and began searching other municipalities and including mail order homes from other companies besides Sears Roebuck.

Her research has uncovered Sears' homes in 29 states and over 300 of their homes in Illinois alone.

"It's very joyous every time I spot one (kit home)," she said.

Hunter offers individual consultations, presentations, lectures, workshops and municipal surveys.

Write to her at 903 Cedar Avenue, Elgin, 60120, or call 847-697-4551.

Don't you love co-workers?

Over the years most of us have learned that most jobs are tolerable—but some co-workers are not. And we all know who we are talking about.

They include: whiners, complainers, backstabbers, busy-bodies, brown-nosers and arrogant bores.

Others have drinking problems, or are unhappily married, or unhappily divorced, or tattle-tales, or they have anger management problems.

For the most part, the co-worker with the anger problem is relatively easy to put up with.

We learn very early on not to even say good morning to these co-workers without running the risk of seeing an explosion of anger that may include a stapler being thrown across the room, or a chair being kicked over, and hearing the classic reply, "What's so good about it?"

It's best not to talk to these types of co-workers unless they first talk to you.

And of course, the "complainer" co-worker can suck the life right out of you, drain all of your ambition, and kill your positive attitude, if you let them.

He or she complains about every middle-management decision and even has the gall to complain about how the owner runs his business—even if the owner is a successful multi-millionaire. (Gimme a break!)

And how about the back-stabber?

As the old song goes: "They will smile in your face but all the time they want to take your place."

One of the more interesting traits of the back-stabber is that he or she will complain about the boss when talking to you, but as soon as he or she gets alone with the boss, it's a completely different scenario.

These types of co-workers like to exaggerate to the boss all the things they do for the company while complaining that the rest of us are completely useless.

And sadly, I have noticed over the years, that the "back-stabbers" are often promoted to middle-management positions.

Some of the worse co-workers are the busy bodies. And it seems they all are blessed with super-hearing.

You can't even whisper something to the person at the desk next to yours without this person yelling across the room his or her opinion on the subject.

But in my opinion, the most obnoxious of the endless stream of intolerable co-workers that I have worked with over the years is the "arrogant bore" also known as the "know-it-all."

If you're a nurse, they will tell you how to give a shot; if you're a plumber they will tell you which way to turn the wrench; and if you're a columnist, they will tell you what to write about.

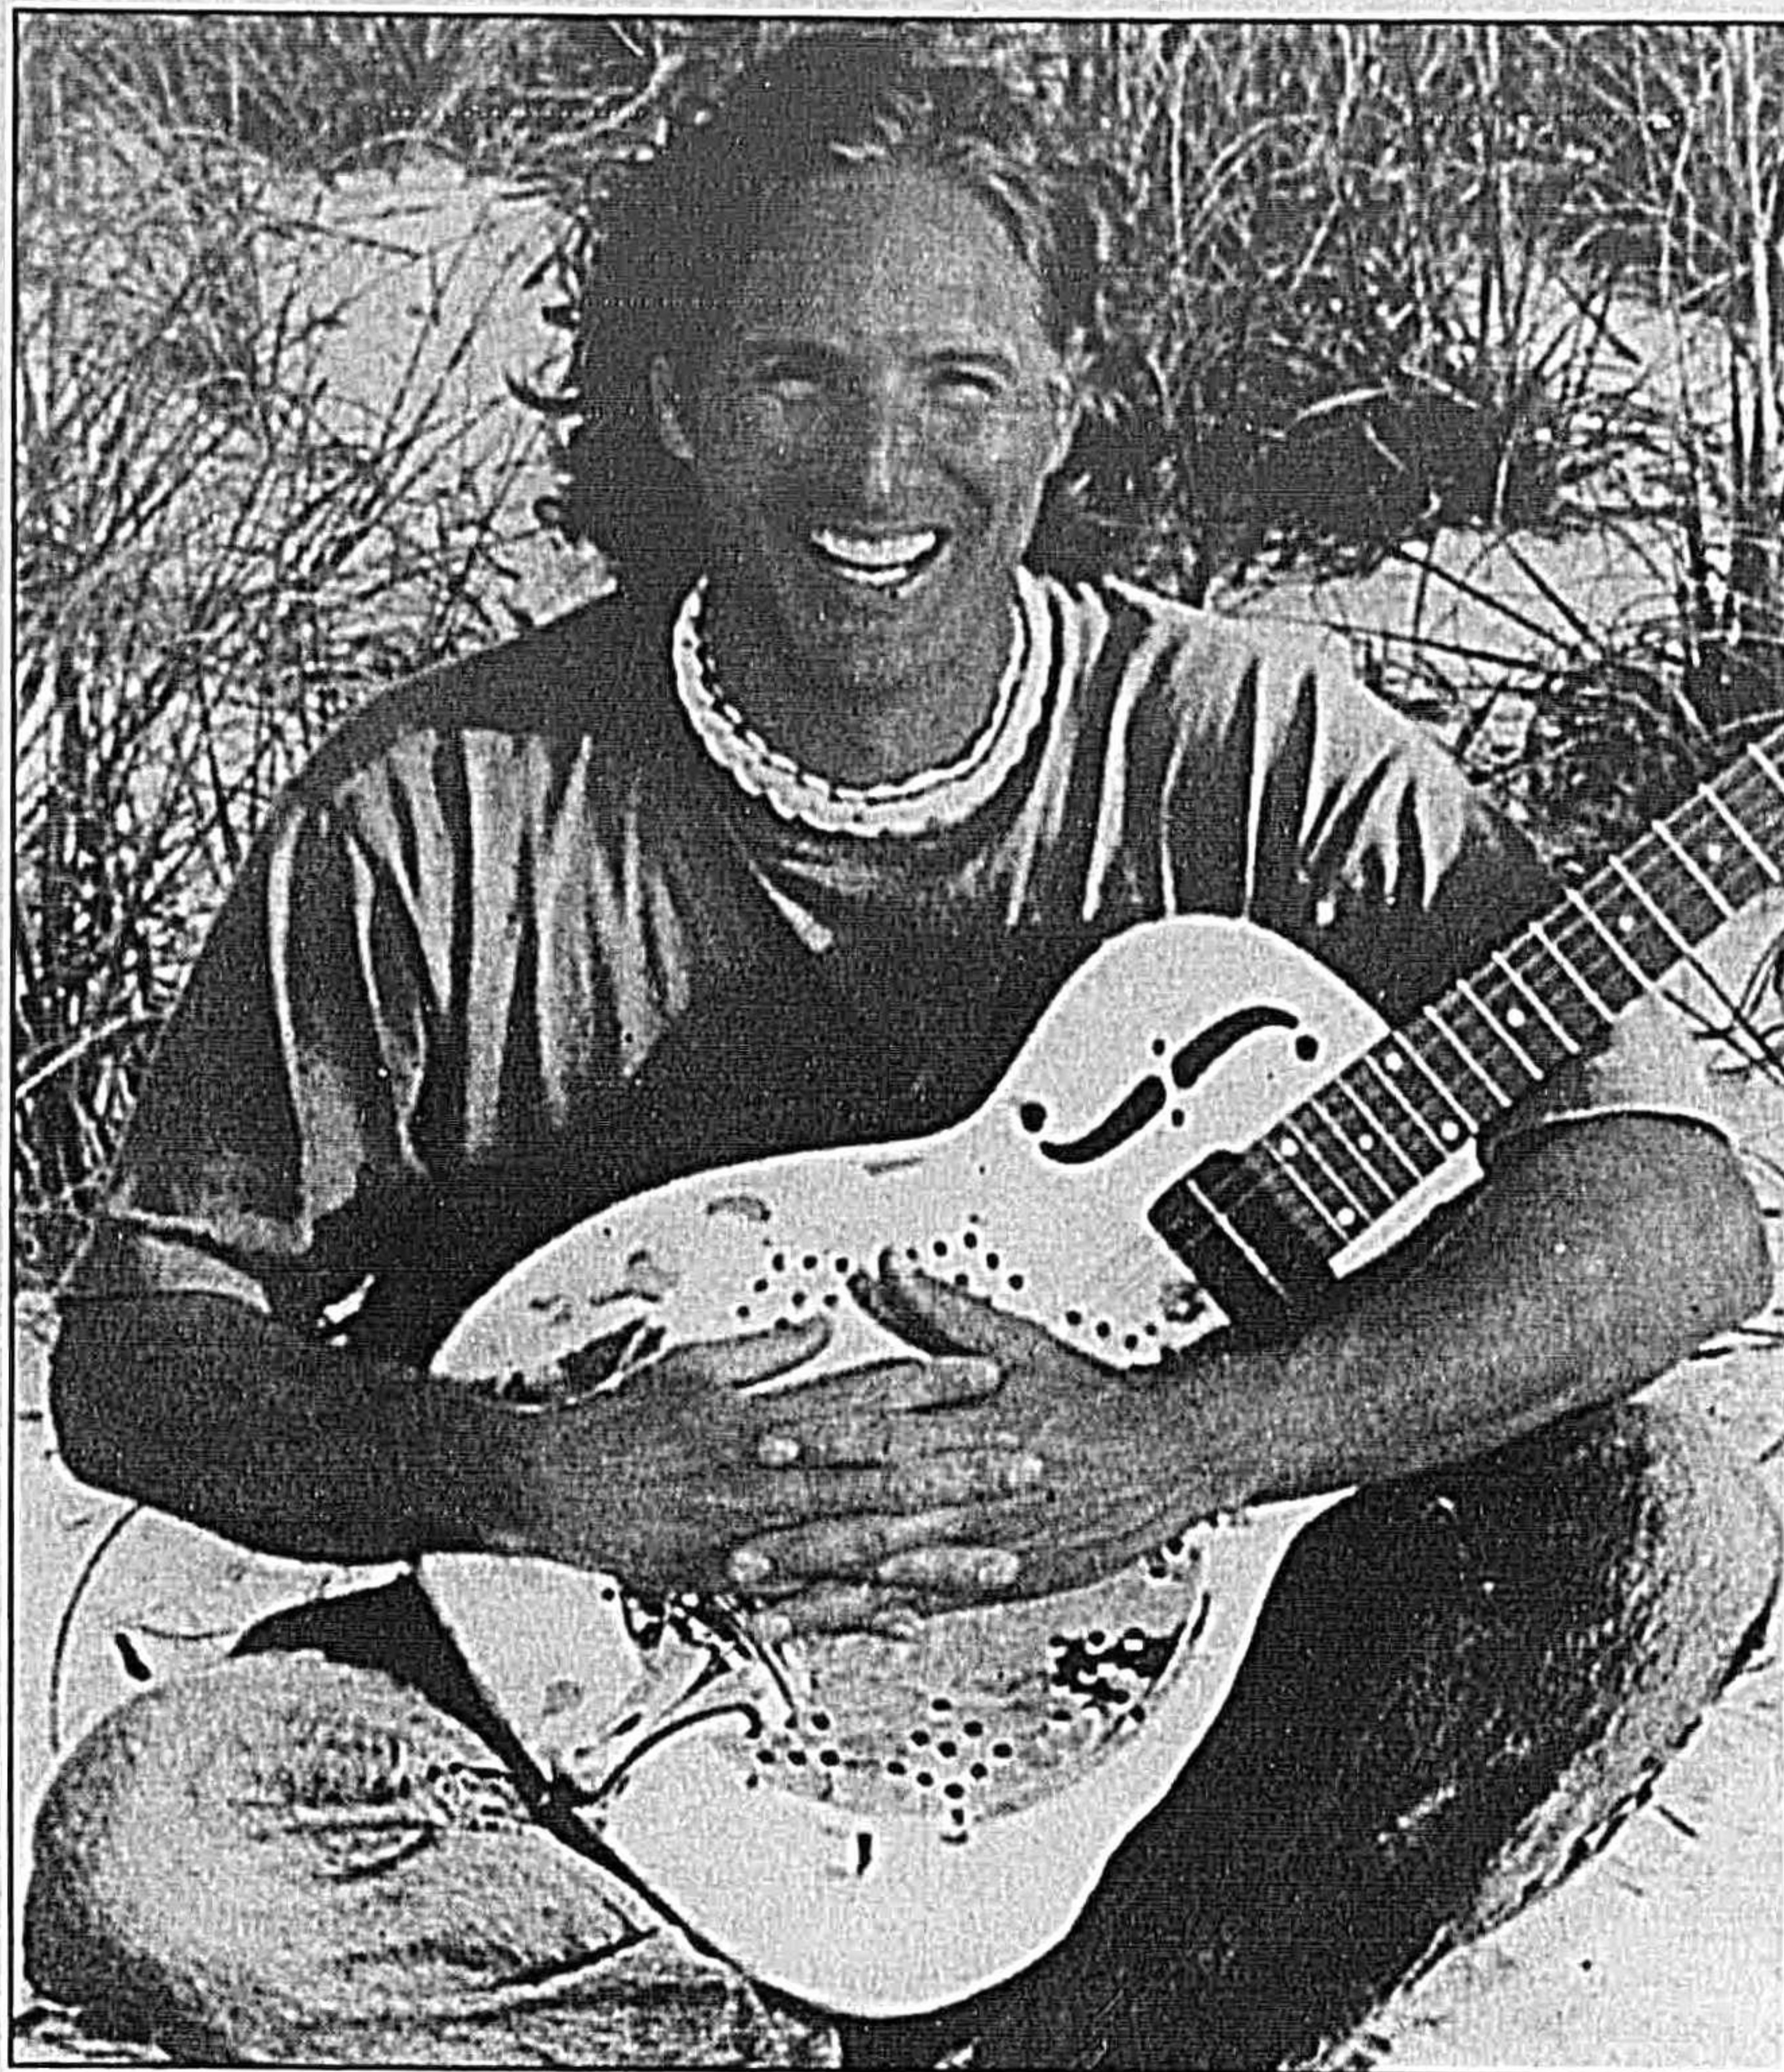

Yeah, most jobs are tolerable, but wouldn't you agree—that some co-workers are not?

'Slide' on over to benefit concert with Kraig Kenning

Everyone is invited to the Byron Colby Barn in Prairie Crossing to celebrate Arbor Day with a very special benefit concert to be performed by Kraig Kenning, national slide guitar artist. Concert proceeds will benefit the Prairie Crossing Charter School located in Grayslake.

The concert will be held Saturday, April 10 from 4-6 p.m. Tickets are $15 for adults and $2 for children.

Call him contemporary folk, blues, roots rock, American Fingerstyle or Americana. Regardless of the genres crossed, Kraig Kenning manages to leave every audience feeling like they've just spent some quality time with an old friend. Few artists are as capable of connecting so directly with such diverse listeners while playing over 200 dates a year, receiving airplay on 40 stations nationwide, and selling 30,000+ recordings of six self-produced CDs. But Kenning has shaped himself into one of the most capable performers on the planet, touring non-stop for the past decade.

Kenning's driving perfectionism and attention to matters of the human spirit have inspired comparisons with Eric Clapton, Duane Allman, Bob Dylan and Jackson

Brown to name a few.

"His fingerstyle is up to par with Leo Kottke and Willy Porter, his vocals reminiscent of Bruce Cockburn, and his overall performance and presentation stand equal with any of today's top singer/songwriters," states Dave Glynn of the Fox Valley Blues Society.

Imagine a small public school, grouped by multi-ages, nestled in the prairie, with a goal to instill life long learning in all its students. Add to this a warm, caring, personal atmosphere, and the use of a variety of people for teaching: students, parents, experts in a subject, and classroom staff. Mix in the ability to use both the indoors and outdoors as one large classroom, and the integration of the underlying theme of environmental education. This is Prairie Crossing Charter School.

Catered boxed dinners will also be available; $5 for adults, $3.50 for children. Advance ticket and dinner reservations can be made by calling Amy Heinrich at 847-548-7229 by April 4.

The Byron Colby Barn is located in Grayslake, 1/2 mile south of A. 120, on the west side of Rt. 45, enter at the light of Jones Point Rd.

How to loosen up in a line-up

I needed a good attorney. The evidence was stacked up against me like a designer bag full of ImClone stock.

My accusers were closing in...taunting me by blowing juice box straws at each other in a feeding frenzy over my stiff carcass. And to rub salt into the wound, out of the corner of my eye I caught my daughter, the budding theatre critic, scrawling her review on the classroom chalkboard: "YOU STINK!" This only egged on my tormenters, who responded with appreciative belches.

You see, when it comes to addressing an audience, I can't stand and deliver. There was no way I alone could turn four rambunctious boys into polished presenters in time for a school district speech competition.

Our head coach, Mommy Esquire, thankfully came to my defense. Once again, I was able to yield the sticky floor to her brilliant opening arguments, "LOSE THE STRAWS! Straighten up, or the judges are going to hang you out to dry!"

I had plenty of opportunity to reflect on my chronic stage fright while she got busy "Taming the Bazoooka Gum Crew" during rehearsals of "Avon Calling", a comedic take on Shakespeare, the "hack who could grind stuff out by the mile".

It's not like plenty of experts hadn't tried to reform me—cure me of a terminal case of "Dead Man Talking". I even took the Dale Carnegie Course in public speaking.

I managed to hide my lack of confidence in the wings until I ran across a Fortune 500 CEO who hadn't eaten enough fiber prior to a division budget presentation. After he "Trumped" me by verbally impaling me on my flip chart, the division public relations pro took on the challenge of trying to turn me into something presentable.

She made a valiant effort. But sometimes even the best can't put a positive spin on a loud flush. She'd hoped to turn me into a triumphant Rocky, gloves on, bouncing up the stairs to the podium at the next sales meeting. Instead, she had the satisfaction of watching me take a fall while demonstrating every one of her "Presentation Don'ts".

"Les, whatever you do, DO NOT"....

- 1) Drink a carafe of coffee before you go on because you've spent the night pacing like a trapped hamster on a wheel of misfortune.
- 2) Clutch the podium as if it's the bridge of the Titanic.
- 3) Hunker over the microphone so it sounds like the life is being sucked out of you in a wind tunnel.
- 4) And then mumble through your script at a pace sufficient to break the sound barrier.

And always remember to wrap it up with a strong conclusion like "um", and an enthusiastic thank you... much like a criminal being singled out in a line up.

Tasty quinoa, shrimp stew a South American favorite

From a hearts of palm tart from Argentina to chicken turnovers from Bolivia, "The South American Table" (Harvard Commons Press) offers a treasure trove of 450 recipes representative of the cuisine of our neighbors to the south.

"Mealtimes represented a daily celebration of life," writes author Maria Baez Kijac, who provides a brief history of the country, its people and cooking style.

Her recipe for Quinoa Stew with Shrimp, a specialty of Peru, translates very well to American tastes. It's a subtle, thick stew-like dish whose various spices give it a pleasing mix of flavors with just a slight underlying touch of heat. If you have not encountered quinoa, you'll find it a tasty, easy-to-prepare grain, one you will want to add to your cooking arsenal.

Tom Witom
COOKING
BY THE BOOK

Quinoa Atamalada con Camarones (Quinoa Stew with Shrimp)

2 large cloves garlic, mashed into a paste with 1 hot pepper, seeded and chopped, and 1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. dried oregano
1/2 tsp. ground cumin
1/4 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
8 oz. medium-size shrimp, peeled and deveined
2 Tbl. canola oil
1 medium-size onion, finely chopped (about 1 cup)

1/2 cup chicken broth made with 1 tsp. chicken bouillon granules
1 cup quinoa, cooked
2 oz. mozzarella, Chihuahua or Muenster cheese, shredded

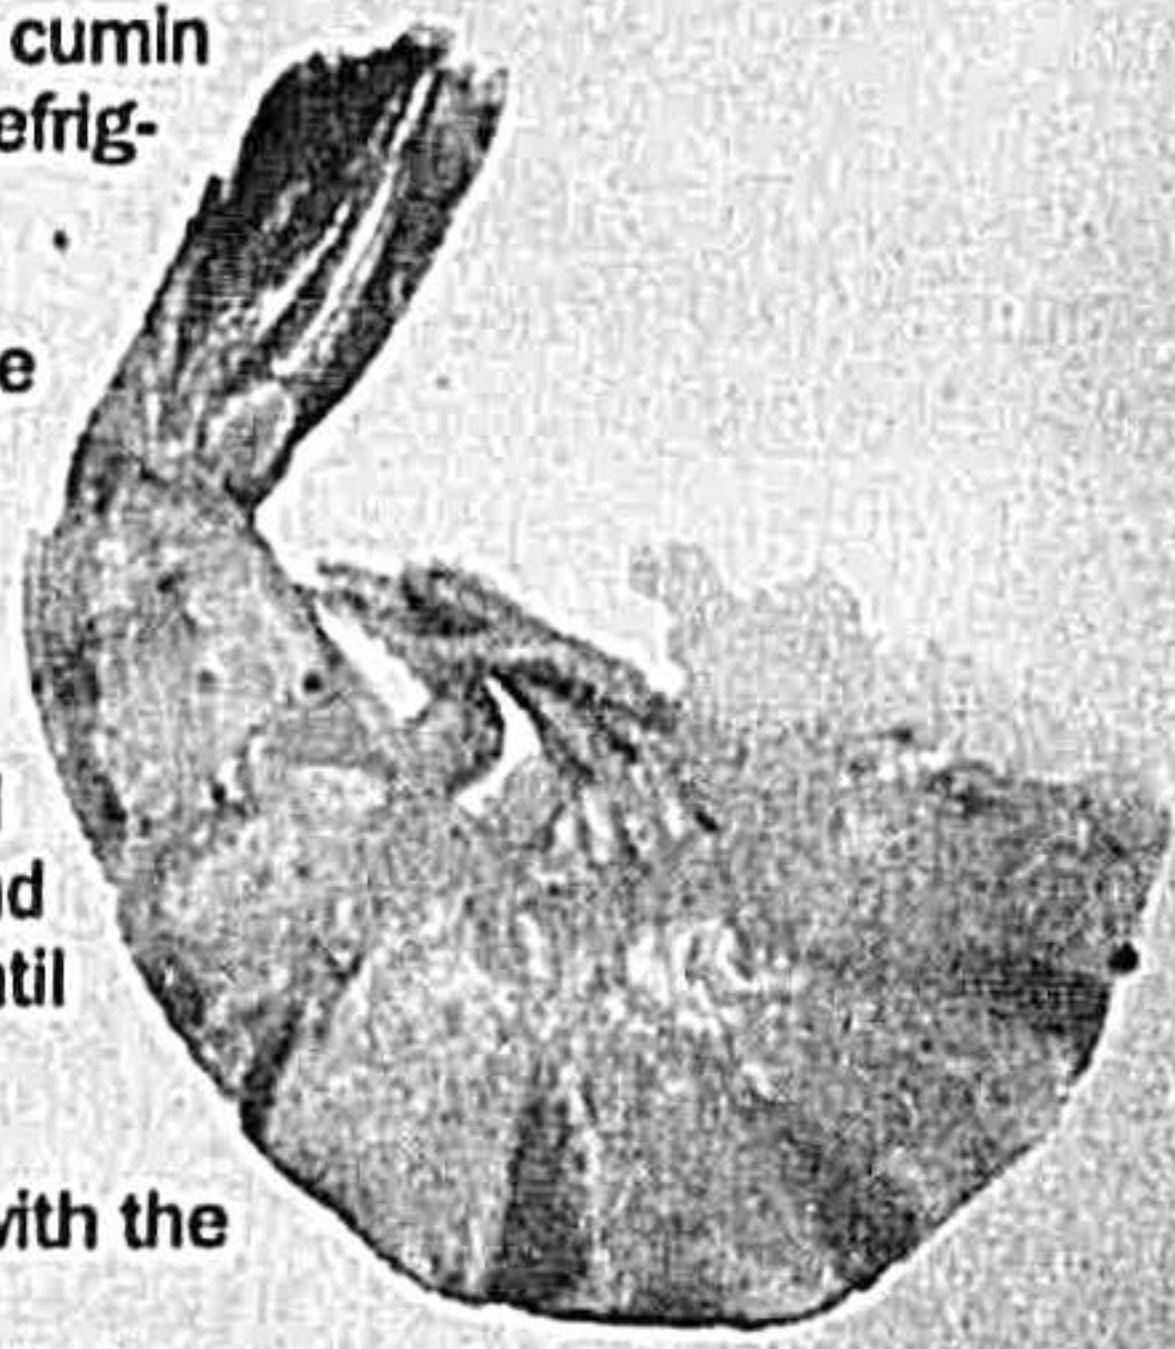

Garnishes
2 hard-cooked eggs, peeled and each cut into 4 wedges
8 black olives
Minced fresh cilantro or parsley leaves

1. In a small mixing bowl, combine the garlic paste, oregano, cumin and black pepper. Rub the shrimp with this paste, cover and refrigerate for at least 30 minutes.

2. Heat the oil in a large skillet over medium heat. Add the shrimp and cook, stirring steadily for 10 to 15 seconds, just until the shrimp begin to change color - they should not be fully cooked. Remove with a slotted spoon and set aside. Add the onion to the skillet and cook, stirring a few times, until softened, about 5 minutes. Add the chicken broth, quinoa and cheese. Mix well, season with salt and black pepper to taste, and simmer for a couple of minutes. Stir in the shrimp and cook until they begin to curl.

3. To serve, transfer to a heated serving platter and decorate with the eggs, olives and cilantro.

Q: I made a pot of chili that is too hot with cayenne and was wondering if there is a remedy to "cool" it down. It's probably a silly question, but no harm in trying.

A: Been there, done that, so I don't think there's anything silly about your question. My solution was to add more "cool" ingredients—tomatoes, tomato sauce—to dilute the heat. But I wasn't sure that was anything more than the easiest quick fix I could think of under pressure with dinner guests due any minute.

I went to www.fieri-foods.com, The Fieri Foods & Barbecue SuperSite, and sent an e-mail to Dave DeWitt, who is the editor and publisher. He called within minutes and I posed your question.

"The only thing that works after the fact is what I call the dilution factor," DeWitt said. "Add more ingredients to dilute the heat."

"But that's why I recommend always starting with less than a recipe recommends and tasting as you go," DeWitt said. "You can always add more heat later, but you can never take it out."

He also suggested ways of taming heat after eating something that is too fiery for comfort.

"Casein, a protein found in many dairy products, can dilute the effects of capsaicin (the thing that gives a pepper its heat)," DeWitt said. "That's why people recommend reaching for a glass of milk, but actually the thicker, fattier and heavier, the better. What a great excuse to eat super-premium ice cream!"

Spicy Asian Lettuce Wraps

Prep Time: 50 minutes

1 lb. boneless skinless chicken breast halves
1 (1 lb. 5-oz.) pkg. Green Giant Create a Meal! Frozen Stir-Fry Lo Mein Meal Starter
2 tablespoons purchased chili-garlic sauce
2 tablespoons soy sauce
3 tablespoons oil
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons peanut butter
2 tablespoons water
8 large leaves Bibb lettuce
1 1/2 cups grated carrots
1/3 cup chopped peanuts
1/4 cup finely chopped green onions
2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh cilantro, if desired

To flatten each chicken breast half, place boned side up between 2 pieces of plastic wrap or waxed paper. Working from center, gently pound chicken with flat side of meat mallet or rolling pin until about 1/4 inch thick; remove wrap.

Place frozen sauce from meal starter in small microwave-safe bowl. Microwave on High for 15 to 30 seconds or until thawed. Add chili-garlic sauce and soy sauce; mix well. In medium bowl, combine chicken, 1/4 cup soy sauce mixture and 2 tablespoons of the oil.

Heat 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high heat until hot. Add chicken mixture; cook 5 to 6 minutes or until chicken is no longer pink in center, turning occasionally. Remove chicken from skillet; cut into 1-inch pieces. Cover to keep warm.

Heat remaining 1 tablespoon oil in same nonstick skillet over medium-high heat until hot. Add 3 tablespoons soy sauce mixture, garlic, and frozen noodles and vegetables from meal starter; cook 6 to 8 minutes or until vegetables are crisp-tender, stirring frequently.

To remaining soy sauce mixture in small bowl, add sugar, peanut butter and water; mix well.

Arrange lettuce on part of large serving platter. Spoon carrots onto platter next to lettuce. Arrange cooked vegetables and noodles on platter. Place chicken over vegetables and noodles.

Sprinkle chicken with peanuts, onions and cilantro.

To serve, spread peanut sauce in center of each lettuce leaf. Top with chicken and vegetable mixture, and carrots. Wrap lettuce around filling.

Maynard Ferguson

Jazz legend to perform at CLC

Maynard Ferguson, three-time Grammy nominee and one of the greatest trumpet and brass players in the world, will perform in concert at 4 p.m. April 18 at the College of Lake County. Ferguson will perform with his Big Bop Nouveau Band in the Mainstage Theatre of the James Lumber Center for the Performing Arts on the Grayslake Campus. The opening performance will be presented by the CLC Jazz Ensemble, directed by CLC band director Bruce Mack.

Ferguson set the jazz world on its ear in the 50s with his fast, powerful and dynamic music. His hard-hitting Big Bop Nouveau Band is one of the flashiest, loudest show biz acts in jazz today. In recognition of his musical contributions, Ferguson was inducted into the Canadian Music Hall of Fame in 1997 and presented with the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award.

Tickets are $28 for the general public; $27 for CLC students, current alumni members and seniors 65 and over; and $15 for children under 12.

Call the CLC box office at 847-543-2300 for tickets. Advance ticket purchase is recommended.

'Meet John Doe' a moody drama, relevant 1937 period piece

DB Norton (Ben Werling) and Ann Mitchell (Julie Granata) appear in Shattered Globe Theatre's world premiere of "Meet John Doe" at the Viaduct Theatre in Chicago.

CRITIC'S CHOICE By Tom Witom

Shattered Globe Theatre's world premiere of "Meet John Doe," an adaptation of a 1941 Frank Capra film, is, if anything, a timely arrival.

Based on a story by Robert Riskin, this drama is set in 1937 and features an increasingly cynical population plus a looming presidential election.

Sound familiar? Wait, there's more. Throw in an unscrupulous reporter whose fabricated scoop takes on a life of its own, and the parallels to the present are uncanny.

The story begins with a recently fired columnist on a Midwest daily, Ann Mitchell (Julie Granata); she has fabricated a letter to the editor from an imaginary citizen despondent over the way society is headed; he vows to commit suicide on Christmas Eve. She hopes her sensational letter, which has incensed the public, will get her reinstated on the paper, and it does.

But the phony note brings its own set of problems, namely finding a real-live somebody to play the part.

Mitchell and the manipulative publisher D.B. Norton (Ben Werling) secretly hire John Willoughby (played by the likeable Joe Forbrich), a vagrant and would-be baseball player sidelined by an injury, to assume the role of "Doe."

Willoughby, enjoying his Everyman role, is happy to get the job as "Doe." He quickly assimilates the heartfelt speeches that Mitchell has crafted by using for inspiration material left by her late idealistic father. Doe comes to believe the simple message he preaches about brotherly love and neighbor helping neighbor during a time when the country's economy is down in the dumps and joblessness is rampant.

A simple publicity stunt takes on a life of its own. Before long, John Doe clubs were springing up everywhere. Also gaining ground is Norton's hidden agenda of forming a third political party that would be swept into the oval office with him as the standard bearer. With audience members enlisted for some serious flag waving, the plot goes a little overboard and starts meandering.

Eventually, John Doe learns of the deceit and how he was victimized. Any hopes for a relationship with Mitchell fall apart and the effectiveness of his message to the downtrodden is undermined when a calculating Norton exposes Doe as a fake.

Doe's sidekick is the Colonel (Maury Cooper), a smooth talker who constantly warns his pal of the dangers of capitalism.

Kevin Hagan's multi-tiered set backed by a wall-sized flag makes effective use of the theater's space, and the lighting by Shelley Strasser-Holland complements the period costumes of Nicole Rene Burchfield.

The play is directed by Louis Contey in collaboration with Dori Robinson.

opening this week

The Gospel of John (PG-13): With Mel Gibson's "The Passion of the Christ" hoarding center stage in the religious film department these days, this Canadian take on the Jesus story will probably quietly slip under the radar unnoticed. And that would be a shame.

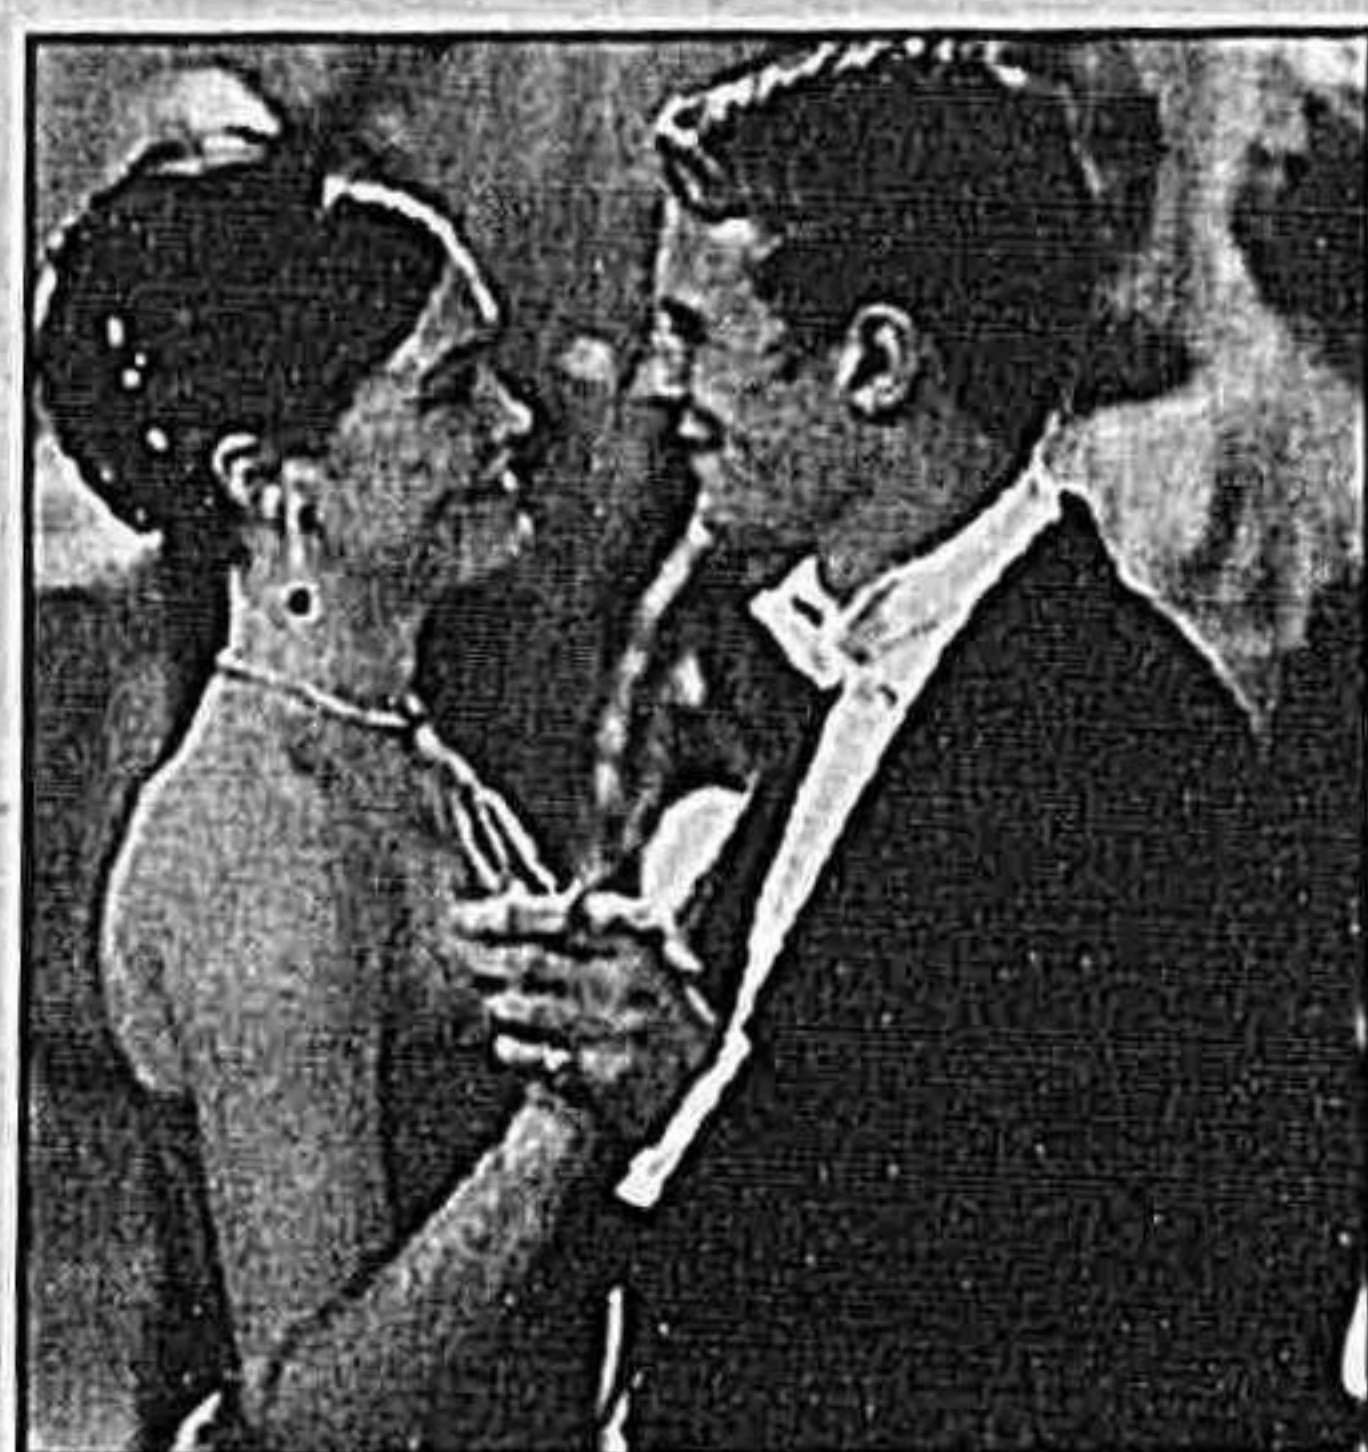

Based solely on the Good News Bible's gospel of John, this film is unique in that it speaks from the point of view of that well-known apostle. The story, therefore, does not include some familiar elements from other gospels - such as the Nativity or Jesus' confrontation with the Devil - but its advantage is its single-minded approach to this extraordinary man's stay on earth, resulting in a clearer characterization of Christ in human terms. It also succeeds in presenting the familiar stories of Christ's miracles - the loaves and the fishes, Lazarus' return from the dead, the curing of the blind man - in a fresh, almost matter-of-fact manner, giving them an unexpected immediacy that packs a powerful punch.

Wilbur Wants to Kill Himself (R): Danish filmmaker Lone Scherfig pulled off a terrific coup last time out in the marvelous small comedy "Italian for Beginners," managing to create an ensemble of romantic lonely-hearts so accessible and sweetly moving that her film ranked among the year's best. In her new comedy-drama, the larger themed and scaled "Wilbur Wants to Kill Himself," Scherfig's gotten more ambitious, and though not quite in the league of her first outing, "Wilbur" is an often likable and at times moving film.

The Prince and Me (PG): Julia Stiles ("Save the Last Dance," "Mona Lisa Smile") stars in this fairy tale love story about college students in that zone where being free spirited is the normal way of life. Stiles loves riding her motorcycle around Indiana University, where she meets and falls in love with classmate Luke Mably ("28 Days Later"). She's unaware that he's spending a "gap year" in the US, disguised as a regular guy, before returning to Europe to perform his duties as a Danish Prince.

These two young adults, from different parts of the world, with a vastly different status in life, fall in love.

The United States of Leland (R): On the heels of last year's minimalist "Elephant," Gus Van Sant's gripping nightmare of Columbine-style high school violence, comes another film about teen violence.

The story, about a small group of friends and family shell shocked by a senseless teen murder, tackles a difficult theme - why we sometimes inexplicably do terrible things. Stars Ryan Gosling, Jena Malone, Kevin Spacey and Don Cheadle.

Killing me softly, with a wallop

This Coen Brothers remake of a wicked British comedy from 1955, with Alec Guinness and Peter Sellers, stars Tom Hanks as mannered though smarmy Professor Dorr. Dorr is a southern gentleman with a penchant to enrich himself with the funds of a New Orleans riverboat casino.

He rents a room at the lovely old house owned by Mrs. Munson (Irma P. Hall), and he inquires if he can use her acoustically perfect root cellar as rehearsal space for his Renaissance ensemble. This band of mayhem makers' favorite instruments are drills and explosives, however. Their real interest is to steal the money from the underground counting room of the floating casino, which is located a short distance from the cellar. Soon the caper is afoot and they are digging a tunnel under the cover of recorded music, which for awhile fools Mrs. Munson.

When Mrs. Munson accidentally discovers what the gang is up to, they decide to kill her when she refuses to be bribed. Like a cat with more than nine lives, she has the knack to avoid what seems to be certain death at the hands of the dim witted criminals.

Fans of the Coen Brothers hits such as "O Brother, Where Art Thou?" and "Blood Simple" will adore this film as they are already primed for the twisted and often irreverent humor. Just as some Tom Hanks fans were surprised by his murderous and unapologetic role in "The Road to Perdition," the same applies here with the broad difference being that though he's a bad guy, this is a laugh out loud comedy rather than a dark family tragedy. Hanks is clearly having a good time in a role that seems as if he's ready to wink at those of us sitting in the audience at any time.

Hanks always delivers a performance worth watching and in this film, so does Irma P. Hall (a Chicagoan). The cleverly written script delivers some real surprises. As an added bonus "The Ladykillers" has a gospel soundtrack that may also hit the best selling charts with its rousing music, as "O Brother" did with its country music. The name of the film does indeed set the tone for the humor in the movie. If you like wicked, twisted humor, this film was made for you.

George's take: Marlon Wayans plays a stereotypical, foul mouth, dumb black man, who is in conflict with partner-in-crime stereotypical hillbilly J.K. Simmons ("Spider-Man," "The D.A.") and his girlfriend "Mountain Girl" (Diane Delano of "A Mighty Wind"), yet the Coen Brothers have done one of the hardest things in humor, which is to push sensitive buttons without becoming offensive.

Pam's take: I take offense. Not only do I object to the characterization of Gawain (Wayans) but also to the fact that the filmmakers chose to have Mrs. Munson devoted to the preservation of the Bob Jones University ministry, a known racist institution. If there's supposed to be irony there it escapes me.

Contest

Time is running out

On April 9, all entries in the McHenry County Historical "Bridges of McHenry County Photography Contest" must be turned in. The contest is open to any and all amateur photographers living in McHenry County. Four categories were established: one black and white for 18 years old and younger and 19 and older with up to three photos per person allowed in each qualifying category.

Cash prizes of $100 for 1st place and $50 for second place will be awarded provided the categories have entries as determined by the judges. Varga and Associates of Richmond are providing cash prizes in this partnership with McHenry County Historical Society to document road and railroad bridges within the county. All photographs will become the property of the Historical Society which plans to make a traveling exhibit out of these local pictures.

The contest is being run in connection with a new traveling photo exhibit on the Historical Bridges of Illinois which opens Sunday, May 2 at the Society's museum located at 6422 Main Street in Union. That special exhibit is funded by the McHenry County Township Road Commissioners and Smith Engineering of McHenry.

Those interested in entering the photo contest and needing an application may contact the Historical Society at 815-923-2267 or download the application at www.mchsonline.org.

Welcome to the 'Civil War Medicine'

"Civil War Medicine" on Display at The Dr. William M. Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine at Rosalind Franklin University, now through April 16.

The Dr. William M. Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine at Rosalind Franklin University of Health Sciences (formerly Finch University of Health Sciences) presents an authentic look at the practice of medicine during the Civil War era with an exhibit entitled "Civil War Medicine and That Which Brought Men to It." The exhibit will be on display in the lobby of the Feet First Museum at Scholl College located at 3333 Green Bay Road, North Chicago, Ill. "Civil War Medicine" will feature a recreation of a surgeon's tent, complete with the equipment used for treating the sick and wounded, as well as the rifles, swords, pistols and regalia of the Infantry, Artillery, Cavalry and Signal Corps. Copies of a soldier's field cookbook with recipes and home remedies from Civil War times will also be on display.

The exhibit is free and open to the public Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. For more information about this event, call 847-578-8417. The University is located at 3333 Green Bay Road, North Chicago, Ill.

Community Concerts Offers Discount Tickets

Lake County Community Concert Association is offering discounted ticket prices to subscribers who purchase tickets for the six-show 2004-2005 series before June 1, 2004.

Prior to June 1 ticket prices are $45 for adults, $20 for students through high school age, and $115 for families (two adults and all students residing at same address). After June 1 ticket prices are $65 for adults, $30 for students, and $175 for families.

In addition to the six concerts at Waukegan High School, subscribers are entitled to attend free of charge eight concerts at two other concert associations in Arlington Heights and Park Ridge.

The concert series for 2004-2005, Community Concerts' 52nd season, begins on September 25 with the Arlie Shaw Orchestra, a big band. On October 9 a show saluting the genius of Richard Rodgers, One Enchanted Evening, will be presented. Alpin Hong, a dynamic pianist, will take the stage on November 13. On February 19, 2005 the Vega String Quartet will appear. The acclaimed Chicago Children's Choir will perform on April 9. The final concert of the season, Rhythm in Shoes, a company of dancers and singers, will be presented on May 1.

All six concerts will be held in the Ord D. Trapp Auditorium of Waukegan High School at 2325 McAree Road.

For more information and to order tickets, call Donna Fortney at 847-244-7465.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES - March 21/April 20

Running out of steam, Aries? You should be. You've been on the go all week long, but rest assured that the effort has been worthwhile.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Lady Luck helps those who help themselves. Libra, so you really need to stop feeling sorry for yourself. Get out there and fight for what you want. Luck will be with you.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

Make time in your busy schedule this week to catch up with old friends. It's high time you remembered your roots. Look out for a new business idea to show up during a weekend dinner out on the town.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

"Me, me, me" seems to be the name of your personal game recently; however, that kind of attitude only makes others resent you. Remember the Golden Rule and your manners.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

Whoa, Gemini! You scored a success in business this week, but don't let all the attention go to your head. People know you're smart, but it's your humility that will endear you to others.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

Something's not right at home, Sagittarius, but you can't quite put your finger on it yet. Search your own backyard for clues — there just might be a snake in the grass nearby.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

It's time to let go of a longstanding business relationship. You're too busy nowadays, and it would be better to spend the time you do have on something you enjoy.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Aren't you tired of letting people boss you around, Capricorn? You're bright and a creative thinker. Don't let anyone take that away from you — even if it's the boss.

LEO - July 23/August 23

Something happens on Thursday that will shake your famous self-confidence. Everybody has an off day every now and again. You'll be back to your old self again soon.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Your perfectionist nature is poised to get the better of you this week, Aquarius. Sometimes, you can't make it perfect. It's okay.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

You've certainly got a lot of work on your plate this week, Virgo. Save some time for yourself, especially on Thursday night.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20

You've invested a lot of time on a personal project this week, Pisces, but someone close is trying to prevent you from reaching your goal. Be strong and fight for you.

Sheepshearing and herding demonstration

With rising temperatures just around the corner, the ewes at Ryerson Conservation Area near Deerfield will soon be standing in line for their annual haircut. Sheep at Ryerson Woods get a close shave each spring to avoid overheating in the warmer summer months.

Bring the entire family out for a fun and educational glimpse into farm life at Sheep Shearing and Herding on Sunday, April 4 at 1:30 p.m. At the program, visitors can get close to the action and watch top sheep shearers give the ewes their haircut, learn where wool comes from, how it is put to use, and sample the wool fresh from the sheep's back. Then everyone can enjoy a border collie herding demonstration as sheep and skilled dogs put on a show.

Sheep Shearing and Herding is open to all ages. Registration is not required. Cost of the program is $4 ($3 for Lake County residents) per person. Ryerson Woods is located near Deerfield on Riverwoods Road south of Half Day Road, west of the I-94 Toll Way.

Get spring started with Saturday activities for kids

Kids ages four to 10 can begin taking advantage of the early spring weather with nature hikes and other fun activities at the Lake County Forest Preserves. The Knee High Naturalists program is offered for parents and children ages four through kindergarten on Saturday mornings this spring from 10-11:30 am, and Youth Night Hikes is offered to children ages six to 10 on Saturday evenings from 6:30-8 p.m.

Knee High Naturalists is available on March 13 at Ryerson Conservation Area near Deerfield, April 10 at Independence Grove Forest Preserve near Libertyville, and May 15 at Lakewood Forest Preserve near Wauconda. This program is for adults with children ages four through kindergarten. Cost of the program is $14 ($10 for Lake County residents) per adult-child pair, and $7 ($5 for Lake County residents) for one extra child.

Pre-registration is required. Call 847-968-3321 to register.

Youth Night Hikes is available on March 27 and April 24 at Ryerson Woods, and May 15 at Independence Grove. Parents need not accompany children on this program. Cost of the program is $10 ($8 for Lake County residents) per person. Pre-registration is required. Call 847-968-3321 to register.

Ryerson Woods is located near Deerfield on Riverwoods Road south of Half Day Road. Independence Grove is located near Libertyville on Buckley Road (Route 137) east of Milwaukee Avenue (Route 21). Lakewood Forest is located near Wauconda on Route 176, just west of Fairfield Road.

'Champagne and Chocolate' reception celebrates 20 years

The evening glittered with candlelight as sumptuous treats were served to supporters and friends. All had gathered on February 20 to commemorate the Barrington Dance Academy's 20th anniversary.

Barrington Youth Dance Ensemble, the not-for-profit dance company, marked its 15th year fulfilling its mission of promoting artistic integrity, involvement and awareness through exceptional dance training and performance in the Chicago area.

The dance community looks forward to the upcoming production of "The Sleeping Beauty" to be presented at Barrington High School's Richard C. Johnson Auditorium, June 18 at 7:30 p.m. and June 19 at 2 p.m.

The BYDE continues to greatly appreciate the continued generous support from the Fitzsimonds Charitable Trust; Illinois Arts Council, a state agency; Elyse and Raymond Roberts Foundation; Northern Trust Bank in Barrington; Barrington Area Arts Council/ARTS BOOST; Barrington Junior Women's Club, Inc.; and Hagerty Peterson & Co.

Through quality dance performances, BYDE promotes artistic integrity, understanding, involvement, and awareness among people of all ages throughout the Chicago area.

The Sundance Saloon welcomes Craig Morgan

Former paratrooper now turned award winning country music singer/songwriter, Craig Morgan is coming off the Top 10 with "Almost Home" and his current album "I Love It" is doing very well.

Craig Morgan will be playing at the Sundance Saloon in Mundelein, Saturday, April 3.

"I'm a fan of country music. Just like the guy who has nothing to do with this industry," says Craig Morgan, "Believe that."

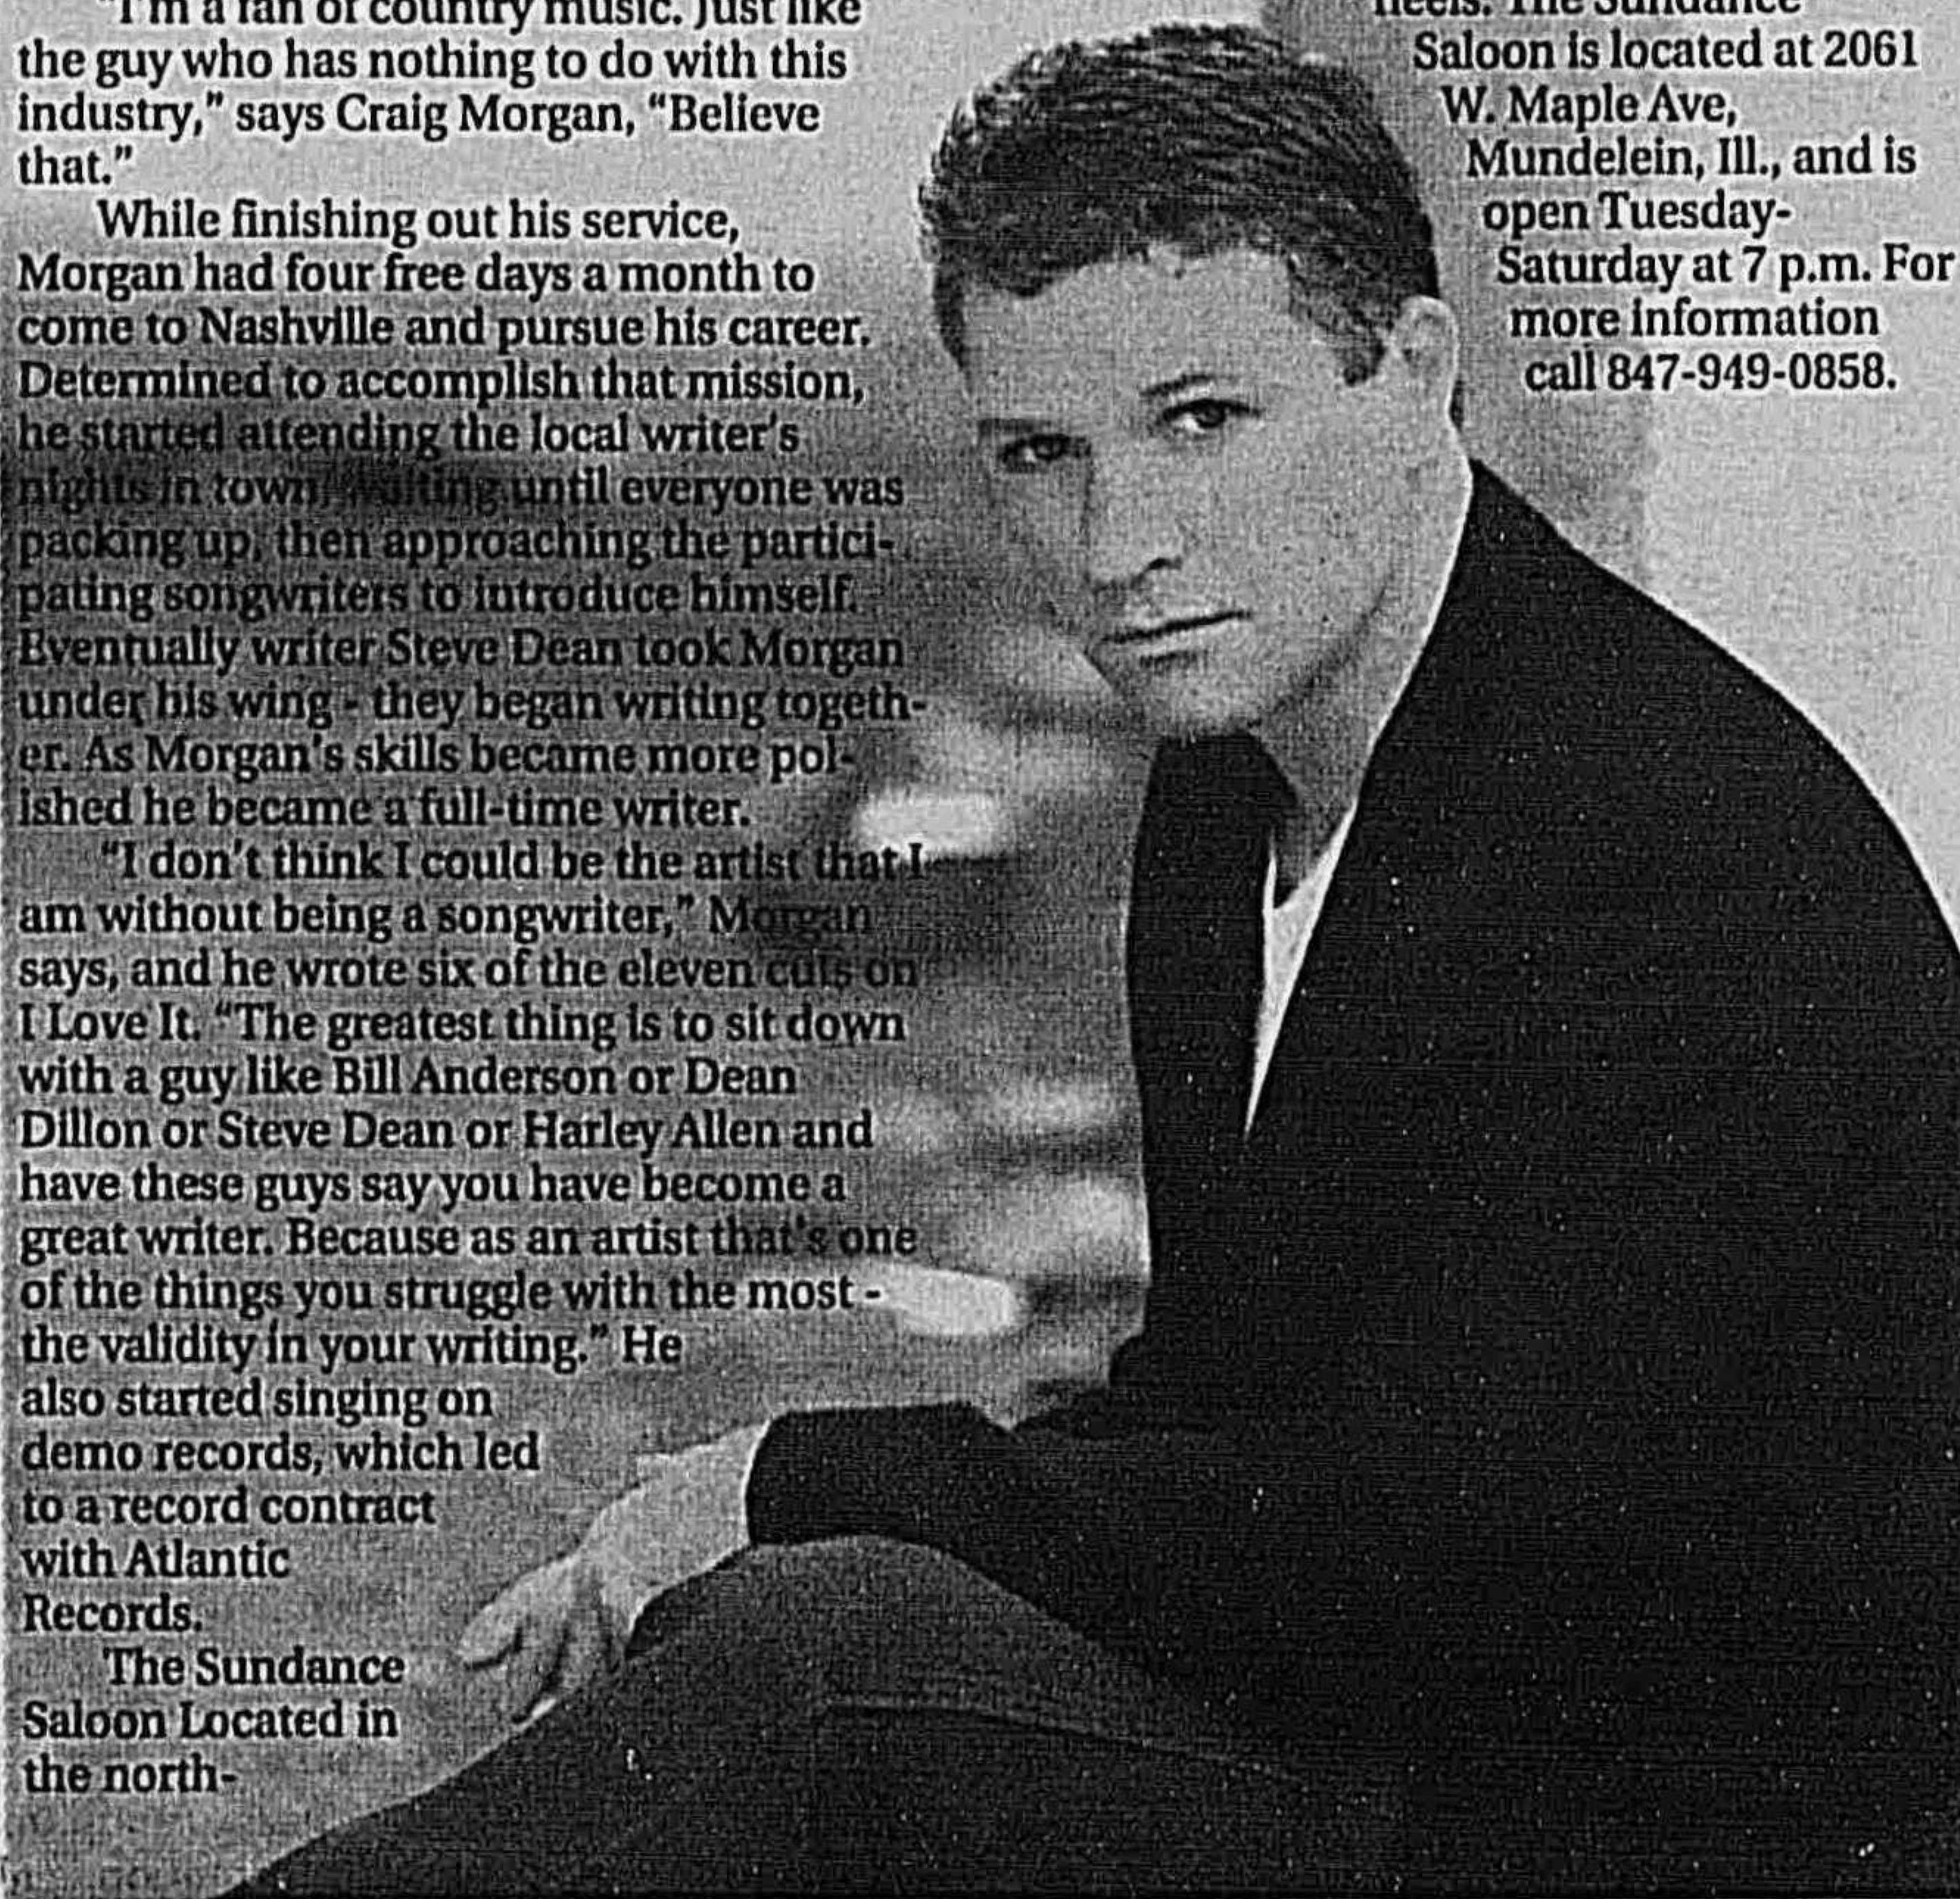

While finishing out his service, Morgan had four free days a month to come to Nashville and pursue his career. Determined to accomplish that mission, he started attending the local writer's nights in town, waiting until everyone was packing up, then approaching the participating songwriters to introduce himself. Eventually writer Steve Dean took Morgan under his wing - they began writing together. As Morgan's skills became more polished he became a full-time writer.

"I don't think I could be the artist that I am without being a songwriter," Morgan says, and he wrote six of the eleven cuts on I Love It. "The greatest thing is to sit down with a guy like Bill Anderson or Dean Dillon or Steve Dean or Harley Allen and have these guys say you have become a great writer. Because as an artist that's one of the things you struggle with the most - the validity in your writing." He also started singing on demo records, which led to a record contract with Atlantic Records.

The Sundance Saloon Located in the northwest suburb of Mundelein and is the oldest Country Western Night Club in the state of Illinois.

Established in 1975 Sundance has offered twenty-five years of good times and good friends in a relaxing, fun-filled country saloon setting. If you're new to the country scene, learn to kick-up your heels. The Sundance Saloon is located at 2061 W. Maple Ave, Mundelein, Ill., and is open Tuesday-Saturday at 7 p.m. For more information call 847-949-0858.

Crucifixion concert features locals

By JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

After a year without, local talent will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion" in a free concert at the sanctuary of the Benedictine Abbey on Palm Sunday, April 4, at 3 p.m.

The concert, depicting the last week in the life of Jesus Christ, will be performed by the Antioch Community Chorus and is sponsored by Festival Arts of Antioch.

"It's hard to track down exactly how many years we've been doing a performance of the 'Crucifixion,'" said Betty Smouse, publicity director for Festival Arts of Antioch. "With the exception of last year, we have certainly been doing it for at least 10 years with the chorus, but it started long before the Antioch Community Chorus formed."

Jeff Smith, of Antioch, will be the organist. Joining the 40-voice choir are the following soloists: Craig Springer, of Berwin, bass; Ken Smouse, of Antioch, tenor; Wanda Sobczak, of Antioch, soprano; John Konrath, of Antioch, bass; Wendy Weidner, of Spring Lake, Wis., soprano; and George Rosin, of Antioch, bass.

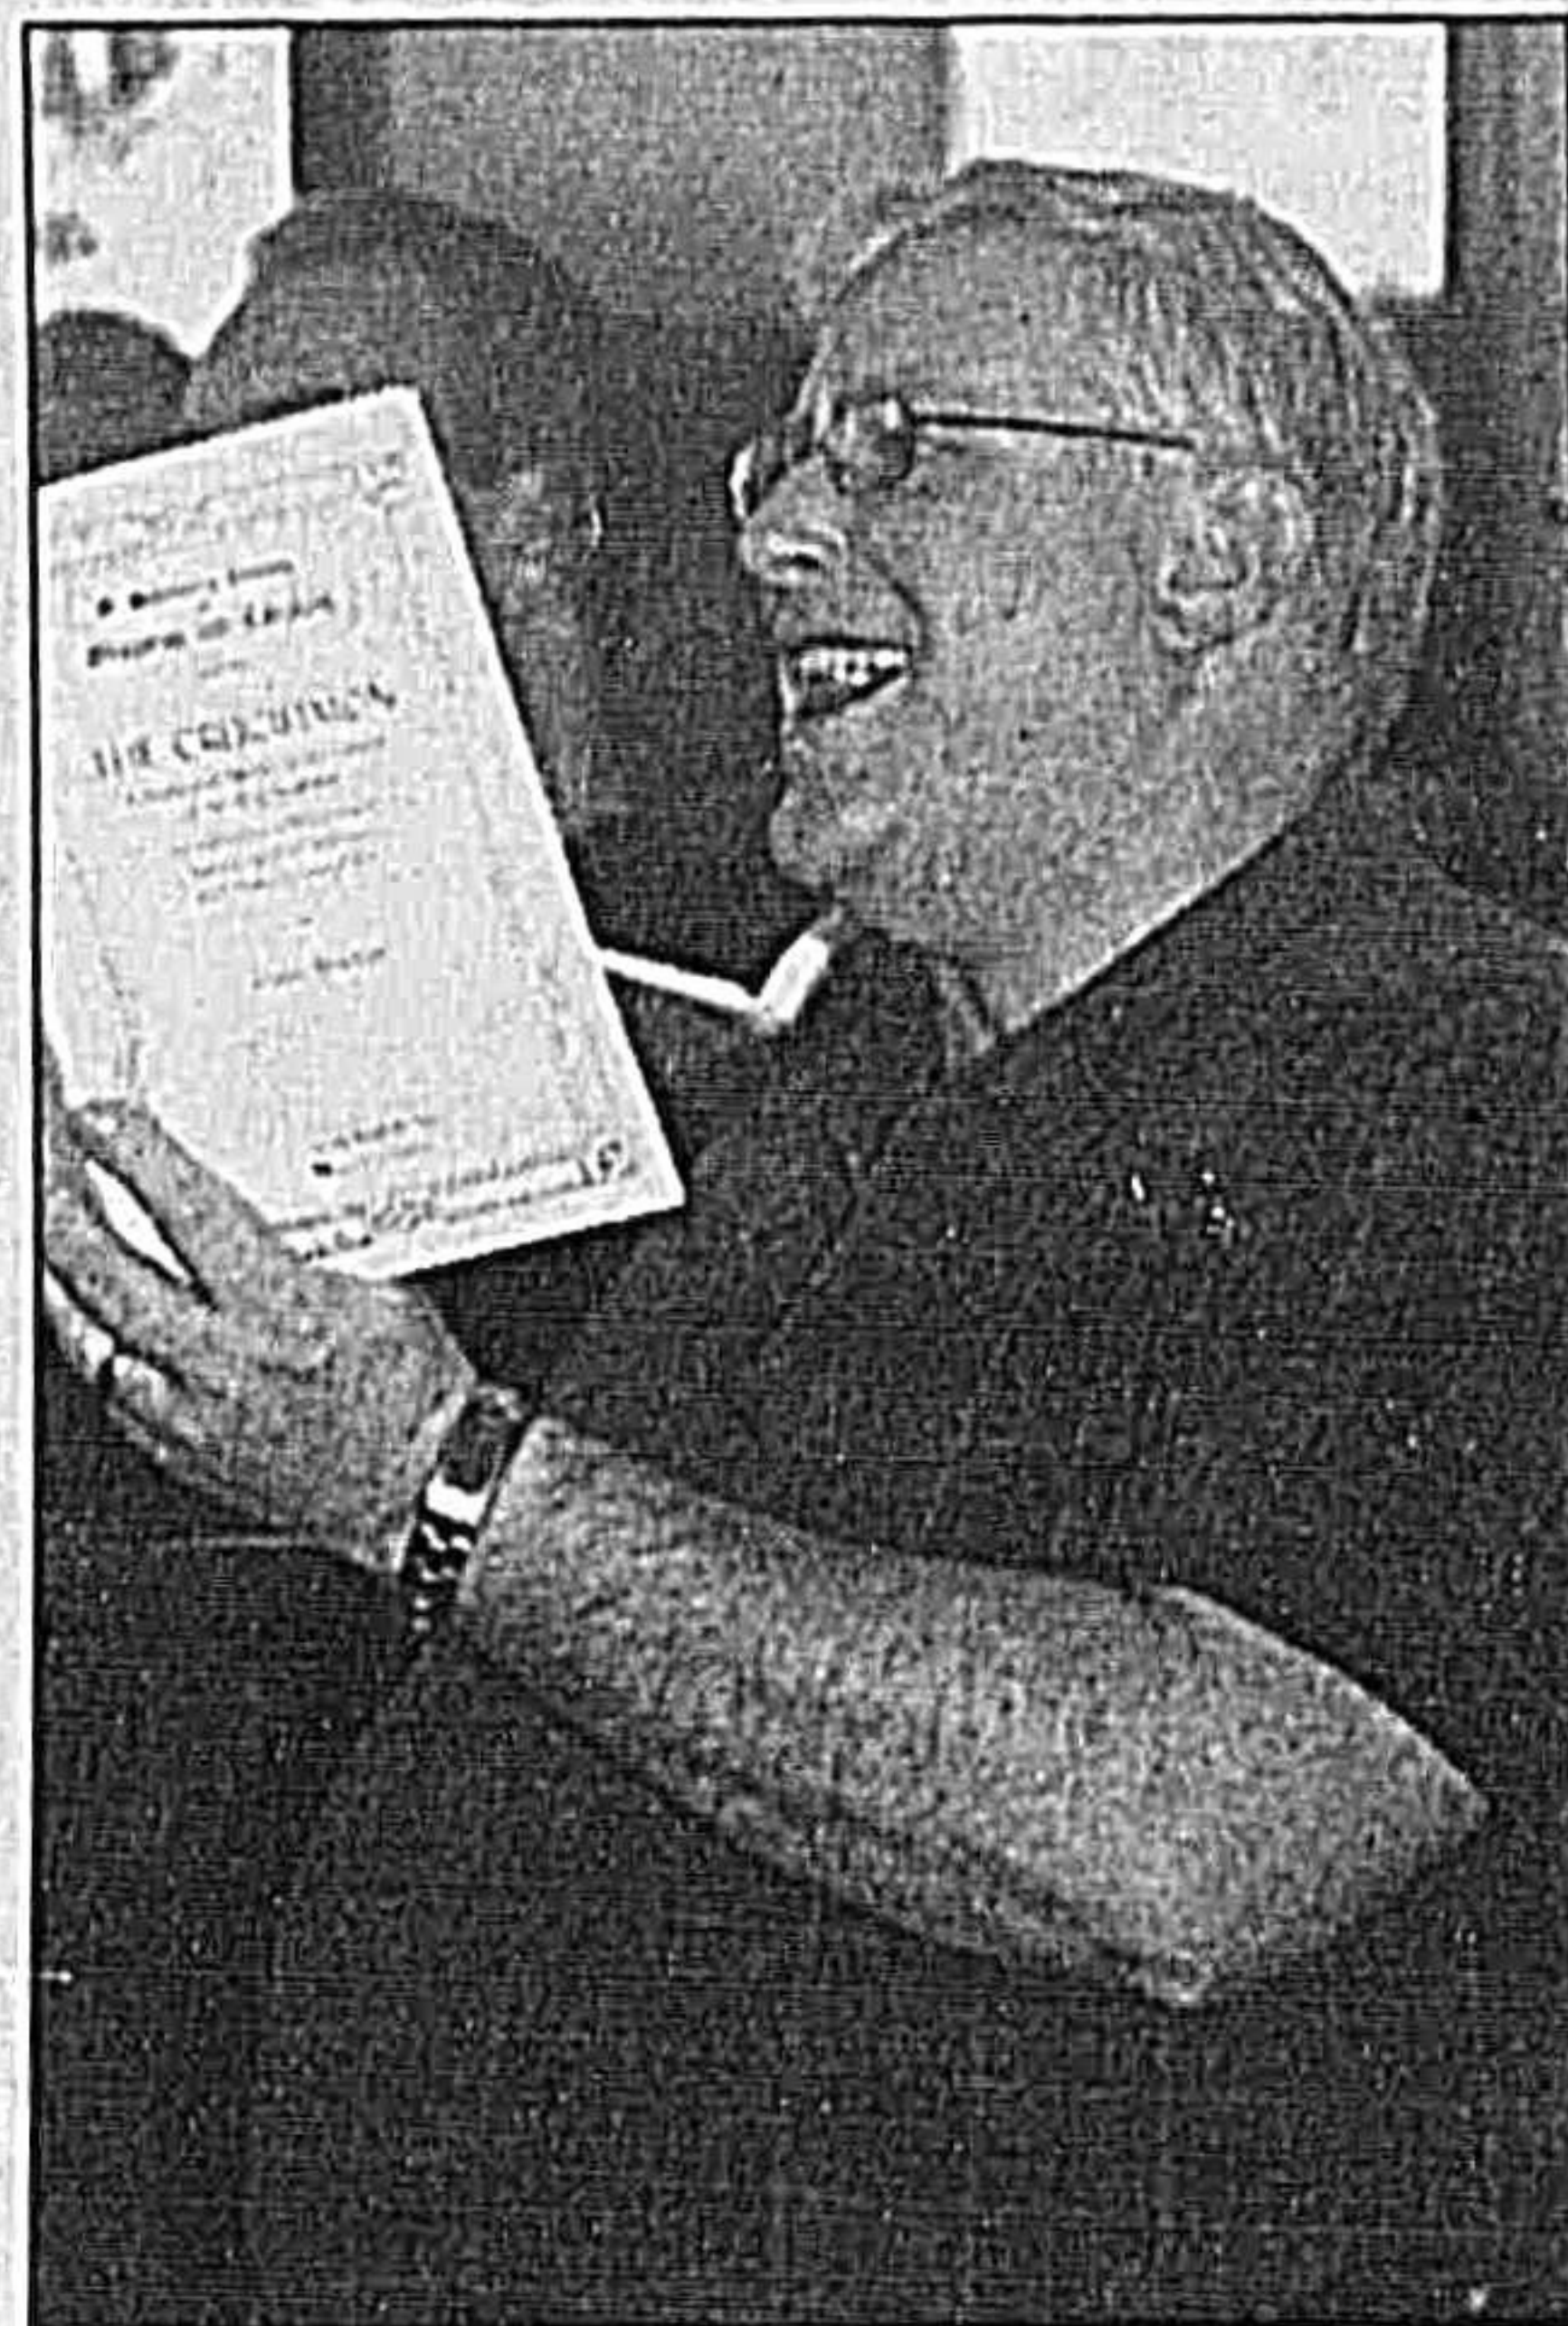

"Almost everyone is from the immediate area," said Betty.

Early seating is advised. "The abbey isn't quite as large as St. Peter," Betty added. "It can seat between 200-250 people."

The Benedictine Abbey is located at 12605 224th Avenue, Benet Lake, Wis., about one mile north of the intersection of North Avenue and Nelson Rd. east of Antioch.

Festival Arts of Antioch, a not-for-profit organization, is able to sponsor programs like this through the donations it receives.

For more information about this program call 847-395-1333.

Northern Illinois Scholarship Program announces pageant winners

The Northern Illinois Scholarship Program (NISP) announced its 2004 winners and they are as follows: Little Miss Northern Illinois Gabby Keenan of Lindenhurst, Junior Miss Northern Illinois Adrianna Gawin of Island Lake, Young Miss Northern Illinois Shannon McMullin-Lewis of Lindenhurst, Teen Miss Northern Illinois Sarah Garrison of Grayslake, Miss Northern Illinois Jenn Blake of Antioch, Ms. Northern Illinois Amanda Rogers of Ingleside, Mrs. Northern Illinois Bridgette King-Soderdhal of Round Lake Beach, Classic Ms. Northern Illinois Barbara King of Round Lake Beach, Northern Illinois Supreme Star Brecken Swanberg of Loves Park and Northern Illinois Queen of Queens Stevie Calabrese of Grayslake. This year's Princess Ambassadors are Victoria Cook of Cary and Kelsy Kochan of Round Lake Beach.

The NISP annual pageant is not a beauty pageant but rather a pageant with a main focus on the inner spirit. NISP believes in the importance of education and community service.

The areas of competition for each ambassador were one-on-one personal interviews with each judge, on-stage sportswear speech, community service essay and formalwear. The pageant also offers four optional competitions such as essay, talent, modeling and photogenic.

The Northern Illinois Scholarship Program is a community service program for girls and women ages 5 and up. The program is now offered to anyone, at any time who would like to participate in community service projects held in northern Illinois.

NISP ambassadors and queens have donated over 13,000 hours of community service in the past six years to organizations and individuals in Northern Illinois. For more information call Kelli Lichtenberger, NISP director at 847-487-6630, or go online at www.geocities.com/nisp6630.

Christian Life presents Easter musical

Christian Life Fellowship Church is presenting and Easter musical "Once and For All" on both Good Friday, April 9 at 7 p.m. and on Easter Sunday, April 11 at 10 a.m.

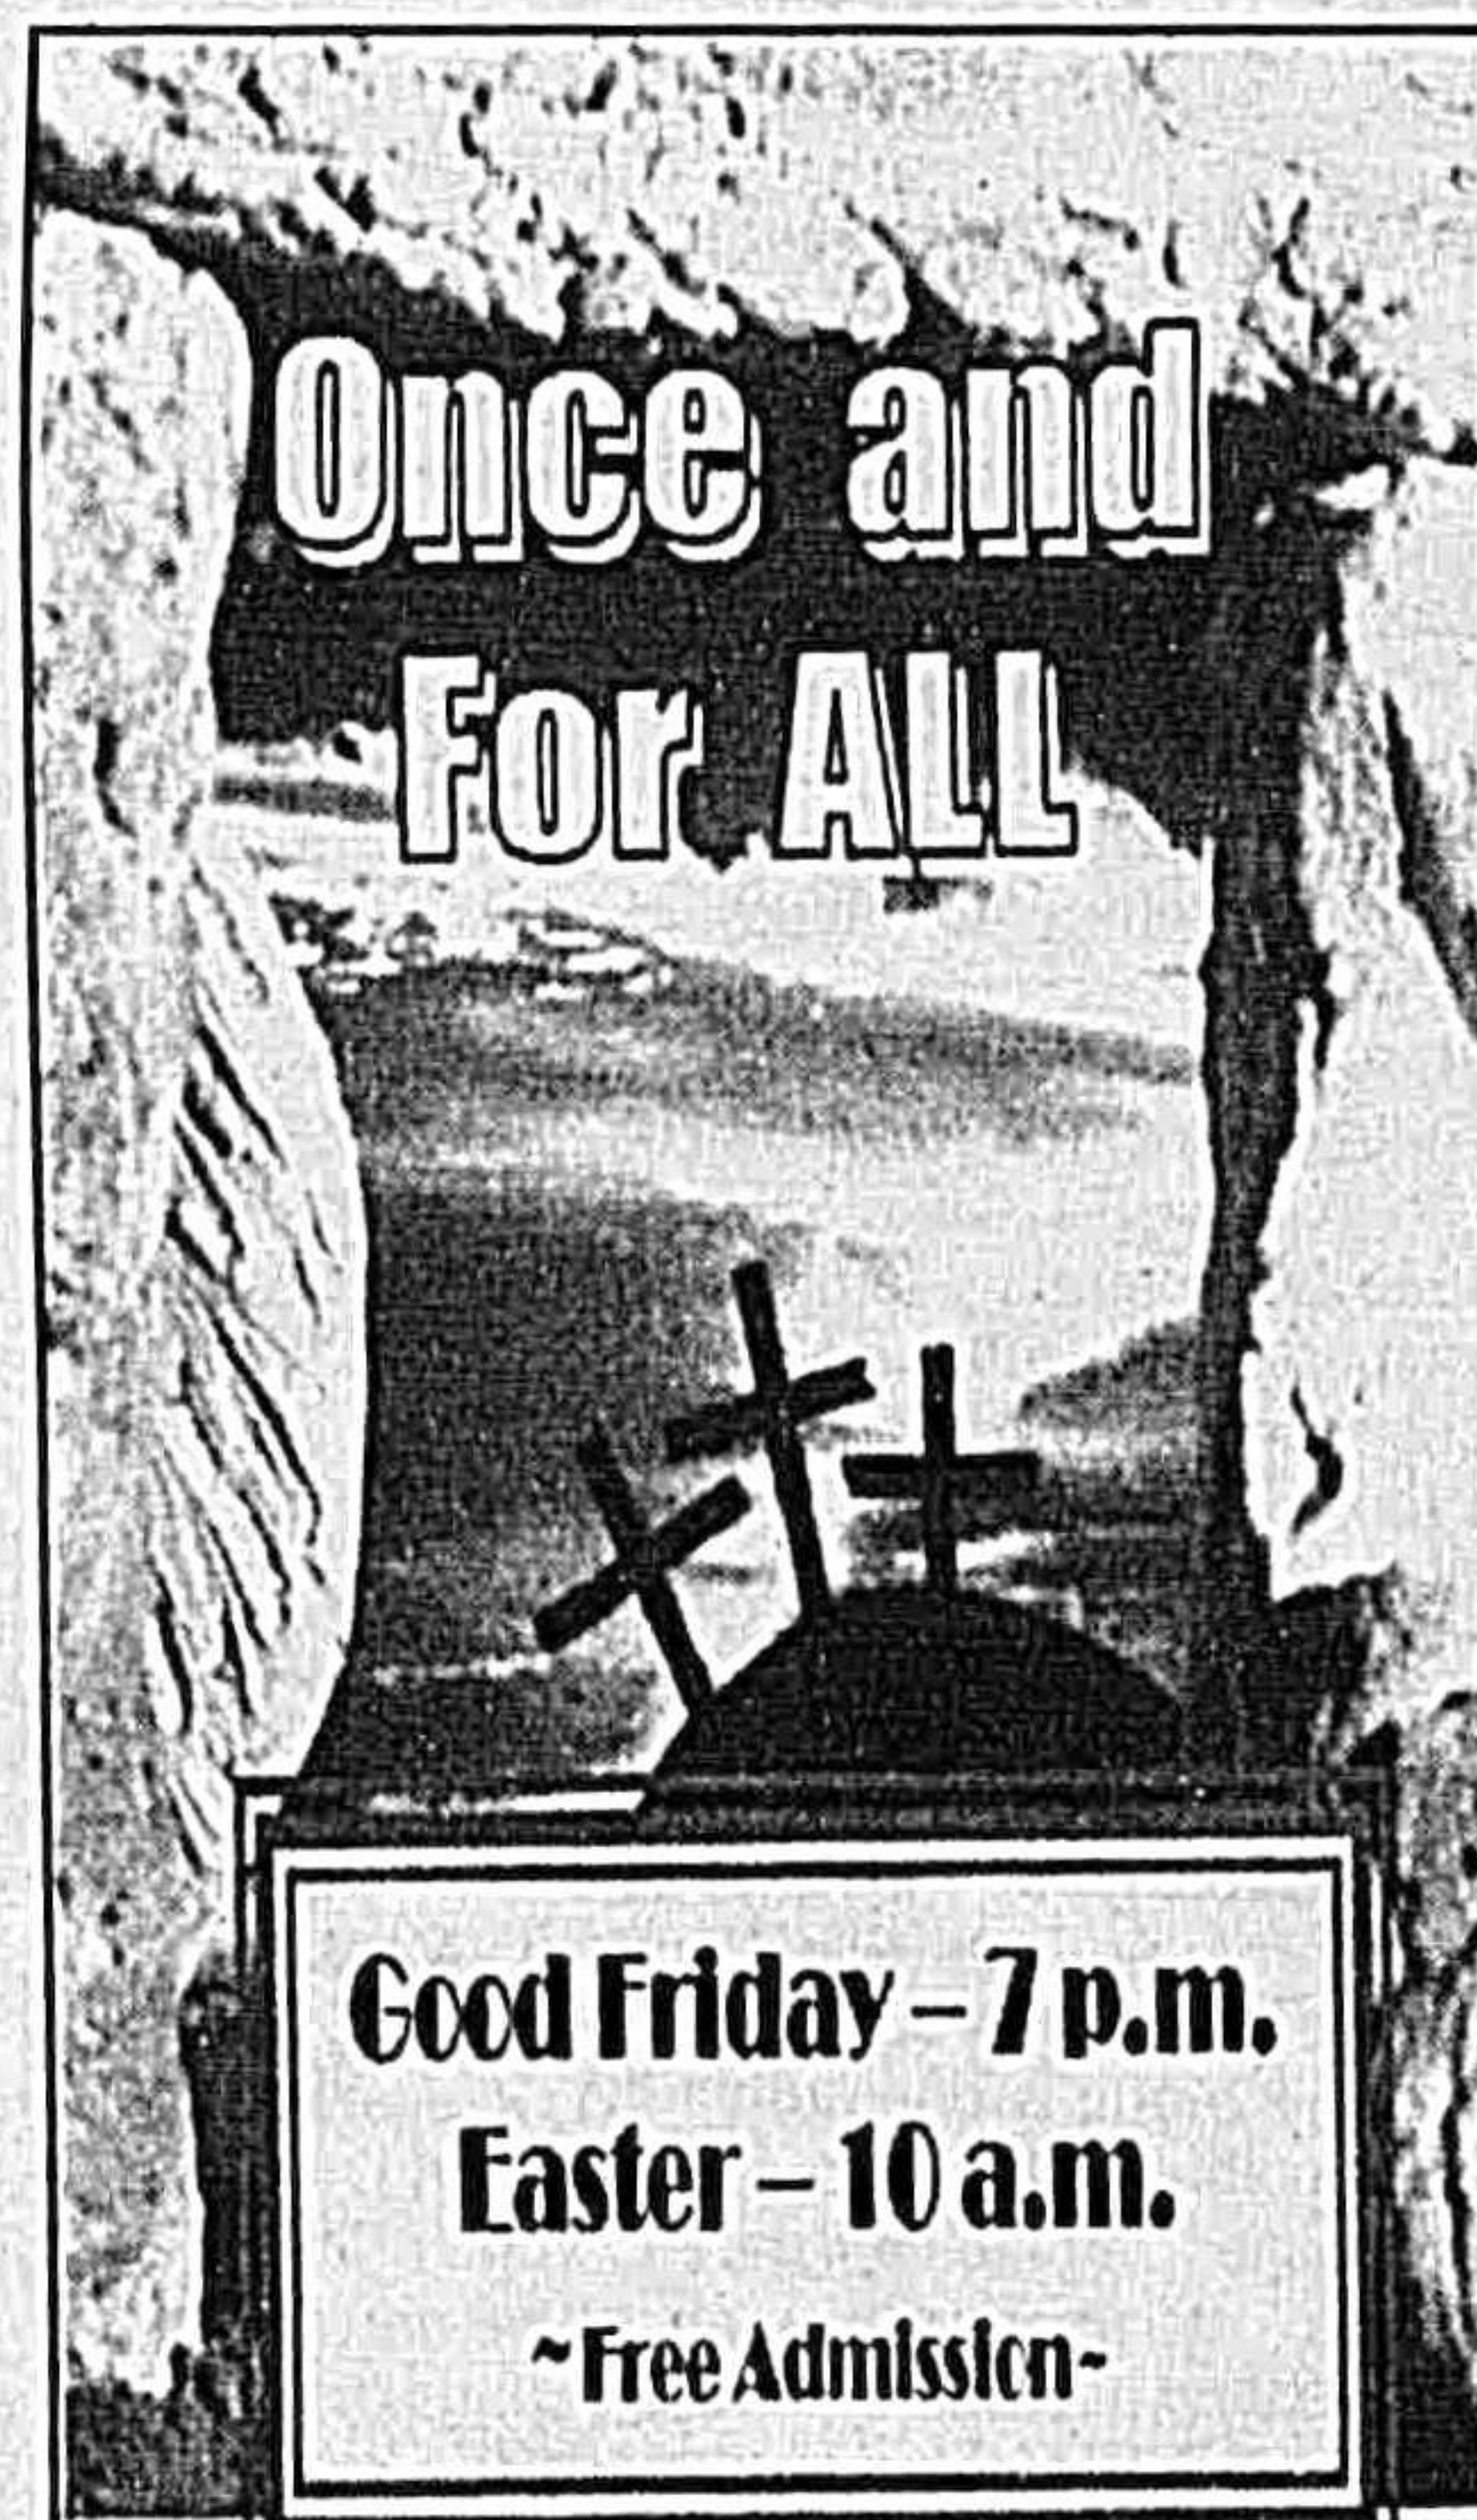

No admission is charged, but a free-will offering will be taken. Nursery and pre-school care will be provided.

Church Secretary Gwen Brussaly said the production depicts the physical and emotional experiences of Jesus Christ's death and resurrection. She said, "It begins with the painful and demeaning walk up the Via Dolorosa, and ends with the exhilarating experience of Mary Magdalene at the tomb, and Christ's resurrection."

Author Max Lucado wrote the narration. Brussaly added, "Few authors have successfully captured both the awesome spiritual impact and the down-to-earth physical realities of the last days of Jesus on this earth. Max's words don't dazzle or distract, but illuminate our understanding of God's wondrous work at Calvary.

Christian Life Fellowship is located at 41625 N. Deep Lake Road, a little north of Route 173 and across from the new Wal-Mart.

It's party time!

Each year Las Vegas rakes in hundreds of millions of dollars during March Madness, mostly from gambling. But thousands of people actually plan their vacations around the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, spending hour after hour watching the action from one of Vegas's sports books.

I'm sure you can picture them if you've never seen one before. And if you can't, just imagine hundreds of TVs surrounded by packs of rabid fans who rapidly consume alcohol and food while laying down a few bets.

Well, if that sounds like a good time to you (and it sure does to me) then Carmel's 7th annual Final Four Party on April 3 is just the thing for you.

The event was begun by Carmel Athletic Director and head football coach Andy Bitto seven years ago, mostly as a fundraiser.

"All of the coaches wanted to do fundraisers independently," Bitto said. "So we wanted to consolidate our efforts and select one big event to bring in a big crowd."

Last year, between 400-500 people attended the event, held as always in the Salvi Arena on campus, helping raise $38,000. In six years, the event has raised over $200,000 for the high school, helping build a softball field, a soccer stadium, new tennis courts, new stands for the football field and revamped weight and training rooms.

"The school has done a great job rebuilding the facilities," Bitto said.

'It's gotten its own fan loyalty over the years. People come back again and again.'

Andy Bitto,
Carmel athletic director and head football coach

This year's projects are just as lofty, as the school plans to build an eight-lane track and install Astro-Play turf on the football field, similar to the surface used at Memorial Stadium at the University of Illinois. The combined cost of both projects is estimated at between $750,000-$1 million, according to Bitto.

The Final Four Party will feature three big screen TVs (think 12x14 feet big, not 50-inch big), broadcasting both Final Four games; as well as legalized gambling and raffles featuring sports memorabilia—including an autographed football of the entire Class 6A championship Corsairs football team and an autographed Ricky Williams Miami Dolphins jersey.

The cost is $100 per couple, which includes a catered dinner and unlimited pop, beer and wine. The cost also includes a raffle ticket for the $10,000 drawing later in the evening.

Dinner will begin at 6 p.m. and the casino will remain open until midnight.

"It's gotten its own fan loyalty over the years," Bitto said. "People come back again and again. And at first it was only men, but a lot of women have started showing up as well."

So for a chance to enjoy the Vegas sports book experience, without giving thousands of dollars to airlines, billionaire business moguls and heartless multinational corporations, come out and have a blast at Carmel's Final Four Party.

T-minus 5 days and counting

As I'm writing this, we're only five days away from Opening Day. Five days. 120 hours. 7,200 minutes. 432,000 seconds. And if you think I'm not counting down every last one of those seconds, you're crazy.

Young Sequoits learning on the job

By JOHN PHELPS
Lakeland Correspondent

When you don't have as many seniors on the roster as you would like, the best way for a relatively young team to get better is to just get out there and play.

That will be the formula this season for head skipper Paul Petty and his Sequoit varsity baseball team.

Although they only have three seniors, chances look promising Petty and the troops will improve on last year's 9-21 overall mark, which included a dismal 1-9 record in the always-tough North Suburban Lake division.

"We just want to play better baseball than we did last year," an optimistic Petty, now in his 12th season at the helm, said. "We didn't lose a ton of kids, which is good. But we're still young and a little inexperienced."

Those three returning seniors are pretty good ones, though, with the likes of pitcher/1B John Snelten, outfielder Tom Callanan and pitcher Drew Dittmer. All three will be looked upon to provide leadership as well as pop in their bats on offense.

As a junior, Snelten saw plenty of varsity starts on the mound. He was one of the tops in the area with his sub-3.00 earned run average.

"John will be our No. 1 starter, no doubt," Petty said. "Then after that, we have 3-4 guys who should fill out the rest of the rotation nicely."

Dittmer, juniors Kevin Propeck and Jeff Weber, and sophomore Brian Vos are among those who will also vie for spots in the starting rotation.

Junior catcher Nate Hughes is another valuable piece of the puzzle, with his bat and defensive prowess behind the plate. Hughes and junior Mike Fuchs bring some experience to the team, having played varsity ball as sophomores.

And speaking of sophomores, Petty is also high on all-around athlete Chandler Kent, who was the starting point-guard on the varsity basketball team this winter.

"He's young but he's quick, has a good mind for the game, and is one of our best overall players," the coach said.

Kent plays a mean shortstop, while Fuchs will also help anchor a solid infield from his second base position.

Callanan will patrol the outfield, while other guys you could see joining him include junior Joe Romani and sophomore Bobby Ryan.

Despite the unpredictable weather and postponements that usually accompany this time of year, the Sequoits have gotten in five games. They currently stand at 2-3 overall with a hopeful game at home against Milwaukee Hamilton April 2 beginning at 11 a.m.

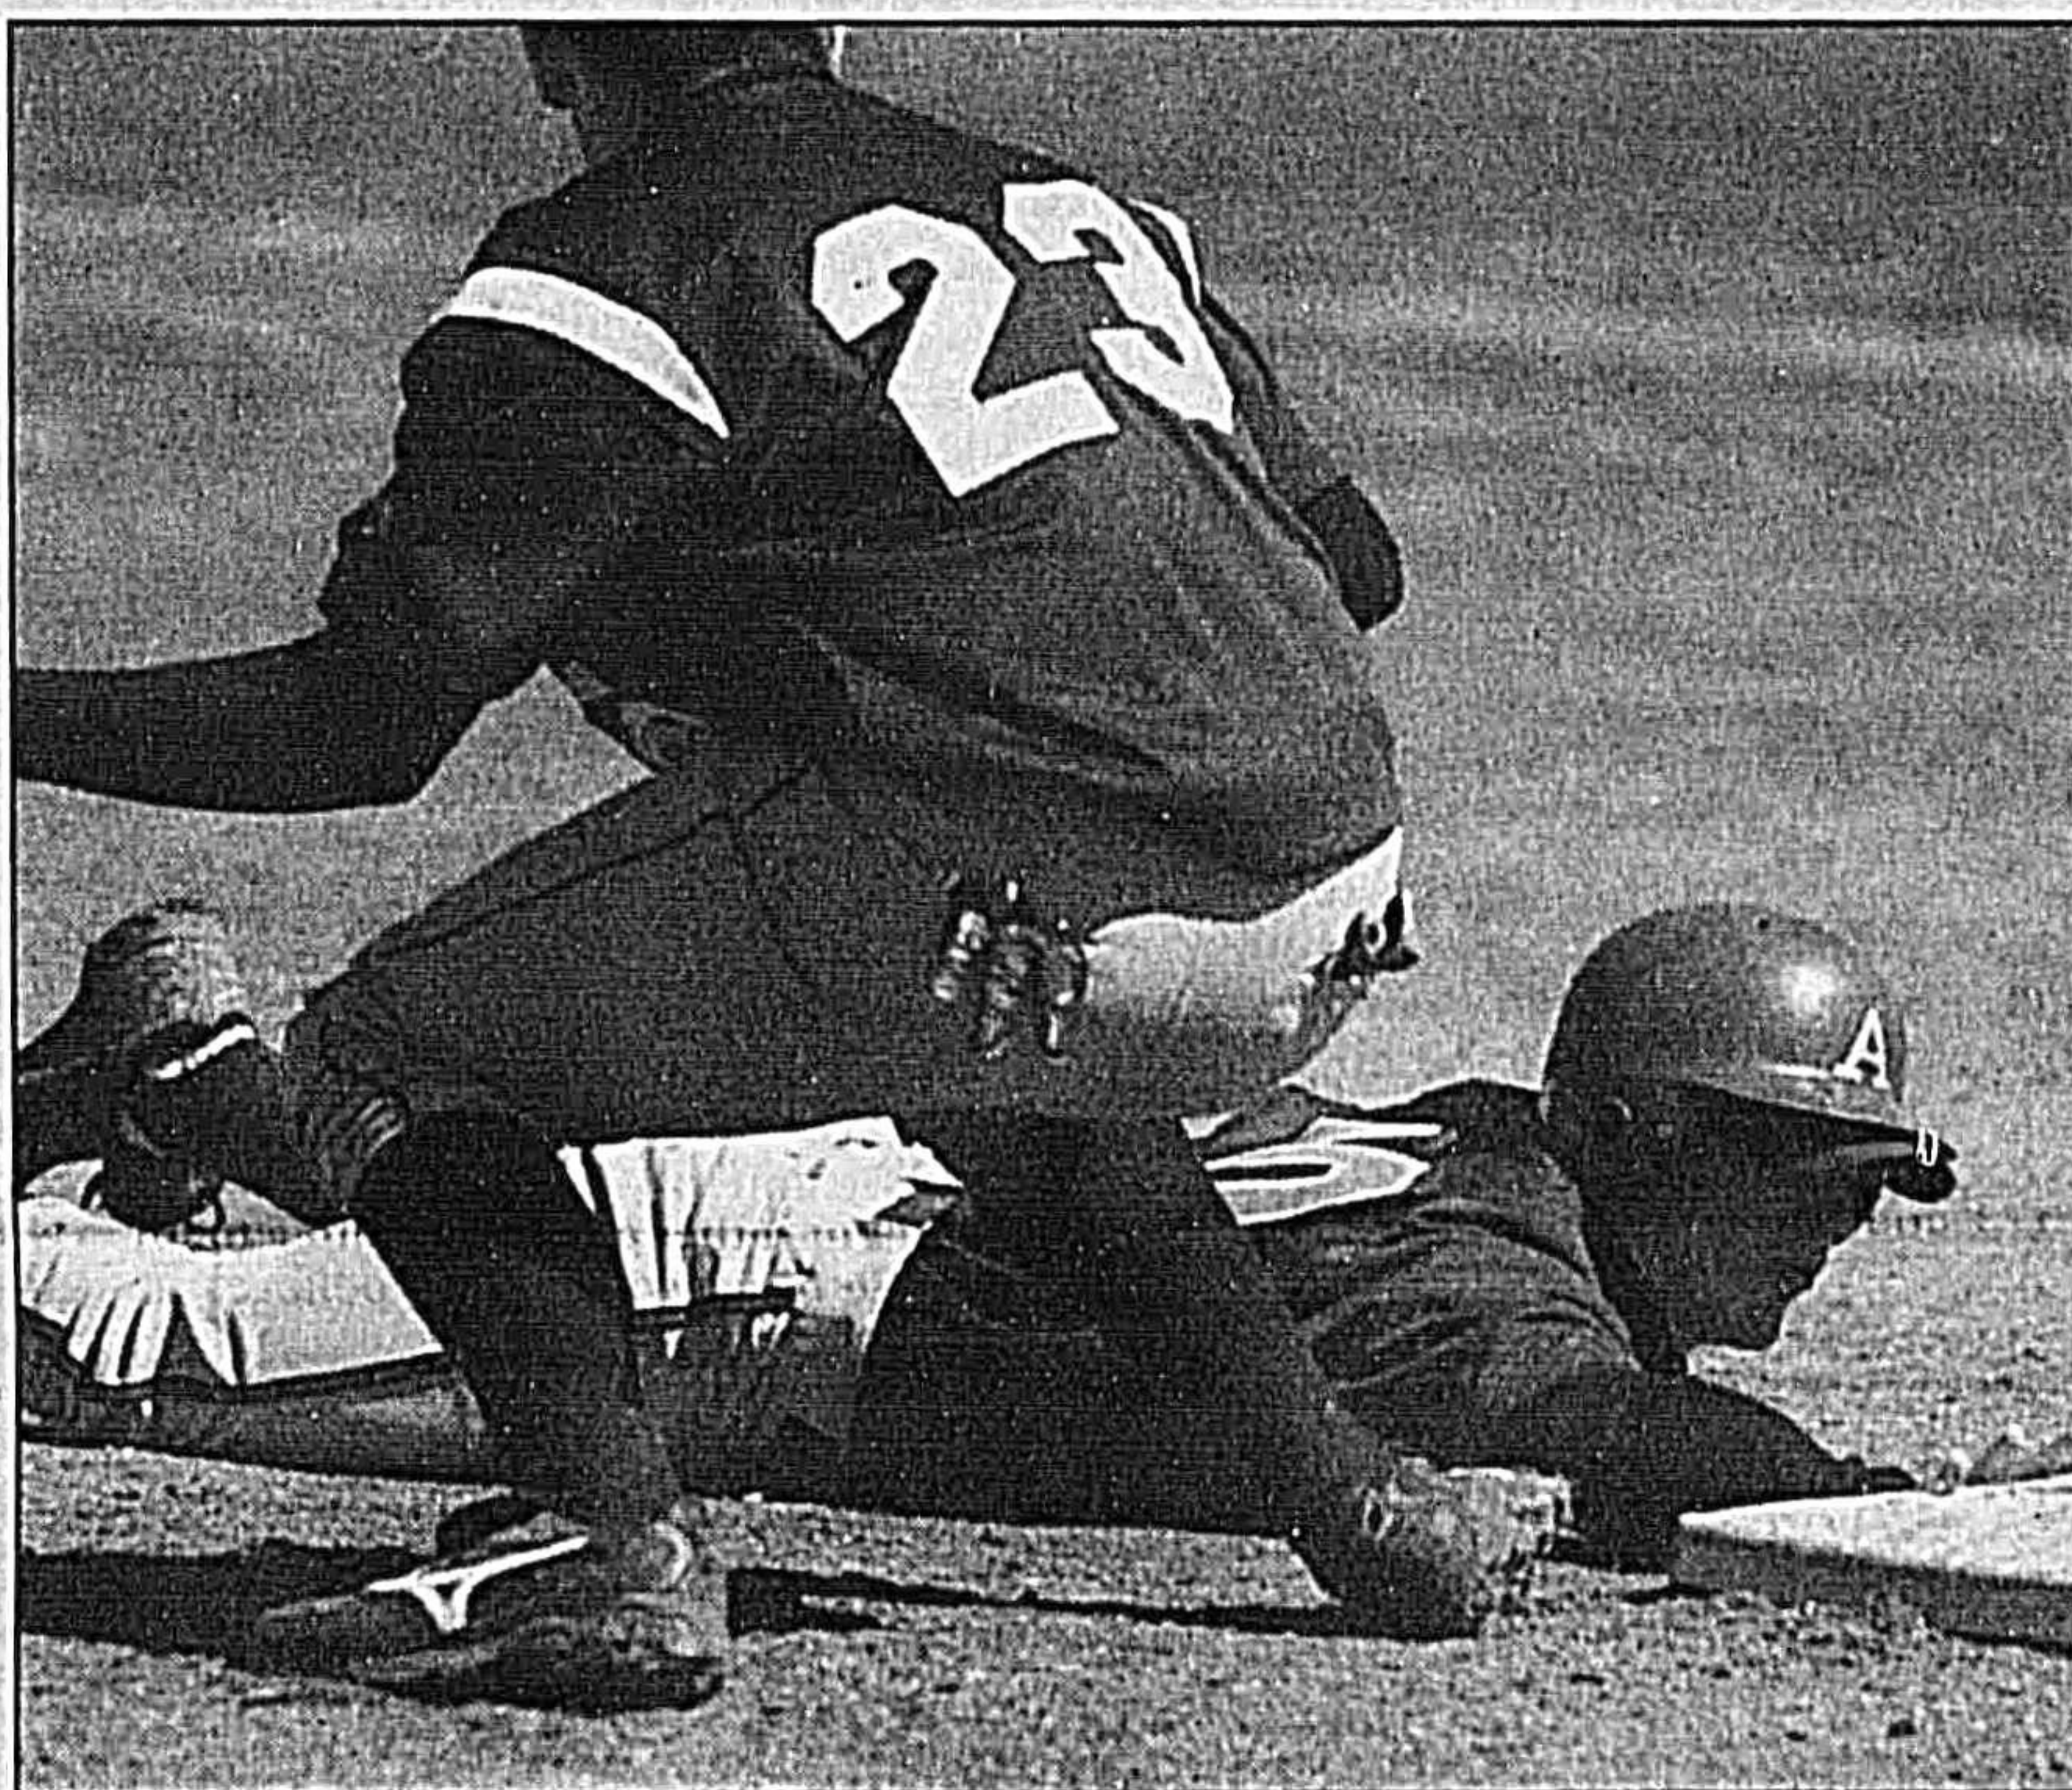

In their latest contest, Antioch dropped a pair of games at area power Carmel. They fell in the opener 10-1 before losing 7-5 in the nightcap.

Weber struggled a little on the mound in Game 1, allowing five earned runs. Callanan's squeeze bunt plated Ryan, who reached on a walk, for the lone Sequoit run.

The offense showed signs of life in Game 2 as Callanan ripped four hits and Hughes two. Snelten cracked a two-run double in the fourth frame, scoring Calanan and Hughes. That cut a Corsair deficit to 4-2.

Carmel added a 3-spot in the bottom of the fifth to put the game out of reach at 7-2, but not before Antioch scored twice in the ensuing inning. Weber's double and Romani's two-run double were the key hits.

"We had times where we didn't play too smart," Petty said. "And that's the main theme this year, with such a young group: play smarter and play better."

Grayslake splits doubleheader with Vernon Hills

By ROB BACKUS
rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

Coming off a hard-fought 5-2 win over Mundelein on Saturday, Grayslake came into a Monday doubleheader with Vernon Hills looking for more of the same.

And things looked to be going their way, at least in the first game.

After Bobby Truckenbrod opened up the bottom of the first with a strikeout, Rick Krajewski, Kevin Biederer and Brian Englehardt all reached base, giving the Rams bases loaded with just one out.

Doug Hanson then struck out, but Carmel transfer Dave Kleber stepped up a ripped a bases-clearing double to right center to give the Rams a 3-0 lead.

"He (the pitcher) threw me a fastball, and I told myself I was going to drive it and I did," Kleber said. "That was the best contact I've made so far this year."

Grayslake coach Troy Whelan knows how key Kleber's hit was.

"If Dave doesn't get that hit, it's a whole different ball game," Whelan said. "Any time you get your pitcher and early lead, it takes the pressure off."

Grayslake pitcher Adam Butler then proceeded to put the pressure right back on him by walking the first two batters of the second inning. After a sacrifice bunt, Vernon Hills had runners on first and second with just one out.

Butler was able to pitch out of the jam, though, by striking out the next two hitters.

The Rams added another run in the second inning thanks to an RBI single from Krajewski to go up 4-0.

Butler faced a similar situation in the third inning after the Cougars scored their first run on an RBI triple, and had a chance to cut further into the lead before Butler buckled down and retired the next two batters to escape the inning.

"Nothing's ever easy for Adam," Whelan said. "But he gave us five solid innings."

Butler finished with nine strikeouts, five walks and four hits in five innings. Matt Konczal pitched the final two innings of relief for the Rams.

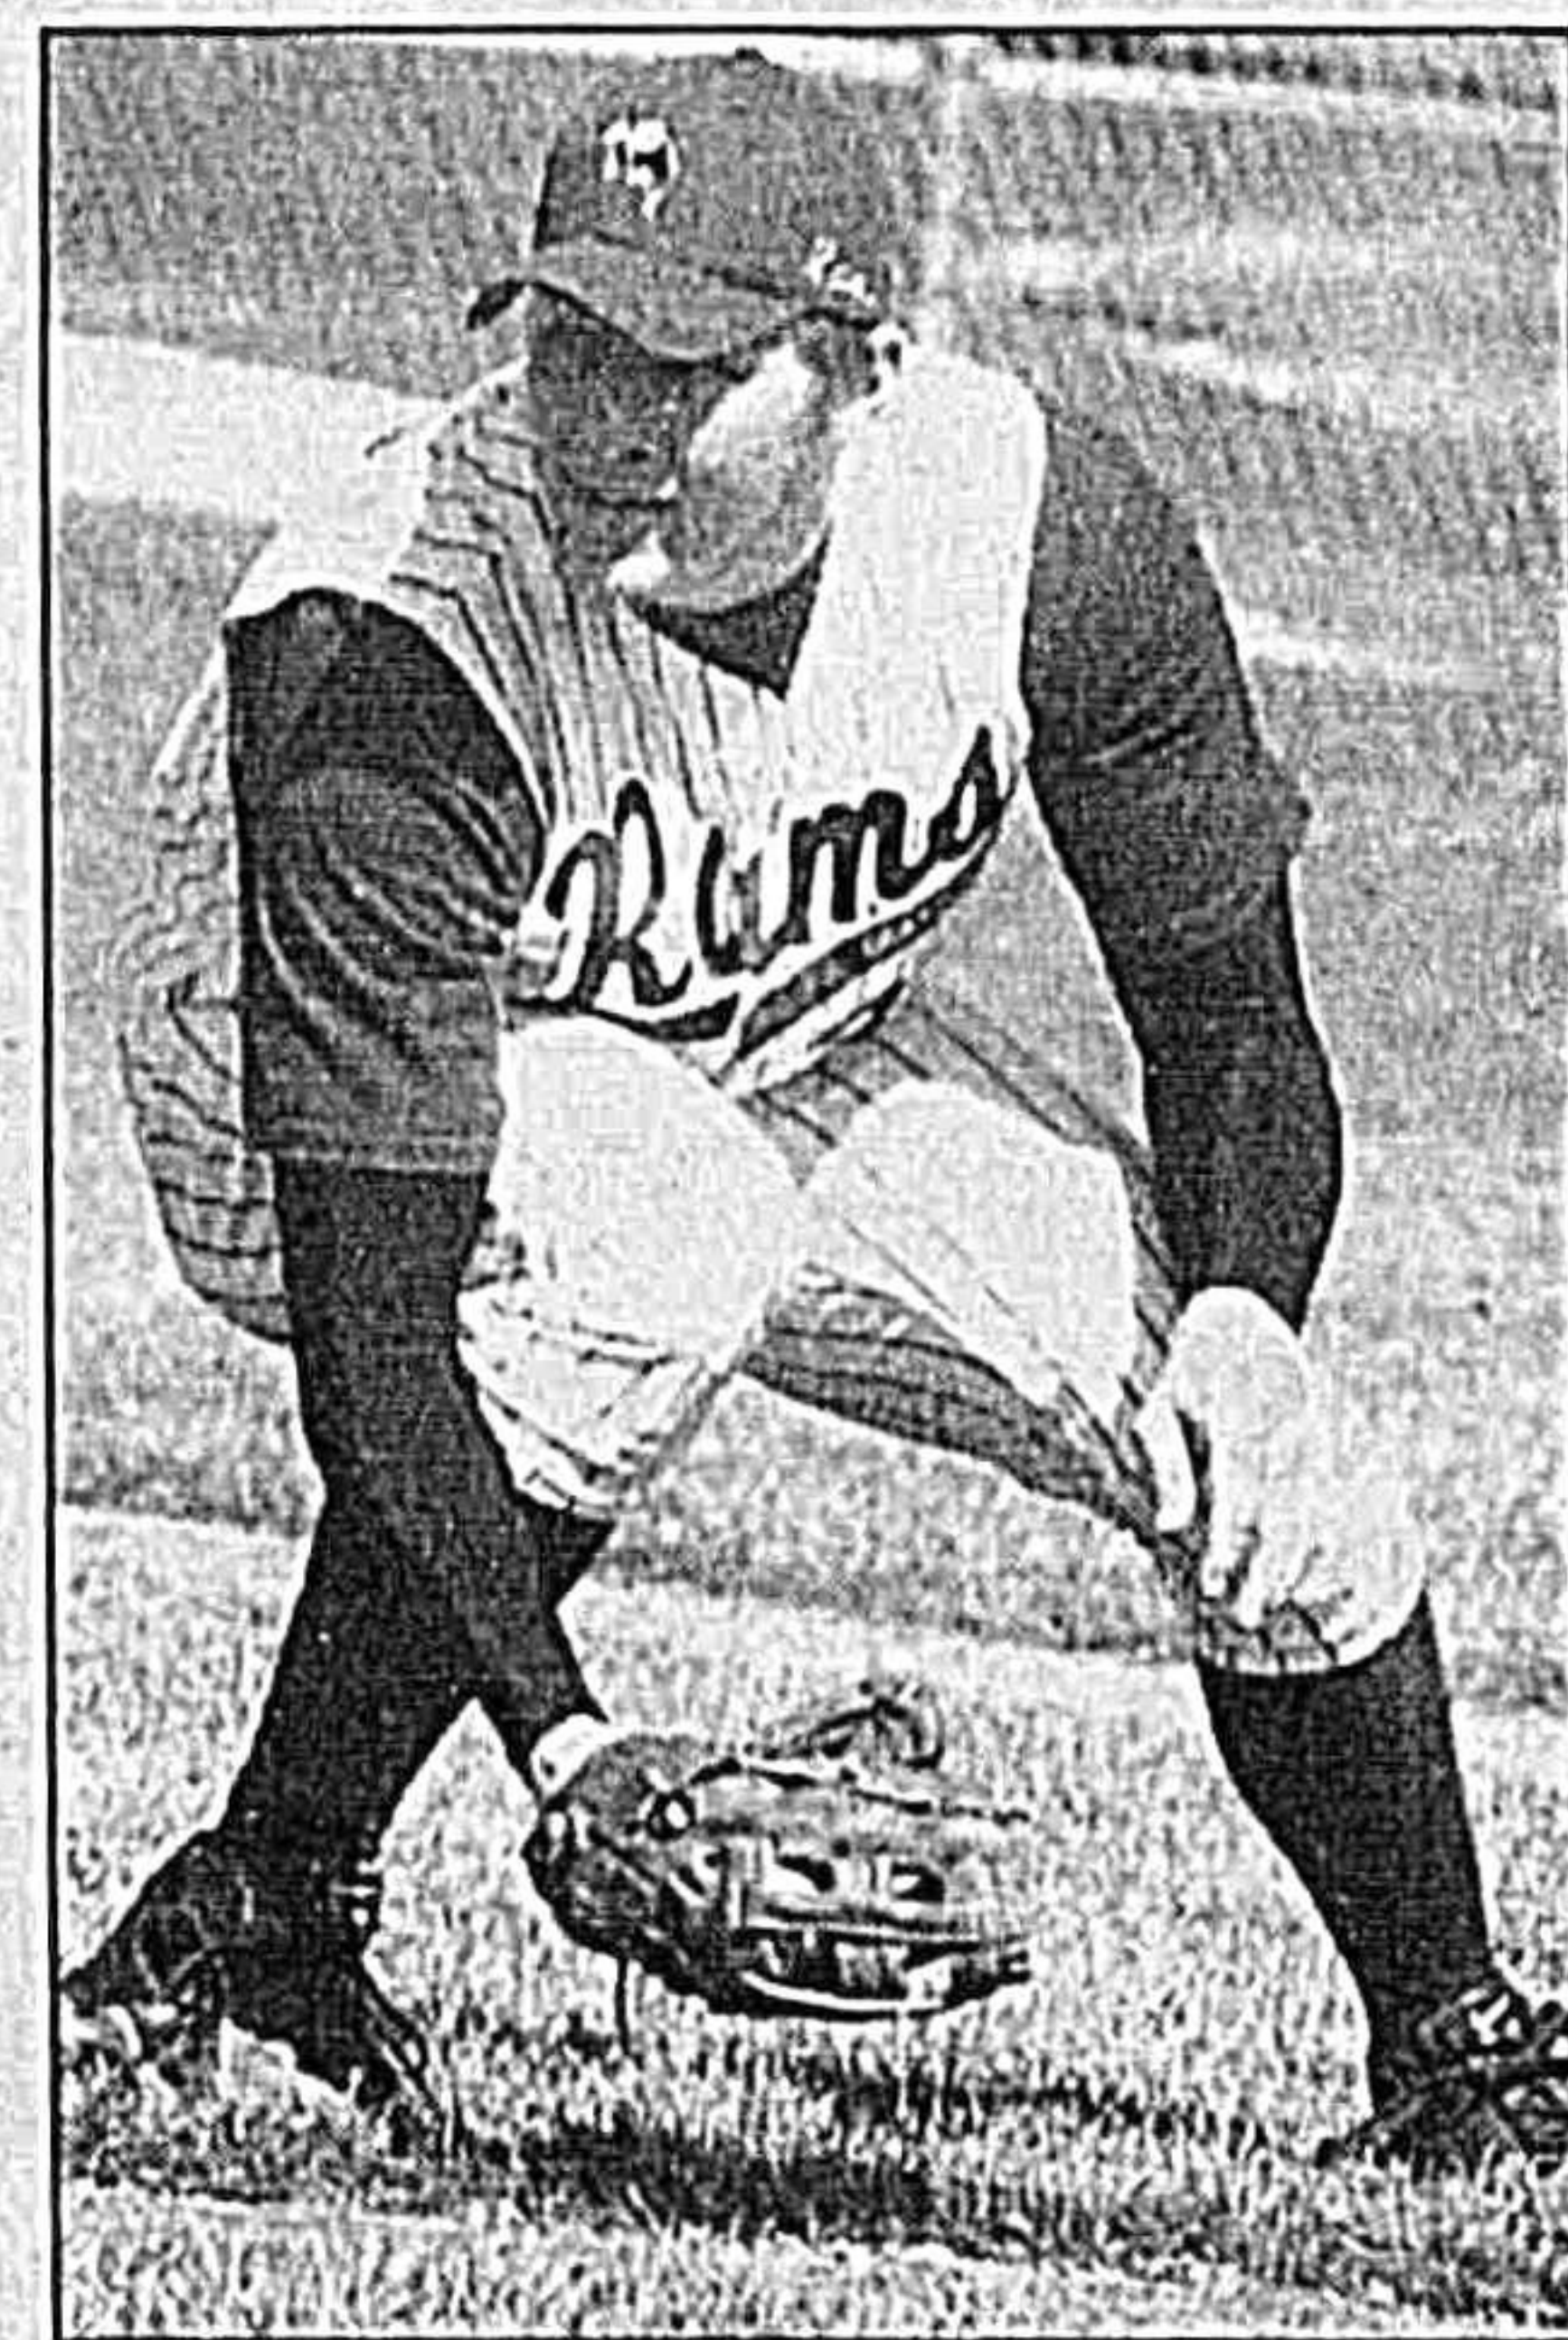

"Adam was making guys look silly out there," said Kleber, who caught Butler in the game. "He just pitched a great game."

The Rams' bats fizzled in the next game, however, as did their pitching and defense as they lost game two to the Cougars 8-1.

Micah Yarbrough took the loss, despite allowing just three earned runs, but he was done in by four Grayslake errors, which led to five unearned runs.

"It was a tale of two games," Whelan said. "We didn't show up the second game and Vernon Hills took it to us. We're not a good enough team to win by just showing up."

The Rams now sit at 2-1 on the season and will have a doubleheader at Wheeling on April 3 at 11 a.m.

Information, costs and registration forms can be found at www.gagewood-baseball.com. Mail completed registration forms to: Gagewood Lions Baseball, 17740 Dartmoor Drive, Grayslake, IL 60030.

Youth basketball tournaments

North American Youth Sports will hold a spring tournament at Carthage College in Kenosha on April 23-25.

The tournament will feature 10 different brackets: 5-6th grade boys, 5-6th grade girls, 7th grade boys, 7th grade girls, 8th grade boys, 8th grade girls, 9-10th grade boys, 9-10th grade girls, 11-12th grade boys and 11-12th grade girls. All grades are based on the grade in which a student is currently enrolled.

The entry fee is $110, and guarantees each team a minimum of two games.

The entry deadline is April 2. For more information or for an entry form, call the NAYS toll-free hotline or tournament director Bosco Bjurichovic at 262-945-8513.

The American Youth Basketball Tour (AYBT) is now accepting team registrations for any boys or girls basketball teams that would like to compete in upcoming spring and summer basketball tournaments.

AYBT is a developmental, youth-based basketball organization that specializes in hosting quality youth basketball tournaments at a cost-efficient price to teams all over the Midwest.

For more information on AYBT, visit www.aybtour.com or call Northern Illinois district director Brian Evans at 847-223-8031, or e-mail him at BLB2003@XSITE.NET.

7 people injured in crash

Libertyville—An Antioch ambulance taking a woman to Condell Medical Center was involved in a traffic accident with a minivan Tuesday. A Libertyville Fire Department ambulance took the Antioch woman in the original ambulance to Condell, as well as some of the six other people involved in the accident. The driver of the van was ticketed for failure to reduce speed and failure to yield the right of way.

Village employee charged with abuse

Round Lake—A Round Lake Beach resident and Gurnee Public Works employee was charged with sexually abusing a minor relative. Police said Michael A. Sanez abused the relative beginning when the boy was 14 and continuing until he was 17. Police are continuing to investigate the matter because Sanez was an assistant scoutmaster for Boy Scout Troop 88 in Fox Lake.

Lake annexation challenged

Wauconda—Officials will meet to decide whether or not to oppose the proposed Lake County annexation of Wauconda. The proposed annexation would allow the county to help pay for a service area residents don't want. On April 8 the district will appear to the circuit court to annex 7,000 acres of land between Wauconda and Island Lake, sought to continue to provide flood relief to property owners.

Another village employee quits

Gurnee—The village administrator of Gurnee, a village employee leaving Gurnee. Assistant Village Administrator Brad Hake announced he was leaving as the assistant village administrator to Libertyville. Some are comparing Hake's departure to Village Finance Director Pat Westhoven's recent decision to leave Gurnee for a similar job in Libertyville.

Give peace a chance

Peace initiative pushed by ex-Congressional candidate

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

A petition drive to get a "Peace Referendum" on the November ballot is being headed up by Bill Scheurer.

Scheurer, who ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. House of Representatives in District 8 against Melissa Bean, said his referendum is completely non-partisan.

"This is a way for us and our neighbors to tell our candidates for Congress, in a non-partisan way, that peace is an important electoral issue for us. This referendum separates the issue of peace from competition between candidates and party politics. This referendum is about each voter going into the booth and making a heartfelt choice about whether we should invest in peace."

The referendum question will read: "Should our representatives in Congress support the establishment of a permanent federal agency or department of peace, to strengthen our national security by promoting peaceful alternatives to war, with a budget equal to 1 percent of all other spending on military and defense?"

Scheurer said he wanted to make sure that everyone realizes that he is not a strict pacifist, and that two of his four children have served in the military.

In fact one his children is on active duty and preparing to deploy to Kosovo.

"In this new world, we will never be safe through military means alone,"

Scheurer:
Peace question is non-partisan

Scheurer said. "Peace is a key part of our national security. We must build peaceful relations with others."

Scheurer added that he is hoping to keep peace as an issue in the election cycle.

"People recognize the importance of peace and by having a referendum we are separating it from politics," Scheurer said.

Scheurer, 53, is a former lawyer and business owner who now describes himself as a writer and an activist.

For more information on the peace referendum visit vote@peacereferendum.org.

Brae Loch exclusive contract hurts county, objectors claim

By CAREL SCHMIDLKOEFER
carels@lakelandmedia.com

Caterers angered over the Lake County Forest Preserve's proposal for an exclusive catering contract at Grayslake's Brae Loch Golf Club demanded officials to reconsider the option.

At issue is an exclusive contract between the district and Catering by Michael's, Inc., a Chicago-based food service enterprise, for the small banquet room at the facility.

Competing caterers feel the proposal negates a fair competitive atmosphere, drives dollars away from Lake County and limits choices of residents to choose a caterer based on a variety of price points.

With Thunderhawk and Independence Grove already working with exclusive catering contracts, Roseanne Johansson, of Sault & Pepper & Co. of Highland Park, asked if the board was setting a precedent that would limit taxpayers ability to choose catering service.

"Shouldn't the taxpayer have available to them a facility to which they can bring their caterer of choice," Johansson said.

Johansson criticized officials' criteria for such a contract, which was to "eliminate fin-

Talbett: Having multiple services will be marketing nightmare ger-pointing" and having multiple caterers working within Brae Loch's kitchen.

"Most catering companies prepare their food off-site, and finish the process at the location," she said.

When needed, rental companies supplement needed equipment for the job.

Sault & Pepper & Co. has been forced to turn revenue away from the forest preserve's facilities, Johansson said, because of the exclusive catering contracts at the two facilities.

Potential clients look for a variety of pricing plans when seeking a caterer at a facility, said Edward Bauer of Bauer's Party Masters Catering in Libertyville.

"With certain caterers, you're going to have a very restricted budget for the people that are paying the taxes for building this place," Bauer said.

The contract would exclude people who would want to use the golf club and its banquet facilities, he said.

Tourism cuts hit home

Lake County could lose over 1,000 jobs and $79 million in tourism expenditures if Gov. Blagojevich's proposed tourism cuts are implemented in next fiscal year's budget, the Lake County Convention and Visitors Bureau contends.

The visitor's bureau uses the state money to help market Lake County as a tourist destination and encourage overnight stays at area hotels. The tourism industry in Lake County is still rebounding from the effects of the sluggish economy and an overall decline in business travel.

In 2003, Lake County hotel occupancies dropped to 58.6 percent from an already low 60.5 percent in 2002. Average rates

'Nationally, teenagers are volunteering about 2.4 billion hours annually and their service is worth about $34.3 billion to the U.S. economy'

United Way of Lake County

United Way creates alternatives for youths

Youth who volunteer just one hour a week are 50 percent less likely to abuse drugs, alcohol, cigarettes, or engage in destructive behavior. Unfortunately, in Lake County, the number of meaningful volunteer opportunities for youth are limited according to research initiated by United Way of Lake County.

To help increase the number of volunteer opportunities for our young residents, United Way of Lake County is sponsoring a free workshop, "Working with Youth Volunteers" with guest facilitator Rick Lynch, an internationally known trainer and author of Volunteer Management: Mobilizing All the Resources of the Community. The workshop is open to all local non-profits, schools and youth-based groups interested in better utilizing the energies and fresh insights of Lake County's youth volunteers.

"United Way of Lake County wants to make sure we can help our local youth find meaningful ways to spend their free time and launch them into a lifetime of volunteering and philanthropy," said Kristi Long, president and CEO of United Way of Lake County.

The workshop, scheduled for April 16 at the United Way of Lake County office, will teach non-profits and other local organizations how to share best practices, plan for youth involvement, craft recruitment messages, supervise and motivate, develop youth volunteer job descriptions and deal with youth-adult conflict.

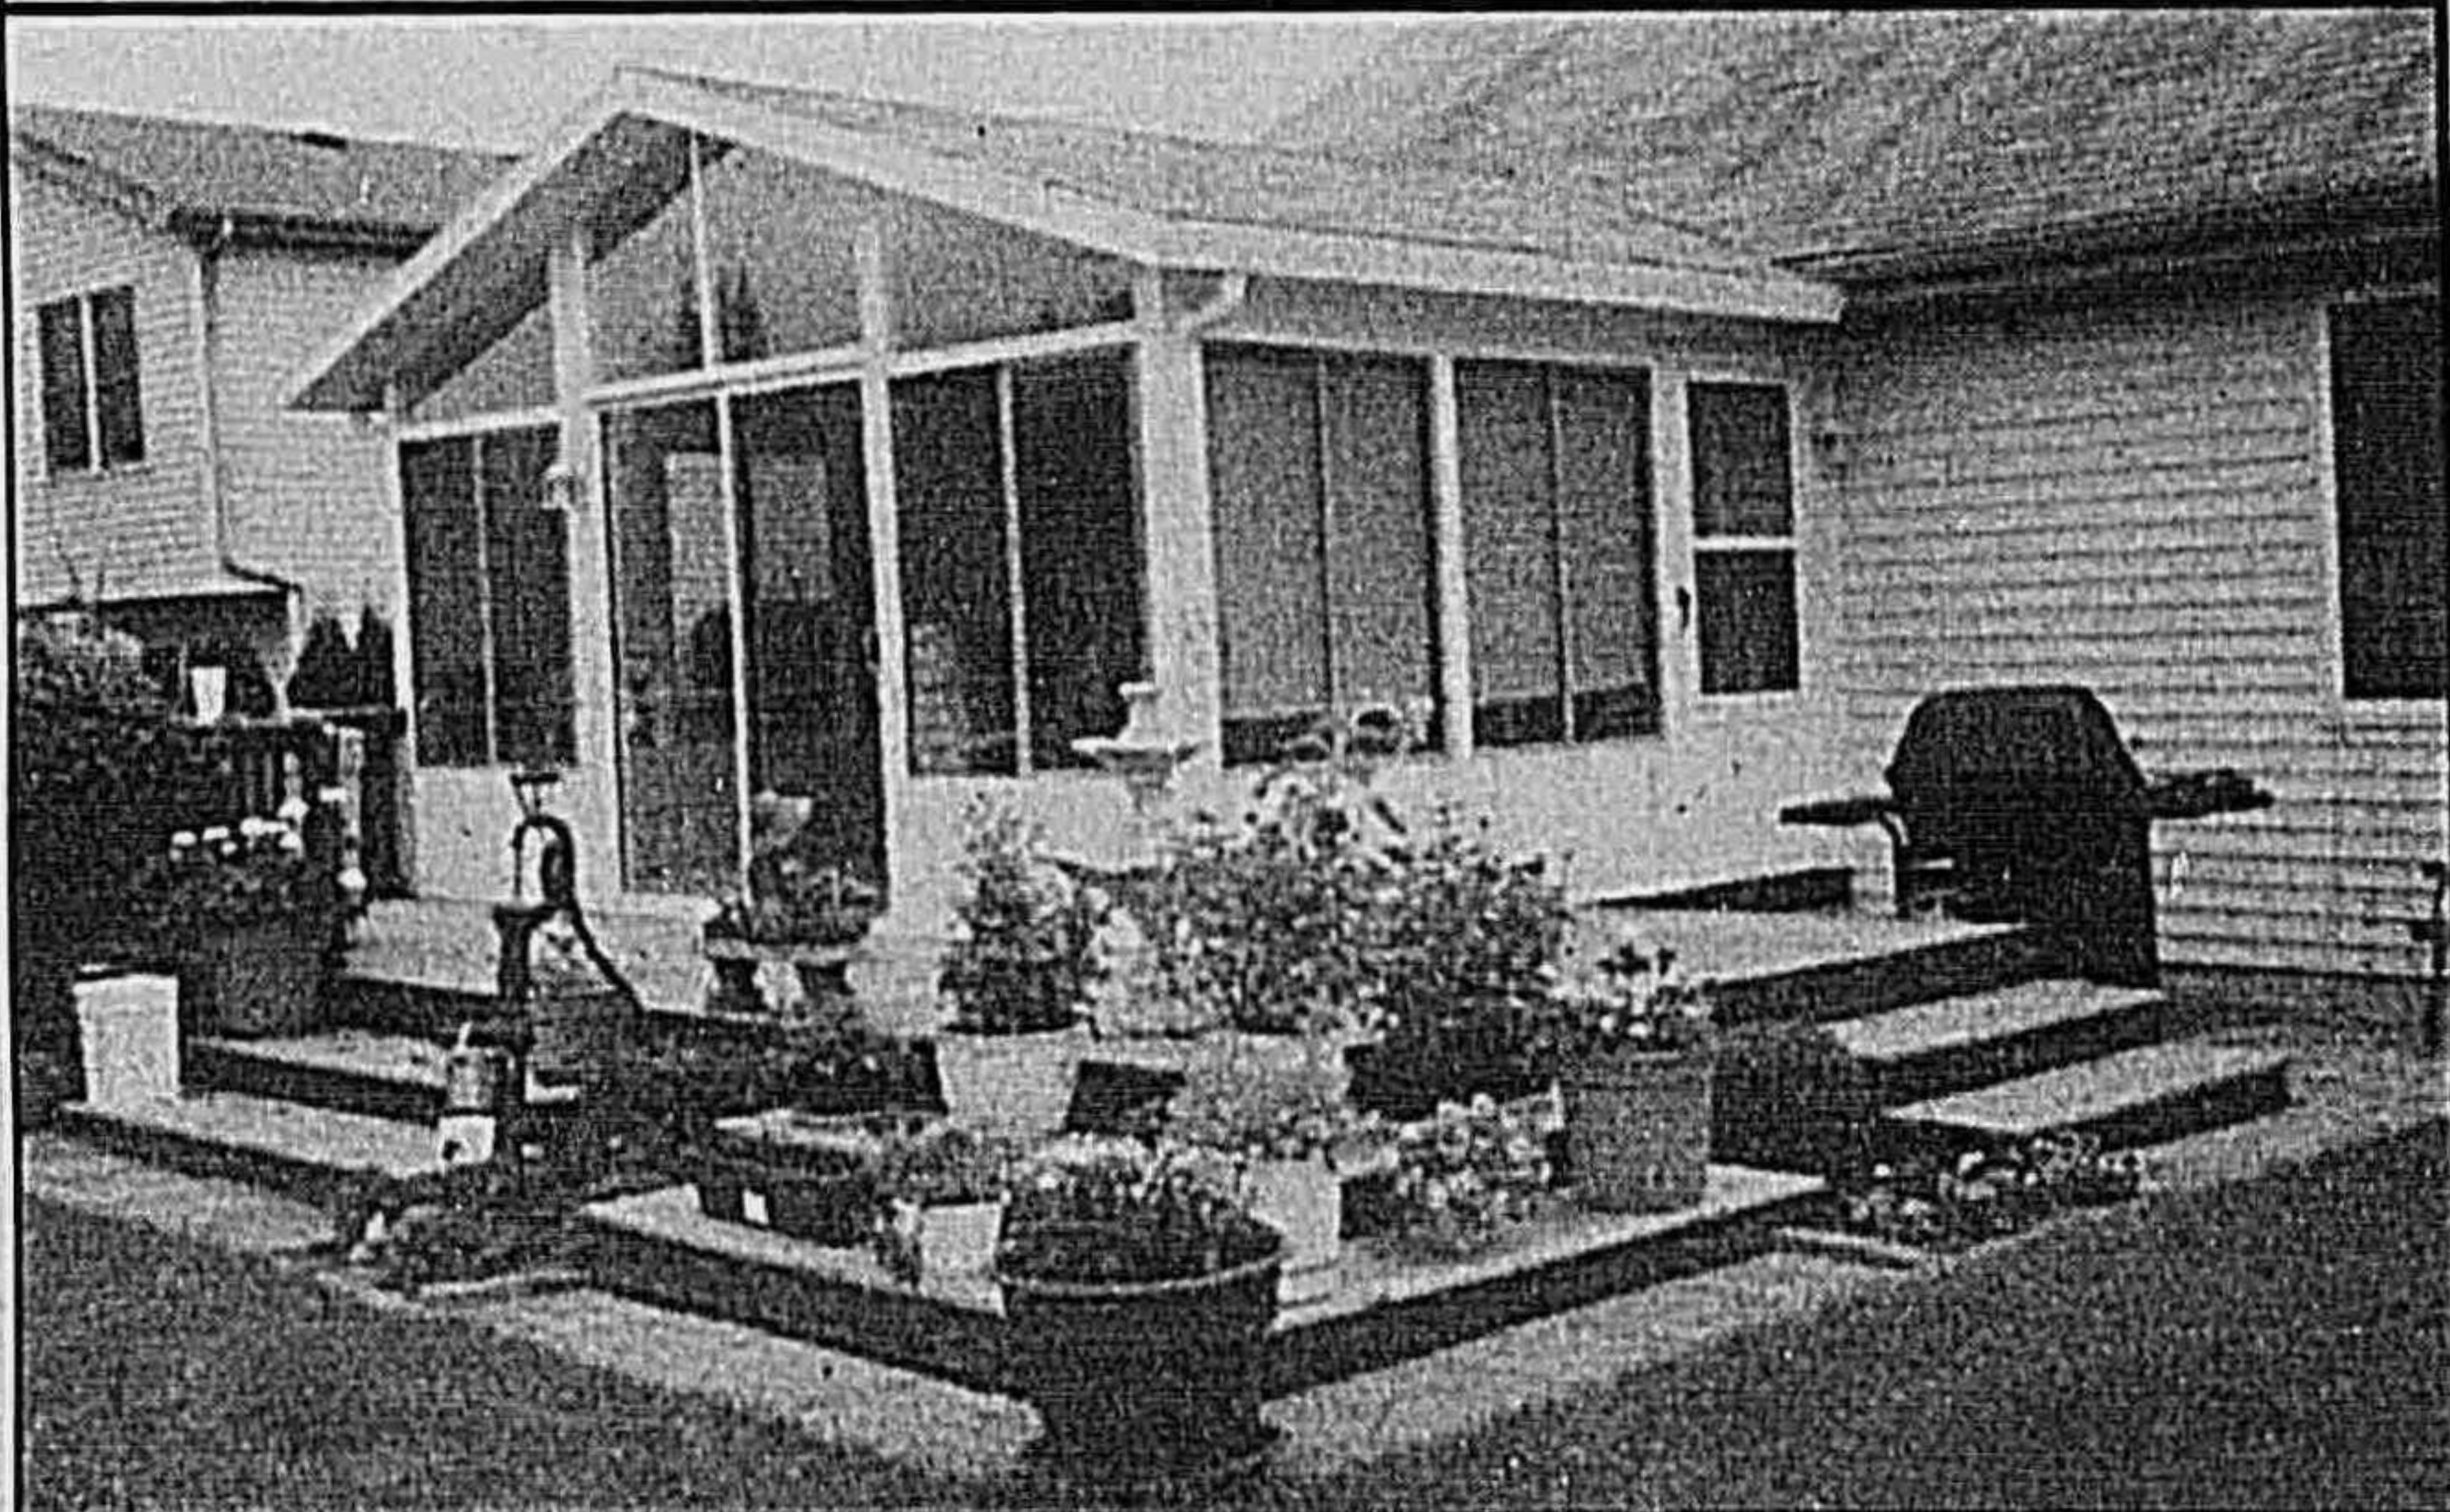

"Nationally, teenagers are volunteering about 2.4 billion hours annually and their service is worth about $34.3 billion to the US economy," said Lynn Tracy, coordinator of the workshop and community resource specialist for United Way of Lake County. "Many of our local non-profits simply do not have, or have limited, volunteer opportunities for our youth."

Pre-registration is required by April 9. A copy of the registration form can be found on United Way of Lake County's Web site, www.uwlakeco.org, or by calling 847-775-1000. Space is limited.

The programs and services supported by the generous donors who give to United Way of Lake County help local families, children, teens, adults, and the elderly thrive.

Rice replaces Moon as Shimer head

The Board of Trustees of Shimer College has selected William Craig Rice, the director of education and assessment at the American Academy for Liberal Education in Washington, D.C., to be its 12th president.

Rice will succeed Don P. Moon, who will step down on May 1, after 26 years at the helm to return to teaching and serve as director of Shimer's Hutchins Institute. Rice will be formally installed as president at Fall Convocation on Oct. 16.

Roy Landstrom, Chairman of the Shimer Board of Trustees, called Rice "an outstanding leader in the field of education, who is fully committed to the values of the liberal arts, especially as they are found in the Great Books based program taught at Shimer College."

"The entire Shimer community enthusiastically welcomes Bill as our next president, and we look forward to his leadership and vision in directing Shimer's continuing contributions to Higher Education today and into the future," Landstrom said.

When Moon was appointed president of Shimer in 1978, the College was on the verge of closing. Enrollment was low and rapidly dwindling, and the College was headed towards bankruptcy. More than any one else, Dr. Moon is responsible for the resurgence of Shimer College and its relocation in Waukegan, IL. Today, the College is on stable footing, and is considered one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country. Shimer College regularly receives recognition for its outstanding curriculum and the success of its graduates. President Don Moon's guidance has been instrumental in spearheading the College's ascent to national recognition at a time when the standards of a college education have come under fire on all sides.

Rice

Look to precincts for measurement of party strength

Democrats in Lake County have something to crow about these days, including the fact that they out polled Republicans in the 2004 primary 47,193 to 46,217. The edge rightfully is being regarded as a "first." In historic GOP territory, Democrats have "blipped" before. FDR's strong showing in 1932 and the backlash against Nixon were regarded as banner Democratic years.

The GOP is not trending well in Lake County or the state. Thank the George Ryan scandals for that. County Democratic strategists look as significant factors that in the 10th Congressional Dist. along the North Shore in Moraine (Highland Park), Shields, Vernon, Waukegan and West Deerfield township and a big slice of Libertyville Township, 25,000 Democratic votes were cast compared to 14,740 Republican. That's "Heartland" for Lake County Democrats. Lee Goodman, the Democrat challenging incumbent Congressman Mark Kirk also received about 3,000 more votes in Lake County than Kirk.

Democrats were invigorated by a spirited race for the U.S. Senate nomination, their biggest field of aspirants for state office in modern times plus all the media hub bub over the Presidential nomination.

Democratic sunshine is tempered by the fact that in local races—legislative and County Board nominations—the party fielded only one contest, that for coroner. If political vitality is measured by competition in the primary, then there is a hollow ring to the Democratic surge in Lake County. With a less than 30 percent voter turnout, the Republicans know a lot of their voters stayed home.

There's another measurement of party strength that often goes overlooked. Coverage of committeemen in the precincts. There is parity along the Lake Michigan shore in Lake County, but when other townships are considered—Antioch, Avon (Round Lake area, Grayslake), Benton, Cuba (Barrington), Ela, (Lake Zurich), Grant (Fox Lake, Ingleside), Lake Villa, Warren (Gurnee, Grandwood Park), Wauconda, Zion—the Democratic party at the grassroots level is practically non-existent.

The 2004 primary edge for Lake County Democrats may be as good as it gets.

CLC scholarships overcome budget with private gifts

It's always good news when an educational institution turns to sources other than the government when funds get short.

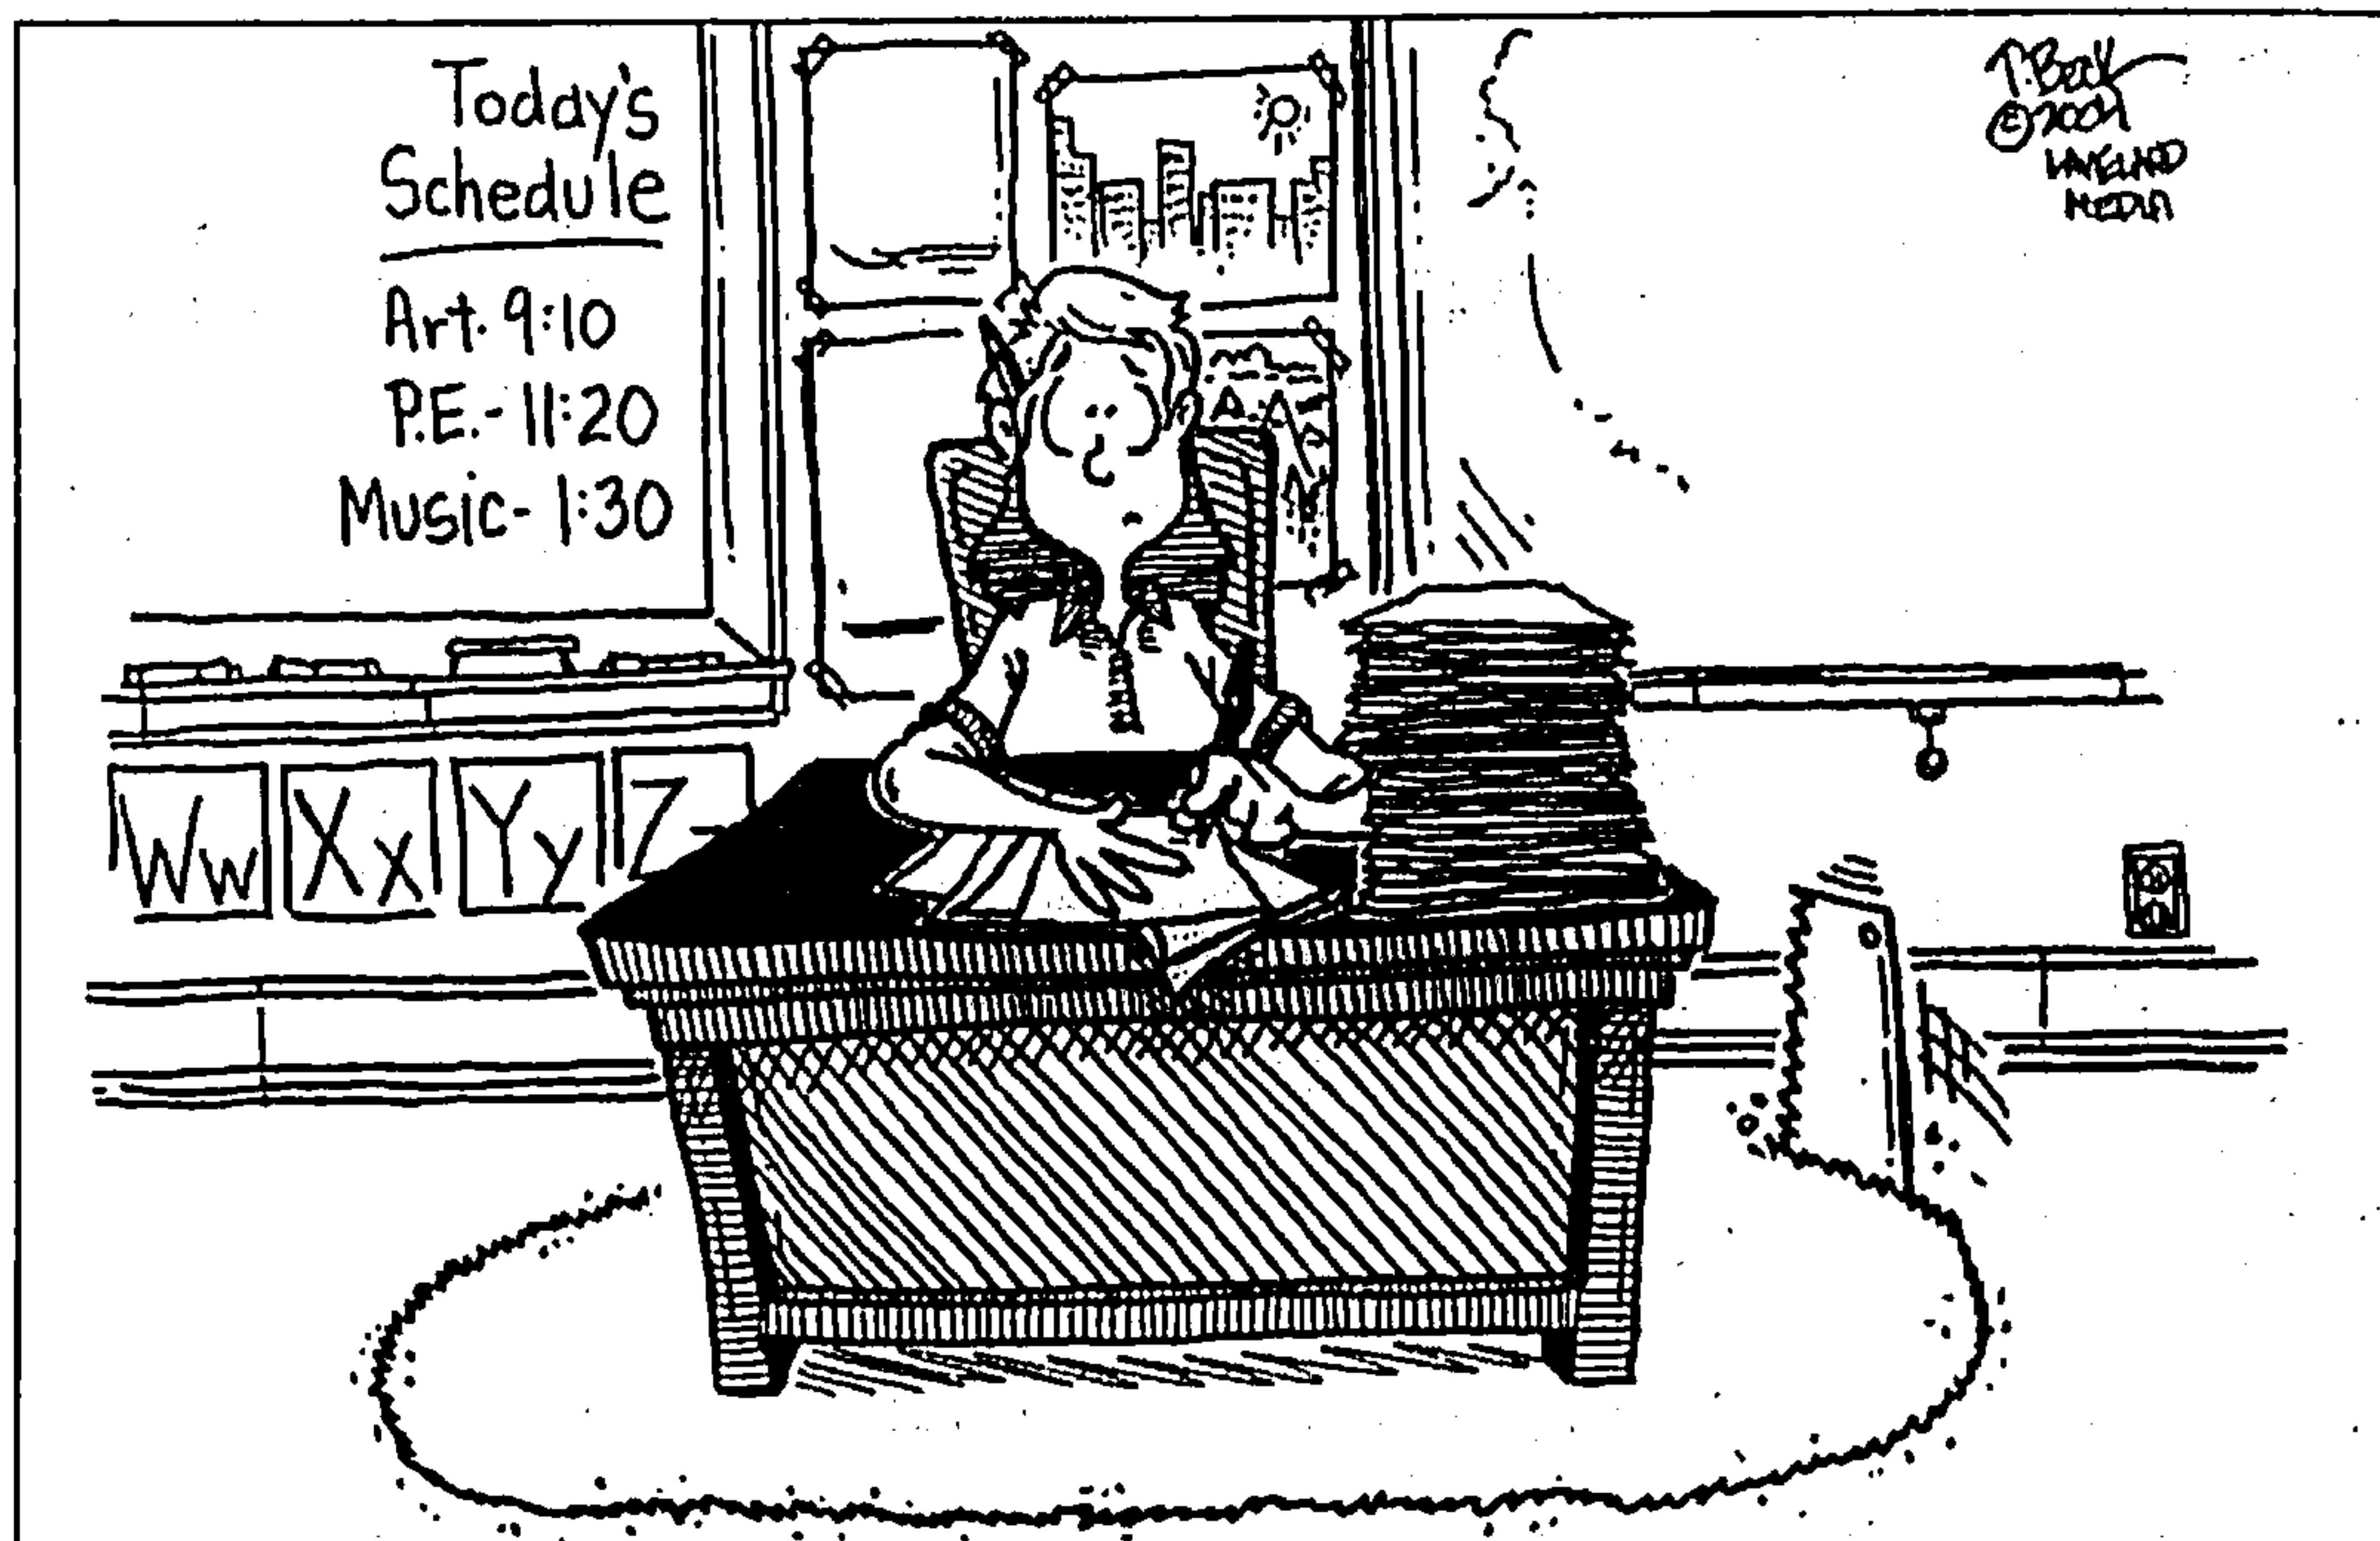

In this case, the College of Lake County Foundation stepped up fund raising efforts in the face of community college state budget cutbacks to carry on its endeavors. The foundation was able to increase scholarship funding from $238,000 last year to $268,000 this year. Funds derived from special events to the tune of $165,000 played a big part in a successful year. Nearly 100 more students this year than last received aid, bringing the total to 420.

Gifts, donations and volunteerism drives the foundation. Over the years, the CLC support arm also has built up an impressive portfolio of investments.

Every year scholarship support also increases at the high school level. It is heart-warming to see the increased time and effort in the private sector being put into supporting education besides the payment of real estate taxes.

A word needs to be said about fee based extra-curricular programs in the schools, which is a form of private support. When funds run short, particularly at the primary and secondary level of education, the tendency is to cut programming. Why not turn to parents and the private sector for funding along scholarship lines?

One thing about scholarships, the donor always knows where the money is going. Even better, the donor has a complete say in who will benefit.

VIEWPOINT

Catching a 'yes' with no response

Out of the blue, a check for $2.50 from a credit card company arrived in the mail box. "Bring your check to your bank and endorse it," a note implored. "It's a real check!"

Oh, yes. Real all right. Instead of dashing out to get a cheap burger or a cup of coffee with the windfall, I took time to read the fine print on an accompanying note to "Dear Cardmember." Good thing. I was getting set-up for a "negative marketing" deal. As it was explained to me the other day, negative marketing is where you get goods or services without making a decision or voicing approval. It just arrives. You get the service or the product—and keep getting it—until you make a conscious effort to stop. Negative marketing puts the responsibility on the consumer to "unsell" or discontinue the transaction, which wasn't a transaction at all. In reality, a veiled threat or a strong-arm tactic.

The $2.50 check was a door opener to a discount program for dining, entertainment, travel and shopping. What's not to like about saving? The catch is that you need to join the fun saving club at a cost of $89.99 per year that automatically will be added to your charge card. And the whole process is triggered by cashing that measly $2.50 check.

There's a lot of negativity in this old world. And now it's a big part of sales and marketing. Just keep in mind that a "no" can now mean "yes." Got that?

Changing chairs

Fortunately for Shimer College and Lake County, President Don P. Moon won't be retiring when he steps down as president after 26 years. He'll merely take a few steps at the Waukegan liberal arts college to a new office where he'll return to teaching and serve as director of Shimer's Hutchins Institute. The transition officially is set for May 1.

Moon single-handedly saved the small school with a national reputation from extinction. On the verge of closing after more than a 100 years at its Mt. Carroll home in western Illinois, Moon arranged for a relocation to Waukegan and the start of a new life on Sheridan Rd. His academic attainments are staggering, trained in engineering-physics and nuclear engineering. Moon also has a master of divinity. Along with his duties at Shimer, he has served as pastoral assistant at Christ Episcopal Church, Waukegan. He also serves on a variety of charity boards. Moon is on the short list of the county's most distinguished citizens.

Making ice

Back before refrigeration, many of Lake County's small lakes provided ice for simmering Chicago summers. Up to 20 inch blocks would be cut and stored in ice houses until transported by rail to the city when hot weather arrived. The lakes were clear and pure. Making ice was big business. Ice cutters were recruited from the ranks of bored local farmers and rough necks from Chicago's Skid Row. The imported workers didn't get paid until an ice house was full. Besides pay, the cutters received food, a bunk and a beer. On Sunday there was a shot of whiskey, according to records from the Lake County Health Dept.

One man's family

Should be a great Little League season. Grandson John is with the Cubs this year. "They'll be champs," John referred confidently to the big guys in Chicago. "And so will we." An abundance of confidence all around for the Cubbies this year. Hey, we've been waiting a long time.

Stage set for November vote

I thought that I should give a review of the results of the recent primary election. It will be an interesting election in November.

U.S. Senate race: Both political parties nominated their strongest candidates. State Sen. Barack Obama (D-Chicago), the Democrat choice, is the most impressive candidate from Illinois that I have seen in all of the years that I have followed politics. He has already received national media attention because of his win and that will grow in the months ahead since Illinois is key to which party will control the U.S. Senate.

For the Republicans, Jack Ryan has strong background credentials as a banker and as a teacher. He took a challenging position as an inner-city teacher. Ryan has the task of leading the Republicans back after a three-year slide, largely attributed to the scandals surrounding former Gov. George Ryan.

Congressional race: Here, too, in the 8th Congressional District, both political parties selected their strongest candidates. The incumbent, U.S. Rep. Phil Crane (R-Wauconda), won handily. He will be the favorite when he opposes Democrat Melissa Bean, who won easily, too. It's a rematch and I applaud Bean for running again. She ran a respectable race last time (just under 42 percent of the vote) and this one could be an upset.

State representative races: The Republicans had two contests here. In District 58, Marc Brown won by less than 100 votes against David Wasserman. Brown will face State Rep. Karen May and she will be a strong favorite to win re-election. In the 62nd District, State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) won a spirited election over Fernando Salazar.

Churchill will be heavily favored when he runs in the fall against Sharyn Elman. Even though she had no primary opponent, Elman walked door-to-door, so the former local TV anchor is a formidable challenger in November.

County Board: The most interesting race pitted two former familiar names seeking comebacks. The winner by a big margin in Dist. 6 was Larry Leafblad, who bested Brian Gutraj (who ran unsuccessfully against Sandy Cole in 2002 in the District 11 primary) and Bob Depke. Leafblad worked much harder this time and he and his foot soldiers were energized by the prospect of having "Bulldozer Bob" leading the charge again. Bob boldly blurted to all that he intended to win and seek the county board chair again. That was enough to "scare the troops."

Other incumbents won their races. In District 1, Judy Martini easily withstood two challengers; in District 11, Sandy Cole won by the PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Aldermen pay price for council peace

North Chicago's 2005 mayoral election likely kicked-off with the settlement of a three-year battle between Mayor Bette Thomas and the council majority. The settlement included removing audio and videotaping equipment from council chambers which opponents said was installed without their knowledge or approval.

Ald. Mike Micell sounded next year's battle cry by observing that peace will return to the city when Thomas no longer is in office. The mayor, who asserted that she harbors "no hatred toward my enemies," attracted national attention when she insisted on having her portrait imposed on city vehicle stickers two years ago.

Thomas estimated the legal battles, that started over selection of a city attorney in 2001, have cost taxpayers $125,000. Council foes agreed to pay nearly $40,000 for the mayor's personal legal fees. At one time, Thomas had the services of Atty. Robert Long, a member of the firm of Daniels, Long and Pinsel of Waukegan which was representing the council majority.

Family thanks

Andy McKenna, defeated for a GOP U.S. Senate nomination, had his whole family sign an e-mail thank you for support in the primary election. That includes his wife, Mary, and four children. Mary McKenna spent considerable time on the campaign circuit to round up votes for her husband. McKenna said he will continue to be involved in issues he stressed, job creation, creating economic opportunity, lawsuit reform and access to quality health care. Classy guy.

Twice enough

After two consecutive defeats, County Board aspirant Brian Gutraj says he's going to take a rest from elective politics for awhile and concentrate on his tax accounting business. Despite the losses, Gutraj is regarded by Republican leaders as part of a rebuilding future. He has been active in young Republican affairs.

Phone tax

Lake Zurich may be blazing a trail for neighboring municipalities by scuttling its vehicle tax. Always cumbersome and difficult to collect, the village will "trade" the loss of income from the vehicle license for doubling the community telephone tax which will be easy to collect because the telephone company handles all the administration. Mayor Jim Kruschke indicated the switch was "following a line of least resistance" to acquire new revenue. Actually, there will be no resistance, unless there are those would want to get along without a phone.

Getting on board

Buffalo Grove Police Chief Steve Ballinski has been voted a member of the OMNI Youth Services board of directors. His term started in March. OMNI serves a group of south Lake County communities including Vernon, Wheeling, Elia and Libertyville townships.

Back bencher

If he's elected in November, Larry Leafblad will be viewing County Board proceedings from a back row seat instead the upfront spot he occupied before being defeated for re-election in 2002, a defeat then that interrupted 12 years experience in county government. By custom, newly elected County Board members start in the back row of the 10th floor meeting room and work their way forward as seniority increases. "No problem. Great view," remarked Leafblad of the back row. One technicality. He'll have to conquer the Democratic nominee, Steve Skinner, for the mid-county district.

Rudny calm

Although Gurnee Mayor Don Rudny has a calm face over another replacement project in the ranks of top village personnel, turnover of key employees is taking on the coloration for an issue in the 2005 mayoral election. Asst. Village Admin. Brad Burke, 33, is taking a $10,000 pay cut to assume the same duties at Lake Bluff. Gurnee paid Burke, the sixth top aide to resign under Rudny, $85,000 per year.

Seniors waiting

Now that the official position of the Village of Wauconda is to provide senior housing, the administration of Mayor James Eschenbauch is finding the path strewn with boulders. Developer Jim Perlman, who has an agreed plan on the table, hasn't been able to negotiate required tax credits to support financing. Eschenbauch said Wauconda might have to turn elsewhere if Perlman can't make a deadline. Administration critic Salvatore Saccomanno has recommended turning to other firms for a proposal. Wauconda is one of the last communities in Lake County to promote housing for senior citizens.

Casino encore

Waukegan officials are seeing new life for casino gambling after losing out last month to Rosemont on the awarding of an open license. They think State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) can deliver one of two that would be provided for in a gambling expansion bill introduced in the Illinois Senate. The other license would be ticketed for south Cook County. State Sen. Denny Jacobs (D-East Moline) has introduced a bill increasing licenses to 12.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Scam averted

I am one of those people who nearly fell for the scam to purchase a certified copy of the deed to my house for $75. The letter I received looked official and made it sound as if I needed this piece of paper. Thank goodness I double-checked.

When I contacted the Lake County Recorder of Deeds' office, I found out that many people had already fallen for this scheme. It was too late to help them. Had they taken the time to call Lake County Recorder Mary Ellen Vanderventer they would have quickly been set straight. A certified copy of a deed is only $18.

I would like to thank Vanderventer and her staff, particularly Sara, who spent a great deal of time with me on the phone. I feel sorry for the people who paid $75. It was a good scam. I hope this letter reaches other people in time.

What traffic?

I hope I never have to hear or read another complaint about the traffic in Lake County. When it takes 45 minutes to get to Vernon Hills in the morning it is not a good thing. All this could have been prevented if the referendum had been passed.

Flags confiscated

My wife and I took our 1st grade daughter down to Springfield to support our schools and also give her a lesson in civics. I'm not sure if the school board is sending idle threats on cutbacks, but I can if kids with empty bellies start wandering the neighborhoods at 1 p.m. next September, there goes the neighborhood.

This is not just about schools, it's about community security, about safety. Think of all the workers taking lunch at that time and grade schoolers wandering about. There were also rumors of several home sales that fell through due to the failed school referendums. We met with Churchill and Senator Geo-Karis who both listened with compassion. No real answers; the way it works now in Illinois is via property taxes. A township tax was mentioned, but we need something before September 2004.

Even more important in my humble opinion is an eye opening story on the state of Springfield: We brought 30 small hand-held American flags with us for the children to hold as they walked through the Capitol tour. Security confiscated these at the front door (and threw them in the garbage!) because the sticks could be used as a weapon and rally banners are not permitted inside. The pins on our buttons are a much worse weapon than getting hit over the head with a balsa twig.

Rein in developers

So another school referendum gets passed. I've lost count of how many have been on the ballot since moving to Antioch. And always we are pressed with slogans such as "Keeping Kids First" that somehow implies that those not voting yes for increases are anti-children or anti-education. This is not fair, nor is it fair that, as stated by Superintendent John Hunt, that the taxes from one $200,000 home only covers a quarter of the cost of one child in the school system.

Where is the outrage over the developers that are allowed by our village government to freely come in and build dense developments that cater to families? Our village trustees are doing a poor job of keeping residential growth commensurate with commercial growth, thus we existing taxpayers are left to foot the bill while greedy developers waltz away with millions in profits.

I think the slogan should read "Keeping Predatory Developers First." Thank goodness for tax caps! I would also like the committee that marketed the District 34 referendum to justify why they can spend money on fancy signs and full page newspaper ads instead of putting those precious funds directly towards the schools? As a follow-up to marching children down streets to push for higher taxes, maybe they should be marched to the homes of those citizens, especially seniors, who will have to sell their lifelong homes because of constant tax increases.

Darlene Drew

Wasted tax dollars

I find it appalling with all of the education budget cuts that we waste tax dollars and time performing a "mock wedding" at Grant High School. To what purpose? The student's time could be better spent learning how to balance a checkbook, to be a responsible consumer by avoiding debt creation, simple estate planning, or investment vehicles. If Ms. Renaker wants to perform a mock event some suggestions would be a job interview, a personal budget, or starting a business. These are life long skills worthy of our tax dollars. Ask anyone who is married, the moment you announce your engagement you will have more advice than you could ever use.

Lauds seniors

The dust has finally settled from the primary campaign and I want to thank voters who voted for me on election day. Words cannot express my gratitude for the supporters that gave so freely of their time to help during the campaign. I am also deeply grateful to the many seniors who worked so hard to make this campaign a success. Your steadfast support since my first election in 1994 is indeed humbling and appreciated.

Now we can unite and move on to a victorious general election in the fall when I square-off with my Democratic opponent. I am eager to continue working with the district's residents and elected officials on diverse issues and I am open to discussions on how to make District 1 and Lake County a better place to live.

Congratulations

I heartily congratulate Sandy Cole in her victory. I know that she will continue to serve District 11 in the same manner that everyone has come to know.

I thankfully congratulate those that voted, not only being able to understand referendum wording, but also the consequence of any additional taxation by defeating further erosion of our family incomes.

I am saddened and compelled to humbly apologize to the 73 percent of voters who didn't show up this past Election Day. Every one of us that serves or runs as challengers truly misses your votes. Representative government is difficult to be given direction with such limited participation by the voters. There is no clear mandate with a 19 percent approval. We will need your vote this November.

My sincerest congratulations to Sandy again, I am looking forward to assisting our Republican candidate for Lake County's 11th District.

largest margin in a county board race while Bob Powers gained the nod in District 16.

There was somewhat of a surprise in District 5. Bonnie Thomson Carter had everything going for her. Incumbency and the prestigious title and power of president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District made her a big favorite. Her challenger Jim Farrell ran an energetic campaign. Of a total of 3,445 votes, Carter won by a mere 253 votes. Some of that slim victory may have been a result of "local politics," but I'm sure that some of her constituency were unhappy with her stewardship of the forest preserve district. Farrell made a big point of the inordinate amount of money used to re-do the Fort Sheridan Golf Course. Other county board members should "take notice."

Tax referendums: The biggest surprise to many people was the defeat—by a 55-45 percent margin—of the sales tax referendum for county roads. I agree with those who said that it was a bad time for any referendum because the economy is so bad. Voters are not in the mood for tax increases, no matter how big. To say that the measure would have passed if the language on the ballot were changed is a stretch. Remember, there was not a single effort of any organized opposition to the ballot proposition, and it failed.

There were some mixed results on school and other referendums, but I believe that it can be concluded that these really are tough times to increase local resources. It is unfortunate as funding dries up from the top, it places a greater burden on the local taxpayer. This is particularly difficult on those agencies funded by property taxes. The property taxpayers feel that, because of rising assessments, their taxes increase even when there is no referendum.

So the stage is set for the November general election. In the primary, about 30 percent of the voters turned out. Look for a very large turnout in the general. There is so much at stake.

Property tax relief bill gains approval from House

The Illinois House passed legislation sponsored by State Rep. Kathy Ryg (D-Vernon Hills) Wednesday that provides tax relief by increasing the limit for the homestead and senior citizen property tax exemptions.

"Property tax payers are carrying a huge burden," said Ryg. "This legislation will provide additional relief."

Currently the homestead exemption is based on the increase of the current assessed value using 1977 as the base year. This legislation increases that exemption limit in Lake County from $3,500 to $5,000. This bill sets the same limit throughout Illinois. Previously, residents of Cook County received a maximum exemption of $4,500. Homeowners qualify for the Homestead Exemption if the property is their primary residence and there are six or less units in the building.

House Bill 5533 also increases the exemption for homeowners 65 and older in Lake County from $2,000 to $3,000. Seniors qualify for this exemption in addition to the homestead property exemption. This increase also affects every county in Illinois.

"Seniors, particularly those on a fixed income, are especially deserving of a tax break," Ryg said. "This legislation will give them relief so that they can afford to stay in their own home."

The bill now moves to the Illinois Senate for consideration.

BASSET training

College of Lake County will offer the Beverage and Alcohol Sellers and Servers Educational Training course (BASSET) for employees of restaurants, bars and other establishments serving and selling alcohol to the general public. The course is certified by the Illinois Department of Alcohol and Substance Abuse and is required by the Lake County Liquor Commission for liquor licensing. The one-session course will teach students to help patrons avoid over-indulging and to prevent the sale of alcohol to minors. It will be offered from 8 a.m.-noon on April 3 and repeated on May 3, June 5 and July 12. For more information, contact the community education department at 847-543-2026.

Meet Bears' new coach

Lovie Smith, who was named the Chicago Bears' 13th head coach, will join Brian McCaskey, the team's Director of Business Development as guests when Hal Coxon gavel the April 7 edition of the Lake County Power Breakfast to order at 7:30 a.m. at Midlane Golf Resort in Wadsworth. For reservations, contact Midlane at 847-360-0550.

Screenings for alcohol problems

The College of Lake County health center will conduct free, anonymous screenings for alcohol problems as part of National Alcohol Screening Day on April 8. Screenings will be held from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. and 5-7 p.m. in Room C005 on CLC's Grayslake Campus. The screening program is designed to raise awareness of the dangers of alcohol consumption and offer help for those struggling with the problem. For information, call the health center at 847-543-2064.

Program on locally grown foods

"The Case for Locally Grown Foods" teleconference will be held on April 15, from 3:30-5:30 p.m., at the University of Illinois Extension, Lake County office at 100 S. Route 45 in Grayslake. The purpose of this session is to familiarize professionals with the issues surrounding locally grown foods. To register or for information call 847-223-8627 or visit www.urbanext.uiuc.edu/lake.

Gender conference

The Women's Center at the College of Lake County will hold the second annual gender conference April 16 and 17 on the Grayslake Campus. The conference, titled "Becoming: Transforming Gender Identity in the 21st Century," focuses on discovering or constructing one's own gender identity.

The two-day event will feature keynote speakers, students and staff from CLC and surrounding community colleges, who will address such topics as gender issues in religion, women and leadership, images of black men in popular culture and women at war.

The conference is open to the general public. For more information, contact the Women's Center at 847-543-2771.

Youth volunteer opportunities

To help increase the number of volunteer opportunities for young residents, United Way of Lake County is sponsoring a free workshop on April 16 called "Working with Youth Volunteers" with guest facilitator Rick Lynch, an internationally known trainer and author. The workshop is open to all local non-profits, schools and youth-based groups interested in better utilizing the energies and fresh insights of Lake County's youth volunteers. BRAE LOCH TOURISM Foods in Niles, added that 90 percent of his company's contracts are on off-premises facilities using preferred caterers lists.

"The industry as a whole is working to increase the public perception of professionalism," he said. "We think it's in the best interest of the residents and the businesses of Lake County to have a list as opposed to a single-preferred caterer for your public venue."

According to a report by Revenue Facilities Director, Daniel Prezell, the facility has missed out on potential revenues over $20,000 due to the deadlock between forest preserve officials.

It is estimated that figure could double should another six months go by without a food and license agreement.

Detractors don't want an exclusive contract and object to Michael's pricing—which according to its business plan would offer lunch at $14 and dinners from $18-21.

Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake) said potential customers within a six-mile radius of the golf course could be lost due to those prices.

"I think people should be given a choice on how much they spend to have an event," she said.

"It's a public facility in one location, unlike others where people have a choice in the types of food and amount of costs."

Supporting the exclusive contract, Stevenson Mountsier (R-Barrington) said the caterer will be forced to keep their prices in line with area establishments if they want to make money.

"People are not going to buy if their prices are too high," he said.

Having multiple services would be a marketing nightmare, said Michael Talbott (R-Lake Zurich).

"They're (other food services) not going to market against their competitor," he said. "So I think the package that was presented to committee with less manpower to manage that and marketing, made it not only the best choice the most feasible choice."

The debate has encouraged seven board members to write a joint editorial stating their objection to pressure by some commissioners to rubber stamp the contract by closing the facility to the public.

also decreased $3 from $79.93 in 2002 to $76.84 in 2003. A reduction in tourism marketing dollars could send hotels into a deeper slump and fuel the loss of an estimated 1,021 jobs in Lake County, said Maureen Riedy, president of the bureau.

Tourism in Lake County generates almost $792 million in direct spending—producing 10,200 jobs with a payroll of $218 million. In 2002, the County earned $18.2 million in local tax receipts from visitor spending.

The 50 percent funding cut comes on the heels of a nearly 25 percent cut just one year ago. The Illinois tourism industry generates $1.5 billion in state and local tax revenues used to fund education, health care, public safety and other basic services. According to industry sources, without tourism, every family of four in Illinois would pay an additional $525 in taxes annually. Tourism is one of the few industries in Illinois that produces a return on investment: $22 billion in visitor spending and 300,000 jobs.

"The industry is just starting to experience a modest rebound and a reduction in funding could delay the recovery for years," Riedy said. "Tourism marketing is a competitive business. Other Midwestern states will be delighted to see the effects of a diminished advertising campaign from Illinois especially as we move into the critical summer vacation season here in Lake County."

Teacher's terrifying teeth

Hi Dr. Singer,

My daughter had the scare of her life and I want to know how to help her. She is 8 years old and during recess, she had to go inside to go to the restroom. On her way there, she passed by the teacher's lounge and saw her teacher in there talking to another teacher. Her teacher is an older woman. Her teacher started to laugh out loud at something the other teacher said and she accidentally spit out her dentures in the process. Unfortunately, my daughter had a good view of this happening. She didn't stick around to talk to the teacher about it. She just ran back to the playground and tried to blend in with the other kids. When she got home, she was almost hysterical because she didn't understand how someone's teeth could do that. I tried to calm her down, but I didn't know if it was appropriate to tell her about dentures and that type of adult thing. What do you think would be good to tell her? H.H.

Hi H.H.,

I don't know who I feel worse for, your daughter or the poor teacher. How mortifying to have that happen in front of anyone. My grandmother actually had that happen to her at Disney World when I was very young. I remember that it scared me too, even though we were all in the middle of raucous laughter at the time it happened.

I think it is perfectly appropriate to explain dentures to her. I think she is old enough to understand the concept and not be afraid of it. I also think it is an excellent opportunity for you to discuss dental health with her. Most 8 year olds don't like to brush their teeth. You can connect for her that not everyone ends up with dentures. She can learn that if she takes good care of her teeth, that will not happen to her. You can detail all the steps of dental hygiene (brush, floss, rinsing well and some sort of protective rinse.) You can also use this talk to plug the 'no sugar' stuff so she can keep her sweet teeth!

PARENT'S PLACE

It will also be important for you to share with her how embarrassing this is for the teacher. She should be aware not to talk to other kids about it so that the teacher doesn't become the target for jokes. I'm certain that this teacher is going through enough without that happening.

With the right explanations and some TLC, I'm sure your sweetie will get over this and hopefully so will her teacher.

Dr. Singer is a Psychologist who regularly works in person with readers of this column improving kids' attention, behavior, processing and learning skills fast. She has been an ADD Coach to many kids on meds and has also trained the skills of many other labeled kids who are not on medication to take them to attention, behavior and learning heights their parents never dreamed they were capable of. For an appointment call (708) 962-2549 or (847) 231-5644. Dr. Singer's office is located in Grayslake.

Charity fund-raising ball a success

The unofficial results are in, enough to qualify the 18th annual Sweetheart Ball fundraiser sponsored by Assistance in Healthcare Foundation as a rousing success. This year's guests and supporters of the annual ball could be deemed a very generous group.

The estimated total for this year's ball is a record-breaking $119,000 to help qualifying patients and families in need for the coming year. That figure put the charity event well ahead of last year's results with more fund-raising yet to come during this calendar year.

The ball featured a dinner/dance and a silent auction that acts as the major fundraiser of the year for the charitable organization. The event also featured a special "capsule table" of smaller items and a 50/50 raffle. Each year, Assistance in Healthcare receives community and business support for the ball in the form of donations of items for the silent auction, sponsorships for the event and/or cash donations.

The main sponsor for the event, scheduled this year at the Concord Banquets in Kildeer, IL, was Cancer Treatment Centers of America at Midwestern Regional Medical Center in Zion. Doctors Bradford and Ailyn Tan were this year's Honorary Chairpersons with a crowd of 340 people in attendance. Assistance in Healthcare, a not-for-profit 501 (c)(3) foundation, provides grants for the non medical expenses, assisting patients and their families who have become financially distressed as a result of their fight against cancer and other catastrophic illnesses.

Throughout last year, a monthly average of 50-55 patients or patient's families were helped by the funds raised. Other than the costs associated with the ball itself, all funds raised by the volunteer organization go to patients or their families who have demonstrated need. Anyone wishing to donate to the charity organization throughout the year may call Carol Lulinski at (847)872-6302, Sandy Grasser at (847)872-6441 or Barb Albert at (847)872-6462.

MCHI Aqua classes help arthritis sufferers

Do you or a loved one suffer from the pain of arthritis? Condell Health Network's Medical Center Health Institute (MCHI) can help with Aqua Arthritis, a class which addresses pain management through exercise taught in a warm water therapy pool.

Led by a certified instructor, during the 40 minute class attendees utilize water temperature and pressure to increase their range of motion, while focusing on muscle strength and endurance. A physician's permission is required for class registration.

Classes are held weekly at Centre Clubs in Gurnee and in Libertyville.

Class sessions in Libertyville are held: 9 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; 12:45 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays; 9:45 a.m., 6 p.m., and 6:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; and 8:45 a.m. Saturdays, at Centre Club, 200 W. Golf Rd., Libertyville. NEWSPAPERS

'Dirty Dozen' list updated as IRS warns of tax scams

In an update of an annual consumer alert, the Internal Revenue Service urged taxpayers to avoid falling victim to one of the "Dirty Dozen" tax scams and a variety of other schemes. In the new 2004 ranking, several new scams have reached the top of the consumer watch list, including abusive trusts and the "claim of right" doctrine.

In addition, the IRS has taken a new step this year and issued 10 new pieces of legal guidance involving scams in the "Dirty Dozen" and other tax schemes. The new guidance debunks the schemes and provides new legal details to help tax practitioners and taxpayers.

"At the IRS, we're augmenting our enforcement resources to attack schemes and scams. While we're actively targeting promoters, taxpayers themselves should be wary of anyone who promises to eliminate their taxes," said IRS Commissioner Mark W. Everson. "Don't be fooled by these outrageous claims. There is no secret way to escape paying taxes."

The IRS and other federal agencies are aggressively pursuing and successfully prosecuting promoters of these schemes and many of their clients for fraud and tax evasion. Participation in these schemes can result in imprisonment, fines and repayment of taxes owed with interest and penalties. Even innocent taxpayers involved in these schemes can face a staggering amount of back interest and penalties.

Taxpayers who suspect tax fraud can report it to the IRS at 1-800-829-0433. More information on tax scams and schemes is available by visiting "The Newsroom" section of IRS.gov.

The IRS urges people to avoid these common schemes:

MISUSE OF TRUSTS. Promoters of abusive tax transactions are increasingly urging taxpayers to transfer assets into trusts. The promoters promise a variety of benefits, such as the reduction of income subject to tax, deductions for personal expenses paid by the trust and reduction of gift or estate taxes. Taxpayers should be aware that abusive trust arrangements will not produce the tax benefits advertised by their promoters and that the IRS is actively examining these types of trust arrangements. More than a dozen injunctions have been obtained against promoters, and numerous promoters and their clients have been criminally prosecuted. Before entering any trust arrangements, taxpayers should seek the advice of a trusted tax professional.

"CLAIM OF RIGHT" DOCTRINE. In this emerging scheme, people file returns and attempt to take a deduction equal to the entire amount of their wages. The promoters advise them to label the deduction as "a necessary expense for the production of income" or "compensation for personal services actually rendered". The deduction is based on a complete misinterpretation of the Internal Revenue Code and has no basis in law.

CORPORATION SOLE. Participants in this scam apply for incorporation under the pretext of being a "bishop" or "overseer" of a one-person, phony religious organization or society. The idea is that the arrangement entitles the individual to exemption from federal income taxes as a nonprofit, religious organization as described in tax laws. When used as intended, Corporation Sole statutes enable religious leaders — typically bishops or parsons — to become incorporated as individuals as a way of separating themselves legally from the control and ownership of church assets. But the rules have been twisted at seminars where promoters charge fees of up to $1,000 or more per person. Would-be participants are mistakenly told that Corporation Sole laws provide a "legal" way to escape paying federal income taxes, child support and other personal debts.

OFFSHORE TRANSACTION. Some people use offshore transactions to avoid paying United States taxes. Use of an offshore bank account, brokerage account, credit card, wire transfer, trust, offshore employee leasing or other arrangement to hide or underreport income or to claim false deductions on a federal tax return is illegal. A taxpayer involved in these schemes could be subject to payment of taxes, interest, penalties and potential criminal prosecution. This was the top scam in the 2003 "Dirty Dozen." A special program last year has yielded more than $170 million in taxes, interest and penalties, and the IRS and the states continue to aggressively pursue taxpayers and promoters in this area.

EMPLOYMENT TAX EVASION. The IRS has seen a number of illegal schemes that instruct employers not to withhold federal income tax or other employment taxes from wages paid to their employees. These schemes are based on an incorrect interpretation of "Section 861" and other parts of the tax law and have been refuted in court. Recent court cases have resulted in criminal convictions of promoters. Employer participants could also be held responsible for back payments of employment taxes, plus penalties and interest. Employees who have no withholdings are still responsible for payment of their personal taxes.

RETURN PREPARER FRAUD. Unscrupulous return preparers can cause a lot of problems for taxpayers who use their services. Abusive return preparers derive financial gain by diverting a portion of the taxpayer's refund for their own benefit, charging inflated fees for the return preparation services, and increasing their clientele by advertising guaranteed larger refunds. Taxpayers should choose carefully when hiring a tax preparer — no matter who prepares the return, the taxpayer is ultimately responsible for all of the information on that return.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT. Another scheme seen for several years involves the purchase of equipment and services that the promoter alleges meets the strict criteria of the Disabled Access Credit, which was created with the passage of the "Americans with Disabilities Act". A minimal payment is made and a non-recourse note signed. The investor then provides insignificant services to complete the purchase agreement. This scheme is based on an incorrect interpretation of law and an over-inflated value of the services rendered.

AFRICAN-AMERICANS GET A SPECIAL TAX REFUND. Thousands of African-Americans have been misled by people offering to file for tax credits or refunds related to reparations for slavery. There is no such provision in the tax law. Some unscrupulous promoters have encouraged clients to pay them to prepare a claim for this refund. But the claims are a waste of money. Promoters of reparations tax schemes have been convicted and imprisoned. And taxpayers could face a $500 penalty for filing such claims if they do not withdraw the claim. Related scams include claiming an illegal tax credit by misusing Form 2439, "Notice to Shareholder of Undistributed Long-Term Capital Gains." The slavery reparations scam was at the top of the 2002 "Dirty Dozen," and, although claims have fallen considerably, the IRS continues to see activity in this area.

IMPROPER HOME-BASED BUSINESS. This scheme purports to offer tax "relief" but in reality is illegal tax avoidance. The promoters of this scheme claim that individual taxpayers can deduct most, or all, of their personal expenses as business expenses by setting up a bogus home-based business. But the tax code firmly establishes that a clear business purpose and profit motive must exist in order to generate and claim allowable business expenses. This scam has been around for years, but the IRS continues to see activity in this area.

FRIVOLOUS ARGUMENTS. Frivolous arguments are false arguments that are unsupported by law. When a scheme promoter says "I don't pay taxes — why should you" or urges you to "untax yourself for $49.95," beware. The ads may claim that the promoter knows the "secret" for never paying taxes again, but that's just plain wrong. The U.S. courts have continuously rejected this and other frivolous arguments. Unfortunately, people across the country have paid for the "secret" of not paying taxes or have bought "untax packages." Then they find out that following the advice contained in them can result in civil and/or criminal penalties. Numerous sellers of the bogus schemes have been convicted on criminal tax charges. More than a dozen injunctions have been issued.

IDENTITY THEFT. Identity thieves use someone's personal data to steal his or her financial accounts, run up charges on the victim's existing credit cards, apply for new loans, credit cards, services or benefits in the victim's name and even file fraudulent tax returns. The IRS is aware of several identity theft scams involving taxes or the IRS.

SHARE/BORROW EITC DEPENDENTS. Unscrupulous tax preparers "share" one client's qualifying children with another client in order to allow both clients to claim the Earned Income Tax Credit. For example, one client may have four children but only needs to list two to get the maximum EITC. The preparer will list two children on the first client's return and the other two on another client's tax return. The preparer and the client "selling" the dependents split a fee. The IRS prosecutes the preparers of such fraudulent claims, and participating taxpayers could be subject to civil penalties.

INDIAN HILL SCHOOL ADDITION
1920 N. Lotus Drive
Round Lake, Illinois 60073

for
Round Lake Area Schools Community Unit District 116
316 Rosedale Court
Round Lake, Illinois 60073

Sealed bids for the above named construction will be received by the Owner at the business office of Round Lake School District 116, 316 Rosedale Court, Round Lake, Illinois, at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud. The sealed bid must be submitted on the forms provided and sent to the above address with the Bid Name, Date and Time of bid opening clearly marked on the outside of the envelope to prevent premature opening. Bids will be received for as follows:

Bid opening, until 1:00 p.m. local time, Wednesday, 14 April 2004, for All Work.

In general the Project Work consists of all labor, materials, equipment and services necessary to install a new operable partition. Work includes installation of the partition including hanging supports connected to existing structure. The work is to be accomplished under a single prime contract.

Drawings and Project Manuals may be examined at the offices of the Owner, Architect, and Construction Manager and at the F.W. Dodge Plan Room, Opus West 2, 1st. Floor, 1411 Opus Place, Downers Grove, Illinois, 60515, and at the Reed Construction Data Plan Room, 2000 Clearwater Drive, Oakbrook, Illinois, 60523.

Bid Documents may be obtained at the office of the Architect, GreenAssociates, Inc., 111 Deerlake Road, Deerfield, Illinois 60015 (847-317-0852) by depositing $50.00 refundable per set for two sets. Additional sets may be purchased for a NON-RE-FUNDABLE purchase price of $25.00. When paying by check, separate checks for the deposit and the purchase amount must be submitted.

The full amount of the refundable deposit will be returned to parties submitting bids who return full sets of Bid Documents (Drawings, Project Manuals and Addenda) in good condition within 10 days after the opening of bids. Failure to return said documents as stipulated herein, or, if not intending to bid, failure to so notify the Architect at least three business days before the Bid Date, will result in forfeiture of the full amount of the deposit unless prior arrangements have been made with the Architect.

Bid Security is required in the form of a Bid Bond, AIA Document 310, or a Certified Cashier's Check made payable to the Owner in an amount equal to not less than ten percent (10%) of the Base Bid and all Additive Alternates.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond, in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract sum and a Labor and Material Payment Bond, in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract sum, on AIA Document A312, as issued by the American Institute of Architects.

Individual visits must be coordinated through Mr. John Turner, Site Superintendent for GreenAssociates Construction Management Services, at (847) 740-0808.

All Sub-Contractors, principal suppliers and principal fabricators shall be listed on the Bid Form.

It is the Owner's intent to issue a Notice of Award to the successful Bidder within thirty (30) calendar days of the Bid Date. No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) calendar days after the opening of bids.

Any bid submitted unsealed, or unsigned, without bid bond or received subsequent to the aforementioned date and hour will be disqualified and returned to the bidder.

Summons
Case No. 04CV162
Code: Other debtor actions 30304

St Croix Co. Case No.
Filed by L. Meyer
Assigned to E.F. Vlack

THE STATE OF WISCONSIN
To each person named above as Defendant:
You are hereby notified that the Plaintiff named above has filed a lawsuit or other legal action against you. The Complaint, which is attached, states the nature and basis of the legal action.

Within 45 days of receiving this Summons you must respond with a written answer, as that term is used in Chapter 802 of the Wisconsin Statutes, to the Complaint. The Court may reject or disregard an answer that does not follow the requirements of the statutes. The answer must be sent or delivered to the Court, whose address is 1101 Carmichael Road, Hudson, WI 54016, and to R. Michael Waterman, Plaintiff's attorney, whose address is Mudge, Porter, Lundeen & Seguin, S.C., 110 Second Street, Hudson, WI 54016. You may have an attorney help or represent you.

If you do not provide a proper answer within 45 days, the Court may grant judgment against you for the award of money or other legal action requested in the Complaint, and you may lose your right to object to anything that is or may be incorrect in the Complaint. A judgment may be enforced as provided by law. A judgment awarding money may become a lien against any real estate you own now or in the future, and may also be enforced by garnishment or seizure of property.

Dated this 11th day of March, 2004.
